New System of Mail Transport Now in Force

The official establishment of a new mail transportation and distribution plan that will provide next-day delivery of first-class mail throughout Newport News, Hampton and a 13-county, 4,600 square-mile area was announced today by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Representing the Postmaster General at a press conference in the Norfolk Post Office, the "core" office in the new plan, M. R. Clarke, Operations Director of the Washington Region of the Post Office Department, said:

"This program for better first-class mail service has been in test operation in the Norfolk Metropolitan Area since July 1, 1958, and I feel confident that postal patrons in this Area can be assured that, barring occasional human errors, first-class letters mailed prior to 5:00 p.m., or at smaller offices, in time for the final dispatch if made prior to 5:30 p.m., will be delivered to their destination within the Plan Area on the first delivery trip of the following business day.

"Of course, this assurance is only a minimum, general statement of what we can do in this 13-county area. From many points in the Area, it will be possible to give next-morning delivery in and well beyond the Plan Area even on mail deposited after 5:30 p.m. However, we would like to urge the patrons of this Area to mail as early in the day as possible, as we will then be able to get their letters to destination more quickly, surely and efficiently.

In addition to the independent cities of Newport News and Hampton, Virginia, the Norfolk Metropolitan Area includes the counties of Accomack, Nanseam, Norfolk, Southampton and Princess Anne, Virginia, and the cities of Currituck, Dare, Gates, Hertford, Pamlico and Perquimans, North Carolina.

"These major improvements in the Norfolk Metropolitan Area are the result of intensive study and planning. Personnel of the Washington Postal Region and of 137 post offices in the Area have worked a year to develop this comprehensive service program and put it into effect.

"Next-day delivery of most of the first-class mail in the Norfolk Metropolitan Area is now possible because of a closely integrated timetable which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together. Hard-working, skilled postal employees are working day and night in order to make possible next-day delivery of hundreds of thousands of letters to the nearly one million people residing in this area.

"The population of this area is growing rapidly, and the postal service needs are becoming increasingly complex. On an average day, approximately 850,000 pieces of first-class mail are processed at the 157 area post offices, ranging from the large first-class post office at the small rural fourth-class post office.

"The principal feature of the new plan involves the designation of certain strategically located post offices to act as collection and distribution centers for various sections of the area involved in the plan. Thus much of this mail which formerly went to Norfolk, for processing will have this function performed by the designated centers, thereby bypassing the congested Norfolk Area and eliminating

Linkhorn Park P-TA Holding Party Tuesday

In observance of American Education Week, Linkhorn Park School P-TA has arranged for an Open House to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 10 from 2 p.m. until the closing of school.

Guests will be principal of Linkhorn, Mrs. J. W. Baskin, who will endeavor to conduct regular classes, giving parents and friends the opportunity of seeing the classes in action.

American Education Week was started in 1917 for the purpose of informing the public of the accomplishments and needs of the public schools and securing the cooperation and support of the public in solving school problems.

The general theme for this 33rd observance of A.E.W. is "Praise and Appraise Your School."

President Eisenhower opened his 1958 Proclamation for American Education Week by stating, "Whereas the education of our citizens has been a powerful and unifying force in bringing America to its present greatness; and whereas we must always defend and maintain—and employ—that greatness for ourselves and for all allies in the Free World . . ."

Mrs. L. C. Brennan, president of the PTA extends an open invitation to all parents and friends to visit Linkhorn on November 10th. Both she and Mr. Baskin will be present to greet all visitors to the school. The Hospitality Committee will serve refreshments in the auditorium. The entire facilities of the school will be open for inspection at this time.

Local Students Receive Honors

Two Virginia Beach students attending Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg have been honored by their fellow students. It was learned this week.

Two Virginia Beach High School graduates, Misses Lee Tilton and Toni Hansborough were honored with election to two offices.

Miss Tilton has been elected treasurer of the freshman class and Miss Hansborough has been named to serve on the Student Cooperative Association.

Miss Tilton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scoville Tilton of North Virginia Beach and Miss Hansborough is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hansborough of Virginia Beach.

LETTER FROM LONDON BRIDGE YOUTH WIVES SUBSCRIPTION Eddie Onley, eight years old, of London Bridge, has written a "letter to the editors" which is featured in the November issue of Jack & Jill magazine. It was selected from many hundreds of contributions sent in by children from all over the world.

Eddie will receive a six month subscription to the magazine for his literary effort. Each month the editors award subscriptions to children whose work appears on the North, South, East, West page. Eddie tells readers what it is like to live near a big airport.

Junior Women Select Kitchens For Harvest Tour

The Junior Women's Club of Princess Anne County takes great pleasure in announcing the selection of the following kitchens for the First Annual "Harvest Kitchen Tour" to be held on November 24 from 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Lemay has just been announced for the winner of a $100 fourth place award. Making the official presentation of a check for the unexpected prize was Edward R. Fattinger, district sales manager for Lever Brothers. The jackpot was the first contest prize ever won by Mrs. Lemay.

First prize in the Breeze contest, the winner's height in dollar bills, went to Mrs. Maxine Willis, a housewife from Great Falls, Montana. Paid at the rate of $200 to the inch, the five-ft., seven-in. winner collected $19,102.

Some of Mrs. Lemay's activities include positions as executive secretary for the Red Cross and secretary for the Oceana Civic League. She is a past president of the London Bridge Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Lemay is also active in the Lynnhaven Garden Club and the Gray Ladies. Her hobbies include tennis, bicycling, knitting and gardening.

To enter the contest, participants were required to write in 15 words or less why they liked the free kitchen towel, bath towel and face cloth premiums that come packed free with Breeze detergent.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY UNIT 113 TO PRESENT FASHION SHOW The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 113 Virginia Beach will present "Holiday Fashions" featuring fall fashions by Rose Hall and Cherry Pearson. The show will be held at the American Legion Club house on Laskin Road Friday, November 20 at 8:30 p.m. There will be a dance after the show. For reservations call Mrs. Pete Scoppa, GA 8-1575.

1. "Pink Perfection" is an ideal name for the kitchen in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gregory in Cavalier Park. The luscious pink room features an "off kitchen" for canning and preserving.

2. A delightful breakfast bar and range combination separate the kitchen and the family room in "Turquoise Treat" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson Jr. in Bay Colony.

3. Commander and Mrs. C. S. Sanders of Virginia Beach have beautifully remodeled an old home, preserving its best features. The family room-kitchen illustrates a "Colonial Charm" with its use of old copper utensils and pine antique furniture.

4. "Northern Lights" describe the blue trim on the exterior of the house as well as the color used in the "finger-tip" kitchen in Dr. and Mrs. Howard Kahn's home in Eldredge Point.

5. Mr. and Mrs. John B. James in Lintler have combined brown tones in their "Modern Magic" kitchen. A free form built-in table is enhanced by the straw basket pull lamp above and the straw backed chairs.

6. "Chef's Haven" was truly named because the lady in this kitchen can cook while being included in the activities in the front of the house as well as those at the pool on the water side. In Lintler, Mr. and Mrs. John Aragona's kitchen has French provincial walnut cabinets accented by beige, pink and some aqua.

Oceana Woman Contest Winner

Mrs. Fred Lemay of 111 Fighter Drive, Oceana, is not only very active in a wide range of civic organizations, but has a good many hobbies. However, she's glad that she found time to enter a nationwide contest sponsored by Lever Brothers for Breeze detergent.

Mrs. Lemay has just been announced for the winner of a $100 fourth place award. Making the official presentation of a check for the unexpected prize was Edward R. Fattinger, district sales manager for Lever Brothers. The jackpot was the first contest prize ever won by Mrs. Lemay.

T-Bird Bowling Team Opening Alleys Sunday

Although the new Thunderbird Bowl on Laskin Road near Hilltop in Virginia Beach will have already opened its doors to the public prior to the event, the famous Thunderbird Team No. 1 will help to officially kick off its bowling activities by hosting the Zales Jewelers Team on Sunday, Nov. 8th, at 2 p.m.

Co-sponsored by Coaches Sporting Goods and the Thunderbird Bowl, the team features some of the best bowlers in this area. Notable among these are Lee Amundson, Tom Barger, John Chisholm, Pete Preston, and Kent Shaffer, with Hank Hickey as captain and manager. Several of the current team members participated in the now famous "Thunderbird Caravan" to Detroit last spring and met several of the top teams in the Detroit, Pittsburgh, and Washington area, some of which are ranked nationally. It is planned to have these teams bowl return matches in Virginia Beach in the near future.

The public is cordially invited to attend these matches and watch the experts show bowling at its best. Both participating teams are currently competing in the Intercity Traveling League, which is a semi-professional league comprised of the best teams in the Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, and Richmond area. Additional league matches will be held at the Thunderbird Bowl each Sunday at 2 p.m. during the winter bowling season.

Church Dinner Set for Nov. 11

The final preparations for the Virginia Beach Methodist Church Dinner, which will be held November 11th, from 5 to 8 p.m., at the Convention Center are being completed.

The proceeds of this dinner given by the Women of the Church will be used for the new educational building which is now being erected.

Mrs. Wallace Clark is the chairman of the dinner committee. Serving with her are Mrs. Millard Godsey, Mrs. W. D. Wilson, Mrs. Worth Petty, Mrs. A. L. Hoggard, Mrs. Roy V. Dudley, Mrs. H. L. McClannan, and Mrs. Joseph Cavell. These excellent cooks have planned a home cooked ham or turkey dinner.

At the auction, which will be held during the dinner, you will be able to bid on quite a variety of articles, such as antiques, household appliances, or a Smithfield ham. Mrs. William J. Fannery and Mr. Richard Dyer are co-chairmen.

There will be packages to delight both old and young at the Surprise Package and the Fish Pond booths. Mrs. B. W. Wroton is chairman of the Surprise Packages and Mrs. Fred A. Havoc Jr. is in charge of the Fish Pond.

Mrs. Aubrey Holmes, responsible for the Bake Sale, will have homemade cakes, pies, cookies, pickles and preserves.

Mrs. Harold Kellam, general chairman, has a point to Mrs. Vernon Tilliet chairman of tickets. You may purchase tickets at $1.50 from Mrs. Tilliet or from any of the women of the church.

The Old and The New

The old and the new combine graciously in the charming kitchen of Mrs. L. B. Walker shown above. The old brick fireplace, cathedral beams, knotty pine paneling and ancient utensils enhance the modern wall oven and island range. This is one of the interesting kitchens included in the unique Harvest Kitchen Tour being sponsored by the Junior Women's Club of Princess Anne County on Tuesday, November 24.

Inspection Rush Expected in Dec.

Richmond, Va. — With 11,000 Virginia automobiles due for inspection in December, Captain R. E. King, State Police Safety Officer, suggested today that motorists whose cars bear number 12 stickers, designating December inspections, might consider having their cars inspected during November.

"December," he said, "is a busy month for everybody and the fact that twice as many cars are due to be inspected in December as in most other months can well make it advisable for motorists whose cars are due to be inspected in December to have it done this month (November) and avoid possible congestion."

He explained that under the present inspection system a car owner may have his vehicle checked in any month before that in which his sticker expires, with inspection due again six months later. The abnormal number of inspections due by December, he said, reflects the large number of car owners who waited until last June to achieve their initial inspections under the new system. This was the final month in which it could be done.

"We do not expect undue trouble in December," Captain King explained, "since we formerly inspected one and one-half million cars during a 45-day period. However, with everything else we have to do in December, it could well be advisable for some of them to get their car inspections behind them."

Cars inspected during December will be due for reinspection in June while those inspected in November will be due in May.

Radio Station WBOF Now Beaming With 5,000 Watts

The boost in power by Radio Station WBOF to 5,000 watts now makes it the Tidewater area's most powerful non-directional station on a clear channel.

Until recently 1550 kilocycles was not being utilized by radio stations as the Federal Communications Commission had been withholding issuance of the frequency pending the 15 year deadlock of the so-called "Clear Channel Case." WBOF's grant was the first to be made by the F.C.C. after the decision by the government to unlock the "frozen frequency."

Effective with the power increase the station changed frequency from 1600 to 1550 kilocycles.

General Manager Leo Hoarty said WBOF is now putting into operation plans for extensive coverage of news and special events throughout Tidewater with two mobile units and the only airplane used for news coverage in the area.

Ownted and operated by Virginia Beach Broadcasting Corporation, WBOF goes into its sixth year of operation December 11th of this year. The officers are Hoarty, president and general manager; Sidney Banks, vice president; James P. Sadler, secretary; and W. W. McClannan Jr., treasurer.

The station will continue its present music policy of no "rock and roll" and no "hillbilly." "We take pride," Hoarty said, "in our programming theme—'Where music is the difference.'" Each selection is chosen for an adult approach designed to create an air of refreshment for young and old adult tastes.

Highlights of the WBOF programming are four outstanding personalities.

The first is Bob Gheza, who is the station's Program Director. He has been associated with the station from its first year of operation. Born in San Francisco, Calif., Bob was raised in Chicago.

In addition to radio, he has also worked in television at WVEC-TV. He was host of a weekly popular teenage variety show, did a daily sports program and served the station as producer and director.

A second is Thane S. "Jack" Garrison, who is Chief Engineer in addition to doing his own daily program. A native of Oklahoma, "Jolly Jack" has over 14 years experience in radio.

Another WBOF personality is Wade Williams, a native of Durham and a graduate of Feagin Drama and Radio School of New York. He has appeared in a number of roles on Broadway, toured in road companies and played in summer stock with many well-known stars. He returned to WBOF after serving two years as promotion and public relations director of the Paul Green outdoor drama, "The Confederacy."

Noted Tidewater sportsman and former Coach Fred Isaacs is heard on "Sports Review" daily at 4:30 with news from the world of sports and interviews with popular local and national sports figures.

In addition to winning many, many news awards, WBOF has had the distinction of winning for two years straight the Douglas Southall Freeman Award for public service through radio journalism.

The Freeman award is the highest honor the Virginia Associated Press Broadcasters Association can bestow and it marked the first time in the history of the award that the non-metropolitan station category had been won by the same station for two successive years. The award was named in memory of the famous editor, Pulitzer Prize winning historian and one of the first radio commentators in this country.

An important facet of the WBOF operation is merchandising. To accomplish its merchandising program for sponsors the station works with everyone from women's organizations to grocery store managers. WBOF has organized more than 150 clubs in this promotion known as CCA.

Through Community Club Awards, a plan which rewards women's organizations big cash money for buying certain products or patronizing specific services, the company has awarded $12,000 in cash in the last year and a half. This money has gone to all kinds of non-profit organizations ranging from civic, social, religious to charitable and fraternal groups. These clubs have more than 25,000 club members, families and friends saving "proof-of-purchase" of WBOF's sponsors' products and services for their club's credit.

On Monday, WBOF held a party for winning clubs when the latest cash awards were paid out.

Top winners of the last campaign included Tidewater Association for Retarded Children, Sterling Point Garden Club, St. Paul's PTA, Psi Nu Mu Sorority, Holy Angels PTA, Fidelis Sunday School Club of the First Church of God, Ladies Willing Workers of the Glenrock Church of God, Ladies Auxiliary to the Fraternal Order of Police, Princess Anne Lodge 8, Borough of Norfolk Chapter of DAR and American Legion Auxiliary No. 204.

WBOF has been setting a steady pace in the radio broadcasting field. It was one of the first to utilize tape recording for commercials and sound effects when it went on the air in 1954.

Listeners notice the absence of scratchy disc sounds on the air. It also struck a first with editorials, remote newscasts equipped with two-way radio and then early this year added the first news airplane.

Listeners late Sunday afternoon heard Bob Gheza do an on-the-scene report from Charlottesville, site of the Piedmont Air Line plane crash. While Gheza was broadcasting at the airport, General Manager Leo Hoarty, who flies his own plane, was over the wreckage in the mountains near Skyline Drive.

This was not the first such "first." Two weeks ago WBOF met the African Queen 30 miles at sea and also covered the Esso Stand-off oil fire via aerial broadcast.

Annual Polio Ball Slated January 30

The second annual Polio Ball for the benefit of the 1960 March of Dimes will be held on Saturday night, Jan. 30, 1960. It was announced today by Josh Vaughan, county campaign director.

The chairman for the Polio Ball is Mrs. D. L. Hoyer and Mrs. Charles Walkley is co-chairman for the event. Further details will be announced at a later date. It was announced by Mrs. Hoyer. There will be door prizes and drawings for additional prizes donated by Princess Anne and Virginia Beach merchants.

"Last year's first Polio Ball was a tremendous success," said Mrs. Hoyer. And she hoped the people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach would support this one even better.

Landmarks On The American Scene

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Congratulations to WBOF

The Sun-News is happy this week to extend its congratulations and best wishes to our own Radio Station WBOF on the advent of its new power and changed location on the radio dial.

All of those individuals connected with WBOF should feel proud of the fine progress it has made in a few short years, and the community is grateful for the contribution it is making.

Along with announcement of the change in power to 5000 watts and the new dial location General Manager Leo Hoarty stated that WBOF is now putting into operation plans for extensive coverage of news and special events throughout Tidewater.

WBOF has for some time has taken pride in its policy of programming and the fact that it does not play "rock and roll" or "hill-billy" music.

The latest advancement by WBOF is another sign of progress. It is a quality that Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County knows well and we congratulate WBOF, its organizers, its staff and its officers and directors for its progress in the radio field and its distinct contribution to the progress of this area.

Public Schools Outperform Private

Editor's Note: Mr. Brundage is a teacher and chairman of the Social Studies Dept. at Washington-Lee High School. The 45 semi-finalists at W-L make the Arlington school second only to the selective Bronx School of Science (with 51) among America's high schools.

By Dean Brundage

The National Merit Scholarship Program, originated in 1955, in a nationally organized quest for students of demonstrated outstanding ability. Four year scholarships are available to the winners with stipends awards in accordance with the financial need of the scholar. The endeavor is largely underwritten by U.S. industry, footing the bill to send bright kids to college all over the nation.

In order to enter the competition a high school Junior must undergo a stiff three-hour examination. This test has been described as emphasizing "broad, intellectual skills. It attempts to measure understanding of and ability to use what the younger has learned rather than sheer knowledge of facts. Included in the examination: vocabulary, mathematics, social studies, natural science and knowledge of English usage.

The successful Semifinalist — Northern Virginia has 111 such aces — must take a second examination. If he survives this ordeal, the student is considered a finalist.

He is then evaluated by the Merit Scholarship Selection Committee. This Committee takes a long, hard look at the leadership, citizenship, grades, out-of-school activities of each scholar. No information, it should be added, is gathered on race or creed.

There is considerable satisfaction at the fine showing made by Northern Virginia's public high schools in the Semi-finals of this year's competition for National Merit Scholarships. Of 235 Semi-finalists in Washington, suburban Maryland and Virginia, the 111 from Northern Virginia constitute a strong endorsement of the quality of public school education in the area.

In view of the much heavier secondary school population of the District and of nearby Maryland, Northern Virginia's accomplishment is all the greater, despite a quota system which awards scholarships on state basis.

Indeed, a study of the numbers of qualifying Semi-finalists from public schools, as contrasted to the tiny handful of private and church school winners, is at once a testimony to the quality of public school instruction and an indictment of private school education. Even when it is acknowledged that there are many well-heeled students in private schools who do not enter the competition, there is nonetheless a feeling that some of our own private schools—Sidwell-Friends, Landon, Georgetown Prep, among them—ought certainly to have fielded a few Semi-finalists.

So expensive has good instruction in science, language and other fields become in recent years, however, that many private schools are finding the cost of salaries, technical laboratories and scientific equipment too great for their budgets. There is now a growing recognition that public schools are doing a better job in these fields than is generally possible under private auspices.

While the private and sectarian schools of America will always have an instrumental role to play in American education the public schools, it is clear, are beginning in many localities to set standards of achievement which private institutions will be hard-pressed to equal.

County Basketball Organization Meet Set for Dec. 12

time-consuming travel.

"Such mail as must come into Norfolk to connect delivery routes which originate there will already have been processed, and can thus be kept separate from mail originating at Norfolk and sent on its way to destinations immediately.

"Other changes include the establishment of some new transportation routes, and adding trips to and changing schedules of existing routes. Some adjustment of city mail collection schedules was also necessary.

"The improved delivery of letters throughout the Norfolk Metropolitan Area is being accomplished despite antiquated postal quarters and equipment, which do not begin to meet the demands of today's mail load.

"This plan for the Norfolk Metropolitan Area is another step toward achieving the Department's goal of next-day delivery of mail between any two points in the United States. We have previously established similar plans in the Washington, Baltimore and Richmond areas, and additional plans are in operation in other Postal Regions.

The national program calls for establishment of 90 such metropolitan area plans, which in total will assure next-day delivery for more than two-thirds of the annual volume of mail generated by the entire country. The Washington Region of the Post Office Department is proud and happy to have been able to contribute the Norfolk Metropolitan Area plan to that effort," Mr. Clarke concluded.

Teenage News From CRYA

Oceana. During the month of October, 54 teenage boys and girls participated in activities sponsored by the Creeds, Courthouse, Chesapeake Beach, Blackwater, and Diamond Springs Teenage Clubs. Activities included social dancing, square dance instructions, fishing, ping pong, shuffleboard, roller skating, and bowling. The Chesapeake Beach Youth Club announced that 40 boys and girls turned out for their first baseball practices.

Children's Home Drive Reports 242 Contributions

Mrs. A. P. Randolph, local chairman of the Children's Home Society, had drive for this year, reports that 242 families in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County have contributed to the support of the adoption agency.

This response has come from people who love children and find satisfaction in making the work of the Children's Home Society possible.

Since the first of this year 111 infants have been placed by this agency, and many more are under its care. Each newborn infant received by the Society is first placed in a private boarding home with a mother who has children of her own. The boarding home is under perpetual supervision of a social worker, employed by the Society. In this manner, each child lives in a natural environment.

The sponsors in this area, the local chairmen, and the Children's Home Society thank you who have contributed so generously toward the continuance of their work, that of finding homes for infants.

Lee E. Chambers Attends Meeting

Mr. Lee E. Chambers of 1401 Baltic Ave., Virginia Beach, Secretary-Treasurer of Aldridge and Chambers, Inc., was one of the member delegates attending the 26th annual convention of the National Pests Control Association when it convened at the Hotel Buena Vista in Biloxi, Miss., on Oct. 19. The four-day program was highlighted by addresses and seminar discussions involving virtually every phase of activity of the pest control industry. The program particularly emphasized the latest up-to-date information concerning the control of insect pests, public health measures and protection against termite attack. More than 500 members of the Association participated in the sessions which was preceded by the meeting of the Board of Directors and committees on Oct. 17.

Mrs. Chambers accompanied her husband to the convention.

Beach Music Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. E. H. Church and Mrs. Raymond Pritchard entertained the Virginia Beach Music Club's first in the gathering of the season at the Church residence on 49th Street.

Mrs. Goldsborough Robinson, president, opened the meeting. The musical program was introduced by the vice president and program chairman, Mrs. M. M. Terrie, who presented Mrs. Donald Hood, soprano and Mrs. E. H. Church, pianist. In a group of songs by Mandelstam, Romberg and Morrison, followed by tape recorded selections of a previous program by Mrs. M. M. Terrie, Mrs. W. Fred Bonney, Jr., Mrs. Merle Hershey and Mr. Charles Havis, accompanied by Mr. William Miller.

CLIFFORD HERZER MARKS ANNIVERSARY WITH RECITAL

Virginia Beach concert pianist Clifford Herzer celebrated his 10th anniversary in the Tidewater area at the Norfolk Museum with a recital for a capacity audience, Wednesday evening, October 28th.

Mr. Herzer had chosen for his program some of the less frequently heard Brahms Ballades, Beethoven's 32 Variations, Haydn's Sonata in E flat major, flanked by works by Scarlatti and Chopin.

The event proved again that Norfolk is sorely in need of a chamber music hall to accommodate this type of concerts for which there are increasingly bigger audiences.

It has recently been announced that Mr. Herzer has been named a member of the Board of Directors of the new Josef Levehine Honor Society which will honor the late famous pianist by providing scholarships for talented piano students.

Board of Governors Of Garden Club of Va. Meets Here

Members of the board of governors of the Garden Club of Virginia meeting here this week heard a fighting message contained in leaflets being distributed by the Associated Clubs for Highway Development on the plan to obtain a highway control legislation during the 1960 General Assembly. Mrs. Raymond C. Power, GCV highway chairman, pointed out that Virginia stands to lose an estimated $7,000,000 in federal bonus money if standards equal to the federal controls are not adopted by July 1, 1960. These controls apply to the interstate highway system now under construction.

Other business on the agenda included plans for a judging school in Roanoke Feb. 10-12 and dates and locations of the 1960 flower show. The daffodil show will be in Charlottesville, the lily show in Middleburg and the rose show in Fredericksburg.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB WINKERS ANNOUNCED

The winners of the Virginia Beach Duplicate Bridge Club which plays each Tuesday evening at 7:45 at the Dunes, Norfolk Hotel were: North-south—first place, Mrs. Margaret Vaughan, Mrs. William Bruce; second place, Mrs. E. V. Caulfield and Mrs. James Skipper; third place, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maul.

East-west—first place, Mrs. George R. Alton and Mrs. Doree Patrick; second place, Mrs. Anne Ellis and Mrs. R. P. Norfleet; third place, Mrs. Virginia F. Mapp and Mrs. Ruth L. Williams.

All bridge players are invited.

PHILIP MORRIS STAFFED INTO RICHMOND LAW SOCIETY

Richmond—Philip B. Morris of Virginia Beach has been tapped into the McNeill Law Society at the University of Richmond.

Mr. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Morris Jr., is the treasurer of the Student Bar Association. He is a member of Delta Theta Phi law fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa national leadership fraternity.

His parents live at 1302 Maywood Road.

Board of Governors Of Garden Club of Va. Meets Here

Members of the board of governors of the Garden Club of Virginia meeting here this week heard a fighting message contained in leaflets being distributed by the Associated Clubs for Highway Development on the plan to obtain a highway control legislation during the 1960 General Assembly. Mrs. Raymond C. Power, GCV highway chairman, pointed out that Virginia stands to lose an estimated $7,000,000 in federal bonus money if standards equal to the federal controls are not adopted by July 1, 1960. These controls apply to the interstate highway system now under construction.

Other business on the agenda included plans for a judging school in Roanoke Feb. 10-12 and dates and locations of the 1960 flower show. The daffodil show will be in Charlottesville, the lily show in Middleburg and the rose show in Fredericksburg.

Nancy Bourne,
Tommy L. Skeen
Exchange Vows

Miss Nancy Bourne became the bride of Tommy Lee Skeen on Sunday, Oct. 25, at 2 p.m., in Thalia Methodist Church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. S. Garret, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Kenneth W. Haddock, former District Superintendent of the Norfolk Methodist Churches.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bourne. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Skeen of Norfolk.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length wedding gown of Floristine lace. Her veil of illusion was arranged from a Queen's crown entwined with rope pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with carnations, centered with a white orchid and showered with ribbons.

Miss Kay Skeen, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Miss Rebecca Bourne, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Little Miss Debbie Bourne was her sister's flower girl and Russell Bourne Jr. was his sister's ring bearer.

Max Gardner was best man. The groomsmen were George Crispin and Douglas and Jimmy Miller, cousins of the bridegroom.

A reception was held in the social hall of the church. Following a wedding trip to the Shenandoah Valley, the couple will reside in Norfolk.

Social Welfare Group to Meet

District I of the Virginia Council on Social Welfare Inc. will meet Thursday, November 12, 1959 at 1:30 p.m. in the Social Hall of the Navy Y.M.C. 130 Brooke Avenue, Norfolk.

This will be the second in a series of meetings on "New Trends in Essential Social Service"—The District Theme of the year. The subject of this meeting will be "Changing Trends in the Cycle of Man."

Among the speakers appearing on the panel to develop this subject are Dr. Michael J. Keith, Psychiatrist and President of the Norfolk Chapter Virginia Association for Mental Health. Dr. Keith will discuss "Personality Development and Changing Trends in the Treatment of the Mentally Ill."

Discussing "Changing Health Trends" will be Elliott L. Richardson, Assistant Secretary Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C. Richardson, a Lawyer, recently addressed the Kansas Medical Society on this theme and pointed up that the biggest problem in Health is Welfare and the biggest problem in Welfare is Health.

Following Richardson's discussion will be Mrs. Mary C. Gore, Assistant Chief, Bureau of Public Assistance, Department of Welfare and Institutions—Richmond, Virginia, who will discuss "Changing Trends in Welfare."

Moderator of the panel will be Curtis T. Brooke, Jr., Assistant Executive Manager, Norfolk Chamber of Commerce. He will be introduced by Mrs. Beulah Wheeler, Program Chairwoman of the District. Mrs. Wheeler is a Child Welfare Consultant with the Virginia Department of Welfare and Institutions.

More and more it is being recognized that ill health, whether temporary or chronic, is a major cause of dependency and medical care which prevents illness or disability or enables an individual to become wholly or partially self supporting is a sound investment. Authorities agree that more adequate medical care and increased case work skills could accomplish much toward helping people to live as useful and happy lives as possible within the limits of their disabilities.

Proceeding the program will be a business meeting presided over by Paul J. Canady, Chairman of the District. Canady is Director of Public Welfare—Norfolk. Other officers are, Mrs. Beulah Wheeler, Vice President, Mrs. Ruth Salasky, Director Norfolk Volunteer Service Bureau—Corresponding Secretary, Miss Margaret Vaughn, Supt. of Nurses, Norfolk Health Department Recording Secretary, and James M. Duke, Court Social Worker—South Norfolk Welfare Department—Treasurer.

District I encompasses Accomack, Nansemond, Isle of Wight, Norfolk, Northampton, Southampton and Princess Anne Counties, and the following Cities: Norfolk, Portsmouth, Suffolk, South Norfolk and Virginia Beach.

Your Social Security

By: EARL W. THINKLE
Field Representative

When Bob Williams applied for his old age benefits in December 1957, he also asked about benefits for his 13 year old adopted son, George. George was an orphan. Bob had supported him for several years, and had adopted him the year before.

Bob was told at the social security office that the law required the adoption to be in effect three years before benefits could be payable for George. Since he had adopted George only one year before, Bob understood that there would be no payments for another two years.

One day about a year later, Bob read in a newspaper that there had been changes in the social security law, and that some of these changes concerned adopted children. Bob visited his social security office. He was told within two years of September 1958, an adopted child no longer had to wait three years to receive benefits, but could get them right away. He quickly filed an application for George, submitted his birth certificate and adoption papers, and pretty soon payments started to come through for George.

Bob and George benefited from one of the 1958 changes affecting adopted children. Another change provides that a child adopted by a person receiving disability payments may also qualify for benefits right after adoption, instead of having to wait three years.

Still another change applies to a child who was living with a working person and was being supported by him, although the child had not yet been adopted. If the wage earner dies, and the widow adopts the child within two years of her husband's death, benefits may be paid to the child and also to the widow as long as she has this minor child in her care. If the wage earner died several years ago, benefits are payable if the adoption is within two years of August 28, 1958, when the law was changed.

Because Bob Williams inquired of his social security district office, his adopted son George now receives benefits. If you have an adopted child who may qualify under the 1958 changes in the law, you should get in touch with your social security district office located at 220 W. Brambleton Ave., Norfolk 10, Va.

One of the goals of the Social Security Administration is to pay

NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS COMPANY, NEW YORK - 66 PROOF

Edsel Features New Styling, New Wide-Tread

The 1940 Edsel features completely new styling, a new wide-tread, long-spring ride, and a price that is competitive with top models of the "popular three."

Edsel's third year on the market represents its third year of distinct appearance changes. It also marks the widest, most spacious Edsel in the car's history. Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of the Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln Division, said:

"We believe the 1940 Edsel will appeal to those who want a distinctive car at a reasonable price. Mr. Mills said, 'The discriminating buyer will find the new Edsel gives him excellent quality and value for his money.'"

The Edsel has been completely redesigned for 1940, and is one inch lower, almost three inches wider and five and a half inches longer than the 1939 model. The tread has been widened by more than two inches at the front wheels and 3.6 inches at the rear to 61 and 60 inches respectively.

Most interior dimensions have been increased for greater passenger comfort. For example, the shoulder room has been increased 2.8 inches and 4 inches, front and rear. Hip room is up 1.3 inches in front and 2.4 in the rear seat. And rear seat legroom is 12 inches longer.

The increased tread is achieved with a lower center of gravity, making the Edsel one of the most road-hugging cars in the industry. Because of this stability, an Edsel would have to be tilted at an angle of 23 degrees to have its outside wheels lifted more than four feet off the pavement for the car to tip over.

Edsels are offered in two series for 1940—the Ranger and Villager. They include the Ranger two-wheel four-door sedan, the two and four door hardtops, and the convertible, and the Villager six and nine-passenger station wagons. Both wagons are four-door models.

Edsel's styling changes for 1940 and the styling changes are more than skin deep. For example, the "dogies" has been eliminated by moving the windshield post forward 10 inches to allow the driver or front passenger to enter and leave the car without hazzarding a bumped knee. Visibility has been increased 17% in the front windshield and 63% in the back window.

Base engine for all Edsels is the 292-cubic inch V-8, 352 cubic inch V-8. This engine operates on standard gasoline and incorporates a number of improvements for greater economy.

High performance engine for the Edsel is the 360-h.p. Super Express V-8. This extra cost option can be ordered in any Edsel.

The transmission lineup includes the dual range Dual-Power Drive and the two speed Mile-O-Matic automatics and a manual gear box. Engine-transmission combinations available suit every driving need. The Ranger V-8 can be combined with either Mile-O-Matic or three-speed manual transmission. The Super Express may be ordered with the Dual-Power Drive or Mile-O-Matic transmissions. And the Economy Six comes with the Mile-O-Matic or manual transmissions.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

Harry F. Carper, Jr., Director of The Virginia Division of War Veterans' claims, a State agency which assists veterans and survivors to obtain their lawful benefits, announces the following information of interest from his office in Roanoke.

One of the little publicized acts of the last Congress was a bill to establish safeguards as to accumulation and final disposition of certain benefits of incompetent veterans. The bill would prevent remote heirs from inheriting sizeable estates from mentally incompetent veterans when the estates have been built up of government benefits.

In the event of the death of an insane or mentally incompetent veteran whose pension or compensation has been deposited to his account in patients trust funds, the money may now be paid only in the following order: first to the surviving wife, then to the children in equal parts regardless of their ages, and if no wife or children, then to dependent parents. If there are no surviving wife, children or dependent parents, then only so much of the veteran's funds may be paid as necessary to pay the expenses of his last sickness and burial.

The new measure also provides that when an incompetent veteran having no wife or children is being furnished hospital treatment without charge by the United States, or any political subdivision thereof, payments of pension, compensation, or service retirement pay shall be stopped when his estate reaches $1500 and shall not be resumed until the estate is reduced to $500.

It will no longer be possible for some distant relative to come in and claim the money of a deceased insane veteran which accumulated for him during years of insanity, where the funds represented compensation pension, or service retirement pay, and where he was not survived by a wife, children, or dependent parents. Of course, if the deceased insane person left an estate which did not come from gratuitous benefits from the VA, such estate will be disposed of according to usual inheritance laws.

The use of tranquilizing drugs which cause many severely ill mental patients to respond more readily to treatment is not only shortening hospital stay, but is causing Veterans Administration general medical and surgical hospitals to expand their programs for psychiatric patients. Mentally ill patients requiring long term hospitalization must be treated as heretofore in VA hospitals which specialize in psychiatric care, such as the 2000 bed NP hospital at Roanoke.

The VA has found that the mental wards in general hospitals, designed for care of small numbers usually has the advantage of keeping the patient nearer his family and helps to avoid some of the problems of getting back to work and readjusting to community life which facing the patient released from a mental institution.

This is not a new program of the Veterans Administration because general medical and surgical hospitals have long had some facilities for regular patients developing mental conditions. It means only that general hospitals of the VA have met with such success in treating short term mental cases that expansion of the program has begun. Prompt recovery in general means a relaxation of some of the pressure on the overcrowded NP hospitals.

The Veterans Administration authorities report that about a third of the young people eligible for benefits of the War Orphans Education Act are not taking advantage of the law because they do not understand its purpose and how it works.

Some of these young folks do not feel that they are orphans because the mother is still living. The law, however, views the children of a parent who died of wartime service connected causes as orphans even with the other parent alive. In these times of early marriage, eligible children often believe they are no longer eligible because they have married, whereas marriage does not bear upon educational privileges under the Act. Other eligible children believe that they must go to college in order to get aid under this law, not realizing that institutional training may be pursued for many occupations in technical and vocational fields, such as secretarial and accounting courses, or nursing and laboratory technician training. All training must be institutional in diploma or degree courses, except general residential training for physically or mentally handicapped children. On-the-job training is not permitted under the War Orphans Education Act.

Congress has recently approved a new law of importance to veterans who were not permitted training under the Korean GI bill in higher objectives than specified on their original applications. The new law clarifies the meaning of the term "change of program of education or training" in the GI bill. A new subsection has been added to the effect that advancement to a higher program is not a change of objective when the first program is prerequisite to, or generally required for, entrance into pursuit of the second.

An example of the situation corrected is that of the veteran who selected as his initial objective the attainment of a bachelor's degree. If after obtaining the bachelor's degree he wanted to work toward a master's degree, the change to the higher degree was considered a change of program. If the veteran then desired to seek a doctor's degree he had no further entitlement because he had exhausted his right to one change of program.

The Veterans Administration will not review all denied cases under the old law. Veterans who had to interrupt training because request for a higher objective was disapproved should reapply if they still desire to continue training. Educational allowances will not be paid retroactively for those who went on and paid their own expenses, but it is now possible under the new law to complete their final objectives under the GI bill. The amendment is applicable to all training programs and is not restricted to education in institutions of higher training.

Thomas A. Moore, Norfolk service officer for the Division, at 203 City Hall Avenue, will be pleased to assist and advise any person concerning veterans' affairs. Moore visits the Convention Center ("The Dome"), Pacific Avenue at 19th Street, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. only, on the second and fourth Thursdays each month.

Save-It's the American Way To Success

In the historic document, the Bill of Rights, every individual in the United States is guaranteed the protection of his rights and envisioned by this country's founders, and one that we have the responsibility to preserve.

What then, are these rights? The freedom to think, say, and do what we please, as long as we do not hurt anybody. The freedom to work where we choose, earn an income to extent of our capacity and support those activities that create a satisfactory life.

The traditions within our mode of life have been numerous and rapid. Since the beginning of the century, only sixty years have elapsed; transportation alone, has gone from the horse and buggy days to the advent of jet flight. In the near future, rockets to outer space are evident. Perhaps other material things in our mode of living have not changed as rapidly, but nevertheless, there is change.

Certainly, the "do it yourself" philosophy has undergone a radical change, for we find those today who believe subsidies are the answer to people's wants. Increased subsidies require increased taxes, because the money must come from someone, thus all pay the price for those who are unwilling to do it themselves.

Following this train of thought a little further, higher taxes place a premium on thrift and constitute one of the pressures causing inflation. All of this cuts down the freedom of individuals and slowly destroys the incentives of individual enterprise.

During the 42nd observance of National Thrift Week, these conditions can be elaborated upon. As custodians of the people's money, thrift institutions have an opportunity to highlight the rewards of thrift and to work co-operatively in outlining specific ways in which the individual, community, and nation can prosper under a "do it yourself" program.

We are coming to the close of another decade. The next ten years will require greater capital in order to meet the housing, feeding, clothing, and service demands of an increasing population.

To favor the trend of larger government deficits, inflation, and higher subsidies? Or, do we wish to keep alive the pioneer spirit of independence, industry and thrift?

If our choice is to maintain the democratic philosophy of our forefathers, we can continue to grow when we save, for it's the American way to continued success and the preservation of our American way of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Seth and their daughter, Miss Susan Seth, of Towson, Md., spent last weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor at their home on Cavalier Drive. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor also had as their guests, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Ross and their daughter, Janet, of Richmond.

Junior Women Select Kitchens For Harvest Tour

The Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County takes great pleasure in announcing the selection of the following kitchens for the First Annual "Harvest Kitchen Tour" to be held on November 24 from 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

The homes are described in the order that they will appear on tour programs, with Mrs. D. W. Gregory, Hill Road, Cavalier Park, designated as "headquarters."

The $2 tickets may be purchased at any of the houses and at any time throughout the tour hours. Single admissions may be obtained for 30 cents.

Refreshments will be served in Mrs. Camp's kitchen from 12:00 to 4:30 and luncheon from noon until 2:30 is available at the Cape Colony Club by making advance reservations with GA 8-1575. Proceeds of the Harvest Kitchen Tour will benefit club welfare activities and the proposed Community Hospital.

No matter where I serve my guests, they seem to like my kitchen best.

1. "Pink Perfection" is an ideal name for the kitchen in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gregory in Cavalier Park. The luscious pink room features an "off kitchen" for canning and preserving.

2. A delightful breakfast bar and range combination separate the kitchen and the family room in a "Turquoise Treat" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson Jr. in Bay Colony.

3. Commander and Mrs. C. S. Sanders of Virginia Beach have beautifully remodeled an old home, preserving its best features. The family room-kitchen is a rare "Colonial Charm" with its uses of old copper utensils and pine antique furniture.

4. "Northern Lights" describe the blue trim on the exterior of the house as well as the color used in the "finger-stip" kitchen in Dr. and Mrs. Howard Kahn's home in Birdneck Point.

5. Mr. and Mrs. John B. James in Lintz have combined broovy tones in their "Modern Magic" kitchen. A free form built-in table is enhanced by the straw basket pull lamp above and the straw backed chairs.

6. "Che's Haven" was truly named because the lady in this kitchen can cook while being included in the activities in the front of the house as well as those at the pool on the water side. In Lintz, Mr. and Mrs. John Argona's kitchen has French provincial walnut cabinets accented by beige, pink and some aqua.

7. Mr. and Mrs. Lillian B. Walker in Alantone have combined the past and the present in a family kitchen built for family living. "Early America" contrasts an old brick fireplace and antique furniture with built-in electric appliances. At one end is an extra kitchen for canning, preserving and freezing.

8. Yellow built-in electric appliances, including a wall refrigerator, freezer, are in the "Sugar and Spice" kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. V. Camp in West Alantone.

Although this is addressed to Chevrolet owners, we'd be glad to have you read it, no matter what make you now own or plan to buy. It might well be as interesting and significant to you as to the Chevrolet owner.

TO THE MORE THAN 16 MILLION PEOPLE WHO OWN CHEVROLETS

The first and the latest—the 1959 and the 1960 Chevrolet. The program represented here is the result of continuing efforts to make your new Chevrolet always more beautiful, more useful and more valuable in every respect.

You belong to the largest family of owners in the automotive world. We hope you're proud of that. It must give you great satisfaction to know that your judgment in choosing Chevrolet has been confirmed by so many other people. We know that we can hold your preference and your loyalty only by meeting our responsibilities to you fully and completely from the day you buy your Chevrolet to the day you trade it in. And so we'd like to talk with you about our responsibilities as we see them, and what we are doing to meet them. Our first responsibility, we think, is clear: To design and build products that satisfy your needs and your wants to the highest possible degree. To that end, we have done these things for 1960: Made the 1960 Chevrolet more economical, roomier, more quiet and comfortable, easier to handle and maneuver. Introduced the compact and revolutionary Corvair. Produced a new line of Chevrolet trucks with unprecedented advances in efficiency, cargo handling, driver comfort and ability to get a job done. But it isn't enough to design and build the kinds of products you want. They must be built right. Solidly. Carefully. Let us assure you of this: Chevrolet's fine reputation as a solid, well-built, dependable product is being safeguarded by more checks and inspections and tests, than ever before. Along with your Chevrolet dealer, we want you to have available the finest and most complete service facilities. That is why we: Conduct training schools for Chevrolet dealer mechanics. Study and recommend improved service equipment and techniques. Maintain the industry's most complete parts warehouse system. Finally, neither Chevrolet nor your Chevrolet dealer has any intention of forgetting you after you buy. To help you happy with your Chevrolet, we have established a department new to us, and so far as we know, new to the automobile industry. This is the Chevrolet Department of Owner Relations, whose only job is the coordination of Chevrolet and Chevrolet dealer activities so that you enjoy almost satisfaction during your entire period of ownership. Through this department, and through all the other extraordinary steps we are taking, Chevrolet and your Chevrolet dealer hope to keep you a happy member of the Chevrolet owner family.

Coffee Adds to the Magic of a New Floating Island

There is always something a little mysterious about the dessert, Floating Island. Perhaps it's the name itself which stirs our imagination, or it could be the way it looks — with snowy meringue bobbing in the creamy custard. But, actually, the real magic of a Floating Island is in the eating, especially if you use a marvelous new recipe that calls for coffee.

In addition to coffee, this Floating Island also calls for two other "surprise" ingredients: sliced bananas and cling peaches! While the coffee lends a subtle zest to the custard, the fruits add exciting springtime flavors to the whole confection. Indeed, there's only one way that you could possibly improve this dessert — by serving "aping-hot" coffee with it. Demolish one or regular, the coffee should be full-flavored and freshly-brewed, with plenty to go around again and again.

Coffee Floating Island
1½ cups freshly brewed coffee
1½ cups milk or light cream
1 cup sugar, divided
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 fully ripe bananas
1 No. 2½ can cling peach halves

Combine coffee and milk or cream and heat to scalding point. Add ¼ cup sugar and salt and stir until sugar dissolves. Beat egg yolks slightly and add coffee mixture slowly. Cook over hot water, stirring until mixture coats spoon. Cool. Add vanilla. Chill. Beat egg whites stiff; add remaining sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Line baking sheet with aluminum foil. Form mounds meringue on foil. Bake in moderate oven, 225°, 15 minutes. Slice bananas into shallow serving dishes. Cover with chilled custard. Meringues on top. To serve: place peach half in each dish; add custard, bananas and meringue. Makes 3 servings.

Make these spicy coconut cupcakes—freeze half of them, and eat the rest. By following this plan, not only with cakes, but with quick or yeast breads, and casserole dishes as well, you can get variety in your meal planning with the least possible effort! Perfect for those extra busy days! So—serve some of these wonderful cakes now and then in six weeks or so, on some particularly hectic day, simply thaw out the others in their wrappings... and there you have an excellent dessert without a bit of work!

Tropical Ginger Cupcakes
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
1 cup water
1 cup Baker's Angel Flake Coconut

Sift flour once, measure, add spices and salt, and sift again. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Dissolve soda in molasses and add to sugar mixture. Add flour, alternately with water, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Stir in coconut. Spoon batter into medium-sized paper baking cups, set in muffin pans, filling only half full. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool and frost with any orange flavored fluffy frosting. Decorate with toasted flaked coconut. Makes 18 medium cupcakes.

Before you know it — there'll be busier days, getting ready for Thanksgiving and then Christmas. Hope these suggestions help. Bye Now—

COUNTY AGENT

reomycin acts against bacteria; Hygromycin, on the other hand, acts against parasites. Comparisons in the tests were intended only to determine the amount of impalement when the different types of organisms were suppressed. The research indicated that:

Hygromycin effectively reduces parasite infestation, but fails to reduce liver damage when fed to heavy pigs previously infested. Aureomycin in the ration increases the rate of gain and feed efficiency. When combined with a single sodium fluoride parasite treatment, this rate of gain was significantly greater than gains of pigs receiving hygromycin in the feed.

Pigs fed on paved dry lot gained faster than pigs fed on dirt lots, and pigs fed on dirt dry lot gained faster than pigs on pasture. Pigs fed on pasture had less backfat and larger loin eyes than those fed on dry lot.

The complete story is reported in Bulletin 528, Agricultural Experiment Station, VPI, Blacksburg. Authors are H. R. Thomas, D. F. Watson, R. F. Kelly, and C. C. Brooks.

Council of Civic Organizations Meet in Kempsville

The first meeting of the Council of Civic Organizations (CCO) of the Kempsville district took place last evening in the Recreation Hall of the Community Methodist Church in Acredale. The meeting was held for the specific purpose to learn if there was a desire, to have a joint meeting of representatives of the various civic organizations of the Kempsville district, for the purpose of considering things of mutual interest. Under the guidance of temporary chairman, Marion Renn, it was decided that the Central body was not to be political in nature, but would on the other hand have tremendous influence for the betterment of the people of Princess Anne County. The group will meet quarterly.

The organization is part of a fulfillment of a dream of Mr. Marion Renn and Mrs. Barnett, both of Kempsville Colony, who have been active in civic activities for years in the area. It was through their efforts the first meeting came about, and representatives of the various service leagues and organizations were present to further encourage them in their efforts.

Program for the evening consisted of a brief talk by Mr. Swindell Pollock, County Commissioner, on County services and cooperation between those services and civic groups. Second speaker was Mrs. Maestas, member of the Junior Woman's Club of Virginia Beach and director of the board of the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Library. Her talk was directed concerning the library, and new bookmobile service, and how members of various civic groups can participate in the splendid work that is being done. Discussion followed, with refreshments and fellowship.

A committee was selected to further continue the work begun Wednesday evening consisting of Mr. A. S. Ward, Westview, Cliff Osmundson of Bellamy Manor, Bill Marable of Acredale, Margie Burkholder of Woodhaven, Eva Prefer of Indian River Rd., Andy Barnett, McDonald Park, Billy Ballow, Englewood Drive, and Swindell Pollock as consultant.

A chairman was elected for the organization, Mr. Earl Davis, of Kempsville Colony, to further lead the group in its infant stages, which promises to become a great force for good. "We believe that other organizations in our area would like to join with us in our efforts," Davis said, "and would like to invite them to contact us for further information." Mr. Davis may be reached at his home, 106 Millburne Drive, Princess Anne, Virginia, Phone GY 7-2266.

Mrs. Paul Dolgins, Abingdon road, was named to the board of directors of the First Congressional District of the American Cancer Society last Wednesday at a meeting in Williamsburg.

Mrs. Dolgins, president of the Princess Anne unit of the American Cancer Society, is said to be the first individual not a doctor or other professional person to hold a director's office in 10 years.

She will represent Tidewater, Peninsula and Eastern Shore counties.

The Virginia division of the American Cancer Society received a citation of merit for the public education workshop held last year in Richmond.

Mrs. Dolgins serves as district chairman of the Princess Anne district of Girls Scouts and legislative chairman for the Linkhorn PTA.

News and Views of Aragona Village

By ELSIE HARVEY

ARAGONA CIVIC LEAGUE
October proved to be an interesting and active month for members of the Aragona Civic League. Mr. Sidney Kellam, as guest speaker, opened the October meeting with an interesting and informative talk pertaining for the most part to the tourist trade in our state, stating that it was Virginia's second largest industry. Mr. Rice of the United Community Fund displayed on the screen a 12-minute colored movie showing highlights of interesting facts pertaining to the current United Fund Campaign. The Civic League Committee on Better Lighting for the Aragona Community reported that present prospects indicate that there are at least three sections of the North Side of Aragona Village which will soon have street lights installed.

CIVIC LEAGUE NOVEMBER MEETING DATE CHANGED

The regular monthly November meeting originally scheduled for November 12, has been set up for one week earlier and will be held on November 5. Mr. Jack Etheridge, Princess Anne County Treasurer, will be guest speaker at this meeting. The Aragona Community Recreation Center, Inc., will present a musical revue on the evenings of November 11 and 12, and it was thought that by setting up the date it would permit increased attendance at the musical which is part of the fund raising project under way for building the proposed recreation center building and facilities.

BUS TRANSPORTATION STILL A BURNING ISSUE FOR VILLAGE

Mr. Earl Hansen, past president of the Aragona Civic League, stated that considerable time and effort had been spent in endeavoring to arrange for bus transportation facilities through the Aragona Village area. Many contacts have been made and conversations held with different entities but to date no definite conclusions have been reached whereby bus transportation could be established. Because of the great need for bus transportation in this highly populated area, Mr. Hansen urged that a transportation committee be organized with the view to establishing contact with the proper individuals and entities and make further effort to bring this greatly needed public service to the Aragona Village community, which is in itself a sizeable suburban city.

MANY RESIDENTS OPPOSE PROBABLE ANNEXATION TO CITY OF NORFOLK

There have been numerous comments made by residents in the Aragona Village area expressing opposition to the probable future prospect of certain areas of the community being annexed by the City of Norfolk in 1964. Those individuals who may be interested in the matter are invited to attend the Nov. 5 meeting and subsequent meetings and to join with others in the league who plan to study the salient points in connection with such an annexation, and to exchange ideas and suggestions as to the manner in which the campaign to oppose annexation should proceed.

COUNCIL OF CIVIC LEAGUES, GARDEN CLUBS MEET

Mr. Larry Marshall, president of the Aragona Civic League, attended a meeting on Oct. 22 of the grand council of Civic Leagues and Garden Clubs of the Kempville area. The council has been formed for the purpose of bringing together the leaders and other individuals active in civic projects in the Norfolk area, where discussions may be held on matters and projects which might be of mutual benefit or effect. The council is scheduled to meet every three months for discussion and expression of views between the various community groups and promote good fellowship in working out civic problems and projects.

WELFARE COMMITTEE TO SERVE ARAGONA VILLAGE

The Aragona Civic League and Aragona Community Recreation Center, Inc., have joined in forming a Welfare Committee which will function as such in a friendly and neighborly manner in sending cards, flowers, making calls or rendering assistance as is necessary in time of illness, death or emergency. Anyone wishing to communicate with the committee may call Mrs. Robert Harvey, GY 7-3442 or Mr. Jack Helsey, GY 7-1304 as representatives of the Civic League and Mrs. Harold Spilka, GY 7-1207 or Mr. L. C. Davis representing the Recreation Center.

The "Teen Dances" inaugurated early this fall have proved to be successful and happy events, despite so many other social events for the youngsters, and, not to be forgotten "football practice." These dances will continue to be held on Friday evenings at the Aragona School. The "Pre-Teen Dance" held on Sept. 25 brought out approximately 180 boys and girls between the ages of nine to 12 years. There will be one dance a month held for the "Pre-Teen" group on the last Friday evening of each month. The October dance was a traditional Halloween celebration where the children were costumed as ghosts, skeletons, kings, princesses, witches and pirates. Prizes were awarded for the most original, the funniest and the prettiest costumes.

CHURCH NEWS

Haywood Methodist Church
The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Haywood Methodist Church will sponsor the annual bazaar and serve a turkey supper at the church on the evening of Nov. 19 from 5 through 8 o'clock. The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service will be held at the church at 8 p.m. Nov. 11.

ARAGONA GARDEN CLUB

The Board of the Aragona Garden Club held a business meeting on Monday evening, Nov. 2, at the home of Mrs. G. E. Williams in Spooner Road. The regular monthly meeting of the club will be held at the Christ Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 10. Mrs. L. M. Caputo will be guest speaker for the evening and the subject of her talk will be "Thanksgiving Arrangements." Year Book 1958-1960 for the club is now off the press. Events already recorded have been the September meeting when Mrs. L. E. Williams was hostess, the October meeting when Mrs. H. E. Waters acted as hostess and the scheduled November meeting when Mrs. F. A. Klucz will serve as hostess. The theme for discussion and study for November will be arrangements of driftwood and dry materials and a Thanksgiving composition and arrangement will be submitted by each member.

FOOTBALL SUPPLYING THRILLS

Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, Nov. 7, is the next date of real importance to mark on your calendar because the midget teams, the Larsons Blue Devils will play the Kempville Falcons and at 7:30 the Junior teams, the Aragona Colts will meet the Kempville Aces. Meet us on the sidelines for an evening of real entertainment and thrills.

Sam Snead School of Golf Opens Branch in Norfolk

Telephone GY 7-3349

A new venture for the sports minded is coming to Tidewater. It is the Sam Snead School of Golf. Originating in Dallas, Texas in 1936 it is spreading rapidly across the country. There are schools in Texas, Missouri, Maryland, Pennsylvania and New York. The plan is to open one new school a month.

The local School holds the franchise for an area within a 53 mile radius of Norfolk and plans to open at least three schools. The first, opening in November, will be at Fortleigh and Colley Avenue in Norfolk. Virginia Beach is under consideration as another location.

During the thirty years that Sam Snead has been associated with the Golf world he has accumulated a vast knowledge of every phase of the game, and he has painstakingly incorporated this into the Sam Snead School of Golf.

Professional instructors, who will teach, have been carefully trained in the Sam Snead Method and how to convey this to the student in the simplest and most understandable way.

The School will have booths for private instruction, open tees for practice, a sand trap and a putting green. Instruction is given in the complete bag of clubs and all clubs, balls and equipment are furnished by the School. Courses of instruction vary in length and lessons are by appointment only. Most important, a student retains his own instructor. The School will be open from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M. seven days a week, so it is easy to schedule in ladies, teenagers or business men.

Coast Guard Seeks Bids on Light Station Work

The Coast Guard has invited bids for construction work at Holland Island Bar Light Station. The station is located approximately four miles northwest of Smith Island, Maryland, in the Upper Chesapeake. The scope of work includes demolition of the existing one and one-half story wood-frame dwelling and storage platform seaward of the dwelling and construction of a concrete deck, concrete block house and steel tower. Specifications and blue prints for this construction can be obtained from the Contracting Officer, Fifth Coast Guard District, room 234, U. S. Post Office and Court House Building, Norfolk, before 1 p.m. EST, November 18, 1959. Sealed bids must be submitted to the Contracting Officer for the Fifth Coast Guard District, room 234, U. S. Post Office and Court House Building, Norfolk, before 1 p.m. EST, November 18, 1959.

The Sam Snead School of Golf is actually a "year round" air conditioned Golf Club, hindered by neither temperature, nor rain nor snow.

Opening will be in early November and a limited number of Charter Memberships are now available. These memberships include one year free use of the club facilities for practice, golf tournaments and instruction.

The President and Chairman of the Board of the Corporation is RADM John B. McLean, USN (Ret.). Admiral McLean retired in 1956 and is also President and Chairman of the Board of the International Management Corporation and a Branch Manager and Director of the Washington Planning Corporation.

The Vice President and Director is Mr. Lloyd B. Grant who is Regional Manager of the Washington Planning Corporation and Vice President and Director of the International Management Corporation.

Mr. Thomas F. Ellis, partner of Ehringhaus and Ellis, Attorneys at Law, is the third Director. RADM C. B. Jackson, USN (Ret.) will be general manager of the School.

Babies

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

This is the nursery of a large metropolitan hospital. Six times a day these precious bundles visit their happy mamas. And every night their proud papas gaze at them through the glass. Nurses watch over them constantly. Doctors examine them daily.

But the statistics in the files of the police department cast a black shadow over this innocent scene. For one of these babies is J.D.

J.D. is short for a juvenile delinquent. And from police records and census figures we can estimate the proportion of new-born infants who will become juvenile delinquents in ten to twenty years. The one factor that threatens the accuracy of our calculations is that juvenile delinquency is increasing.

There are just two ways to deal with the problem. One is to enlarge our jails. The other is to give every child's spiritual well-being the same thorough attention that this hospital gives his physical well-being.

Is yours a church-going family? Is yours a religious home?

THOROUGHGOOD GARDEN CLUB HELD CLINIC
The Thoroughgood Garden Club arranged a clinic workshop this Monday and Wednesday evenings. It was held at Thoroughgood School from 7:30 until 10:00 p.m. Mrs. J. M. Overman, Jr., conducted the clinic.

Members of the Baylake Pines Garden Club, Bayville Park Garden Club, Lake Joyce Garden Club, Lake Terrace and Princess Anne Garden Clubs were invited to take part. The Monday night session Mrs. Overman discussed flower arranging in general and at the Wednesday night session members took part in the workshop. Mrs. W. F. Thornton, Jr., was chairman in charge of arrangements.

SUNRISE GARDEN CLUB HOLD CARD PARTY

Wednesday night, October 28, the Sunrise Garden Club held a fund raising Hat and Card Party at the home of Mrs. Frank Dixon. The proceeds will be used toward the scholarship of a deaf child. Hats and jewelry were auctioned refreshments served, then the evening was turned over to card playing. Twenty-two members and guests were present.

LAKEVIEW SHORES WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Lake View Shores Woman's Club met Tuesday night, October 27 at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William E. Worsley, 411 Shamrock Ave.

Mrs. Thomas J. Kil Murray was appointed chairman of the "Doll House" project. This is the club's project for Christmas. They will build furnish and decorate the doll house which will be presented to the School for the Blind and Deaf children in Stanton. In addition to the doll house there will be a family of 8 dolls occupying it.

The club voted to hold an "outdoors Christmas decoration contest." An entrance fee will be charged and prizes will be awarded.

Richard J. Webbon, Executive Secretary of Princess Anne County, was guest speaker. He discussed county government with special emphasis on the school system, water situation and Princess Anne County. He noted that at least three additional schools are needed at the present to relieve overloaded schools.

Following the business meeting a social program refreshments were served.

MAUDE FULFORD GOLDEN CIRCLE MEETS

The Maude Fulford Golden Circle met Wednesday, October 28, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. L. Judging on Powell's Point Road. The following members enjoyed the "game party" which was held: Mrs. F. F. Mueller, Mrs. L. Anderson, Mrs. Herman Oliver, Mrs. P. T. Price, Mrs. T. L. Petty, Mrs. B. V. Reynolds, Sr., Mrs. Fred Beagler, Mrs. F. L. Lunsford, Mrs. Curtis Hall, Mrs. J. B. Fay, Sr., Miss Dwyne Fry, Mrs. Z. Davis and Mrs. Harry Fulford.

At their November meeting the members will hold their Christmas Bazaar. The club also voted to sell Danes' Hines Fruit Cakes for Christmas. The proceeds will be donated towards the Maxitron.

Following the meeting Mrs. F. L. Lunsford and Mrs. Oliver visited Mrs. George Vellines, who is a club member but who is unable to attend the meetings.

USS FORRESTAL ENLISTED MEN'S WIVES CLUB

The USS Forrestal Enlisted Men's Wives Club will meet November 10 at 10:00 a.m. at the Enlisted Men's Club on Hampton Boulevard.

Mrs. Vincent Lowery will be honored by a "kitchen shower" as her husband has been transferred to the USS Randolph. Mrs. Lowery served the club as recording secretary. At the October meeting Mrs. Thomas Ferrier was elected to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Lowery.

Mrs. Robert Montgomery will also be honored by an "earring shower." The Montgomerys are leaving for Southern California.

Mrs. Thomas Ferrier, chairman of the Christmas Card Sale reports that it is going very well and it is hoped by meeting day that all cards will be sold.

The club was happy to receive an attendance award of cash in addition to the amount received from ticket sale to a local radio program. This added greatly to the club's welfare fund.

FORT STORY Tellings

SOLDIER OF THE MONTH

A Fort Story Private First Class, who was a class president less than two years ago, was chosen to be the "Soldier of the Month" for October.

He is Pfc Paul T. McQuay, a crane operator for the 417th Transportation Company, 14th Transportation Battalion took the award at a board of officers meeting this week. McQuay was president of the senior class at Toccoa Institute in Toccoa Falls, Georgia, where he graduated in 1958.

McQuay entered the Army in July, 1958 and went to Fort Dix, N.J. for basic training and reported to Fort Eustis in October of the same year.

He came to Fort Story this July and went on the annual reassembly mission to the Far North with the 10th commanded by Captain Raymond Johnson.

The outstanding soldier was chosen for the award for his military appearance and knowledge of military and current events.

Besides being president of his senior class, the 19-year-old New Jersey resident lettered for two years in basketball and baseball.

The Army in 1931 and saw action during WWII in Normandy, Northern France and Germany. He also participated in the post-war occupation of Germany. Since the war he has been in and out of the service several times.

Included in this decoration are the Army Occupation Medal; National Defense Service Medal; Bronze Service Stars for Normandy, Northern France and the Rhineland; and the WWII Victory Medal, and the EAMET Ribbon.

Cpl. Herold's wife, Margaret, lives in White Marsh, Maryland.

The opening date for the rededicated Fort Story Service Club has been postponed until the middle of this month according to Captain Donald L. Morris, special Services Officer.

Furniture for the club has been delayed because of the steel industry strike.

STORY RECEIVES CIVILIAN AWARD

Fort Story received the quarterly Transportation Training Command award for civilian injury prevention Thursday.

Lt. Colonel George M. Folley, Assistant Chief of Staff in charge of personnel, presented the plaque to B. C. Barker, who accepted it on behalf of the civilian employees at Story.

The Transportation Training Command consists of Fort Story and Fort Eustis, with headquarters at Fort Eustis.

Both the 10th and 14th Transportation Battalions received safety awards during the ceremonies at Fort Story's Post Headquarters.

Both of these awards were post level. Major Warren J. Higgins, battalion commander of the 14th and Lt. Colonel Jack W. Tooley, battalion commander of the 10th received the plaques.

When you invest in U. S. Savings Bonds, you are buying a security guaranteed against loss of principal or interest from any cause.

Both clubs want to take the Transportation Training Command crown, but right now this game is the primary thing in all the players' minds.

Unofficial tradition is forming around the game. Personnel of the post, who don't eat the Thanksgiving meal at home, go to the unit mess halls with their families and then go to the game.

The post bowling league has gotten underway and at the end of the first week interest is high. However, it is too early to tell how the teams will place in the league, which continues until the early part of next year. Matches are held once a week.

THE SAD TALE OF A $10 HORSE

A tax expert helped a farmer prepare his income tax return. Most of the items were easy to interpret, but one read "Horse, $10." "Did you buy the horse for $10 or sell him?" asked the expert. "Well," said the farmer, "I'd like this: I bought that ornery animal for $10. He right away kicked down two stalls, and that cost me $10. Then I used him to pull a car out of a mud rut and got paid $10. Once I sold him for $10, but he caused so much trouble I bought him back for $10. I used him to take some kids for a ride and they gave me $10. Finally that fool horse wandered onto the highway, and a guy hit him and killed him. He paid me $10, but then I had to turn around and pay $10 to have the carcass hauled away.

"Finally," said the farmer, "I must have lost track somewhere, because I can't figure whether that darn horse ended up owing me or me owing him."

Nice to be back with you in our weekly chat, and thanks to Barnes Allen, our Assistant County Agent, for doing a very creditable job of filling in while I was on vacation.

QUALITY AND YIELD OF SWEET POTATOES GOOD

Russell Brown, of Route 2, London Bridge, one of our good sweet potato producers tells me that he has dug his sweet potatoes and got a very good yield of sweet potatoes with excellent quality. He says the size, shape, and color is almost ideal with very little or no discoloration from scurf.

This points out what can be done with sweet potatoes. Russell has done a good job of continually improving his sweet potato crop so that he can offer to the buyer a desirable package of sweet potatoes that will be uniform in size, shape, and color and free of defects.

The object in sweet potato production is to get the highest yield possible of number 1 potatoes with few jumbos and few number 2's. This can be accomplished through proper fertilization, planting rates and spacing and with high quality foundation stock. Russell has done these things and his crop has shown good results.

Sweet potatoes probably is the easiest crop that we have to improve. It is also probably the easiest crop that we have to degenerate. Therefore, every sweet potato producer in the county must continually improve quality of his sweet potatoes. In order to have that desirable package of sweet potatoes.

SOYBEAN HARVESTING STARTED

Farmers in the County have already started combining the earlier varieties of soybeans, such as Dorman and the few fields of Hill that we have in the County. Yields at this time seem to be fairly good with a varying in the quality of the soybeans.

One of the things that I would like to mention today is the fact that in previous years we have seen the farmers do exceptionally good jobs with the production of soybeans. And then when it comes to the time of harvest, many bushels of soybeans will be left in the field. I believe that you should pay more attention to the adjustment of your combines that we have in the past. You know, if you can find four soybeans in a square foot, that is equal to a one bushel loss per acre. So, you can easily see how you can have a tremendous loss of soybeans at harvest time. Another thing that we have seen that we believe in error is the fact that combines are sometimes operated too fast. Sometimes not being operated with the cutterbar close enough to the ground to get all of the soybeans. So, look carefully at these two things; the adjustment of your combine and the operation of your combines so that you will harvest and sell all that you have produced.

YOU CAN GREEN FEED IN WINTER

For the last two years farmers have decided that more and more interested in the green feeding of forage to dairy cattle. Up until this fall, farmers have been doing most of their green feeding during the summer months. They are cutting and hauling each day a green feed of sorghum, Pearl Millet, or Sudan Grass, or even permanent pastures. However, when fall and winter comes this green feeding seems to drop off considerably.

Mr. R. H. DeFord and son Bob, have decided that they are going to do some green feeding in the winter time. Two or three weeks ago I went to go to their farm looking at some rye and crimson clover that they were cutting to feed their dairy cattle. Mr. DeFord and Bob have approximately 100 milking cows that they are feeding plus a few replacements with this green feed. Bob tells me that he has to cut each day about 1 acre of the rye to feed his herd of cattle. With some 35 acres of this rye, this is going to go a long, long way.

They won't be able to cut when the land is real wet and on these days, cattle will get their forage from permanent pastures and silage. And, after cold weather hits, it's pretty doubtful as to how much cutting they will be able to do in the dead winter, however, when next spring comes they are going to be able to get as much green feed as they desire.

It looks like that the green feeding of forages will about double the amount of feed that you will get. If you graze the forage. Therefore, it looks like a pretty good investment to buy a forage harvester and bring that feed to the cattle. At any rate, most of our dairymen are thinking in this direction.

WATCH THAT SORGHUM

In driving around the County, visiting farmers, I have observed many fields of sorghum still in the fields. Be careful with this sorghum. Do not feed it as a green to dairy cattle or any other cattle. This, however, can be safely fed if you will put it into the silo. It will lose its prussic acid content during the ensiling process and in the feeding of the silage. Remember, it cannot be fed in any way or grazed after frost has fallen.

PROCEED WITH CAUTION WHEN BUYING MACHINERY

Mechanized farming is here to stay—but there can be too much of a good thing. Over-mechanization has become a serious problem for many farmers. Machinery and equipment are occasionally bought for small acreages for convenience, with little thought given to whether or not it will be profitable.

The decision to buy a specified piece of farm machinery should depend on the use to be made of the machine. How much it is used will determine whether it will be an asset or liability. Custom hiring may be much more economical than outright ownership for many farmers.

It sometimes may be more profitable for a farmer to invest in expanding the farm operation rather than in further mechanization. For example, $2,000 invested in additional land, fertilizer, or livestock may give higher return than $2,000 invested in a new piece of machinery.

The more a machine is used, the less it will cost per hour or per acre of use. A machine that is easily adapted to many uses is usually a wiser investment than a machine that can be used for only one purpose.

Many modern machines are more complex than the machines they replace. Be sure the machine can be operated efficiently. An inexperienced operator can soon offset any savings by improper machine adjustments and poor operation.

The right size and type of machine for the intended job is more economical to own and operate than a machine that is too large or too small. However, if the farmer expects to expand, buying a machine large enough to handle future loads may be more profitable than buying a smaller machine and being forced to trade later.

Some machines need companion equipment. It would be unwise to buy a forage harvester if present tractors don't have the necessary power for satisfactory operation. Also, tractor-mounted equipment is often designed for a specific make and model tractor and cannot be used with other tractors. Hence, trading a tractor for a larger or more convenient model may involve trading all the equipment that fits the present tractor even though this equipment is in excellent condition.

MORE PIGS PER LITTER AIM OF CURRENT TESTS

More pigs weaned per litter means more pounds of pork sold at marketing time. Swine researchers over the last 28 years have raised the average by only 1.2 pigs per litter.

Probably less correct information is available on proper feeding of gilts and sows during pregnancy than any other area of livestock management. Researchers are now turning their attention to such ration in an attempt to better their batting average on pigs per litter.

Present thinking is that some breeders get their pregnant gilts and sows too fat before farrowing. Experiments in Texas and at the Holland Experiment Station of VPI, have been directed at reducing the available energy of these rations while holding the protein content at the normal level.

Preliminary reports show that while in many cases the gilts fed the high energy ration may begin pregnancy with more embryos, more live pigs will be born to gilts fed the low energy ration before farrowing. In one test the difference was as high as 2.42 pigs per litter weaned in favor of the low energy ration. At farrowing, all sows were put on the standard lactating ration.

Dr. J. W. Gossett of the animal husbandry department at VPI, who is working on this problem, says that controlling environment of hogs offers greater possibilities in increasing litter size than studies in heredity, because this factor appears to be only slightly influenced by heredity.

Researchers are continuing work in this area and hope to have definite conclusions in the not too distant future.

PARASITE DISEASE CONTROLS STUDIED IN SWINE PRODUCTION

Studies at Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station are pointing the way to better control of parasites and disease—the greatest drawbacks to profitable swine production in the southern United States.

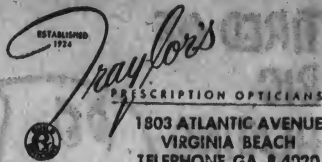

Researchers at the Station say many vermifuges and antibiotics found on the market today can help prevent losses from parasites and disease. On the other hand, the scientists warn, if these products cause producers to relax good management practices, they may do more harm than good.

In trials at the Tidewater Experiment Station at Holland, scientists studied the effect of hygroscopic-B aureomycin, and sodium fluoride treatments on rate of gain, feed efficiency, parasite infestation, liver damage, and certain carcass characteristics when fed to pigs confined on paved lots, dirt lots, and on pasture. They also studied the effect of different management conditions—pasture, dirt lots, and paved lots.

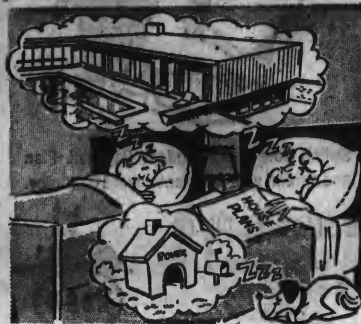

The scientists explain that au-

Lynnhaven Post Office Bids Now Being Accepted

Sealed proposals for the construction of the contract post office branch located in the Lynnhaven Inlet community, will be received at the Virginia Beach office until 12:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 25, 1959.

The proposals and any contract executed must include an agreement by the bidder that non-postal money orders will not be sold on the premises housing the contract station.

Proposals must agree to furnish the following: Sufficient space in the main room of a store, at a location convenient to the public, for the transaction of the postal business of a contract station.

The facilities of the station to consist of postal money order, registry, parcel post (ordinary, insured and C.O.D.) and the sale of necessary postal supplies.

All equipment, including such a sign as may be designated by the postmaster, a safe, heat, light and all clerical service necessary for the conduct of such business.

The Clerk-in-Charge will also be required to furnish to the United States a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $4,000.00 for the faithful performance of the duties assigned.

Zoning Request Being Opposed

A petition for a zoning change which would permit the construction of a three-story apartment building on 5th and 6th streets and Atlantic Avenue in North Virginia Beach was referred to the Dec. 14 meeting by the County Planning Commission at Princess Anne Monday night.

The petition was brought by the Hodgson Construction Co. It asked that the lots be rezoned from residential duplex to multiple family residential.

A spokesman for the construction firm argued that fewer people would live in the area if the change were granted and the apartments constructed than would live there if the site were developed under its present zoning status.

He said the firm plans to build 48 duplex units on the 50 lots, plus a swimming pool, tennis court and off-street parking area.

A petition signed by an estimated 200 residents of North Virginia Beach opposing the zoning change was filed with the commission.

The action automatically puts the petition into committee. Committee members will inspect the site and bring their findings back to the commission.

The planning body would normally make a recommendation to the Board of Supervisors at the Dec. 21 meeting. However, the board in the past has held only one meeting in December and this meeting is not usually held so close to Christmas.

Miss Kathleen Watson, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson, Jr., of Virginia Beach, is shown taking a jump with one of her favorite mounts, Miss Watson won two blue ribbons in the National Horse Show held in Madison Square Garden in New York City last week.

The local equestrian combination scored over 53 entries in the National Horse Show that attracted entries from throughout the United States and the World.

Young Virginia Beach Equestrian Scores Over 53 Entries in National Horse Show in New York

Fifteen-year-old Kathleen Watson of Bay Colony, Virginia Beach, and her pony, "Sassy Dancer," captured two blue ribbons in Pony Hunter events at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden last weekend.

Mrs. W. W. McNeill of Virginia Beach is the instructor for this beautifully co-ordinated equestrian combination.

"It's quite a thrill to have a pupil and her mount going smoothly enough to compete in this show of shows, let alone win in such top competition," said Mrs. McNeill.

Horse people throughout Virginia are extremely proud of Kathleen and Snow Dancer for their outstanding accomplishments. This exceptional pair will receive the Virginia Horse Show Association's high score award for large ponies at a dinner to be held on Dec. 6 at Charlottesville. This award is given to the pony that accumulates the most points throughout the show season.

Kathleen is a junior at the Country Day School for Girls and Snow Dancer resides at Marilyn Farms, Bay Side.

Jaycee Work Conference at Cavalier This Weekend

The Virginia Junior Chamber of Commerce convenes this weekend at the Cavalier Hotel in Virginia Beach for its second quarterly Work Conference. A number of forums and planning sessions are scheduled for the convention hosted by the Virginia Beach Chapter, currently the most outstanding chapter in the State.

Co-chairman Rhea Adams, the immediate past president, and Bill Robertson, immediate past vice president, said they expect over 1,000 Jaycees from all over the State to attend. Adams added that one of the highlights would be the appearance of Anne Lee Williams, Miss Virginia, 1959.

Awards to local chapters will be given for projects of the past quarter at the Awards luncheon Saturday afternoon.

For entertainment, Miss Virginia will perform along with Jayceettes at the Ladies Coffee Hour in special talent skits by the pool Saturday afternoon. The conference will be highlighted by the big banquet and dance Saturday night in the Cavalier Room of the hotel.

R. Earl Campbell of Lynchburg, the State president, will preside over the conference, and will have special reports on a number of projects including the Industrial Development Committee, Community Health and Education; the National Convention to be held in St. Louis in June, and religious and Christmas activities.

Officers of the host chapter will also be in attendance. They are C. Linwood Clements, president; Jack Brock and Monroe Farmer, vice presidents; Gene Joyner, treasurer; Dave Jackson, secretary; C. B. Owens, State Director, and Tom Broyles, George Darlen, Bob Ghees, Ayler, Holland and Jim Stanley, directors.

Experts to Present Bowling Exhibition Sunday at Thunderbird

Another exhibition of expert ten-pin bowling is scheduled for Sunday, at 2 p.m., at the new Thunderbird Bowl when the "Thunderbirds" meet the Sports Bowl team from Newport News in the Inter-city Traveling League. The best bowlers in the Newport News area will be in action and the Thunderbirds are expecting some rough competition.

A special feature of the Sunday match will be the appearance of one of the nation's top husband-and-wife bowling teams, Joe and June Kristof, who are here for the grand opening and will be exhibiting matches throughout the show season.

The Thunderbirds got off to a great start last Sunday by overshadowing Zale's Jewelers by the slight margin of five pins, however, the visitors came back and took a 4-2 second game by a scant 15-pin margin, then went on to take the match with less than 26 pins separating the outcomes of the two teams. Tom Barger of the Thunderbirds rolled the high series of 578, with Zale's Hal Heffer coming in close behind with a 577.

A near-capacity crowd was on hand to witness some of the finest bowling to be seen in this area. Next Sunday's match should provide an encore, to which the public is cordially invited. Also on hand will be the Thunderbirds No. 2 team in another Inter-city Traveling League match. With four of the area's top teams in action, and two of the best bowling talent in the area, the grand opening of the new Thunderbird Bowl Saturday evening will be followed by a climactic sequel.

Kitchen Tour November 24 Is Creating Interest Among Ladies

Plan to accompany the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County on an interesting tour of eight self electric kitchens on Nov. 24 from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tickets are only $2. Children under 12 are admitted free. Refreshments will be served in House No. 8.

The fall and Thanksgiving theme will be carried out in suitable decorations for the kitchens. Outstanding garden club members who are creating the works of art are Mrs. D. W. Gregory and Mrs. George Webb, Linkhorn Park Garden Club; Mrs. E. F. Blake, Bay Colony Garden Club; Mrs. F. R. Motley, past president of the Bay Colony Garden Club; Mrs. G. B. Potter, Cardinal Garden Club; Mrs. C. M. Rau, Cavalier Garden Club; Mrs. R. P. Maul, president of the Cavalier Garden Club and founder of the Woodhurst Garden Club; and Mrs. C. J. Junior Assembly To Hold First Dance of Season

The Military Junior Assembly of Virginia Beach will hold its first dance of the season, "a turkey-hop" at Fort Story Officers Club, on November 13th at 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Music will be furnished by the "Rhythm-Rockers." By invitation only.

First Audubon Lecture Slated Here Saturday

Mr. Bert Harwell, National Audubon Society speaker, will be guest lecturer with the film "The Forgotten Country," Nov. 14, 8 p.m. at Virginia Beach High School. Mr. Harwell speaks with authority and charm illustrating his talks usually with magnificent color motion pictures and vocally with skillful bird-song interpretations which add an unusual touch to his programs.

The motion picture "The Forgotten Country" is filmed in the area between the Rockies and the Pacific Coast including the Sierra Nevada, the canyons of Bryce and Zion, and the Grand Canyon of the Little Colorado. In this vastness there are forgotten roads that lead to ghost towns of bygone mining days and rivers that vanish into nothingness.

In this area Mr. Harwell filmed the life story of the sandhill crane for Walt Disney's "Vanishing Prairie," and other films of his have been used in Walt Disney's true life adventure series.

His lectures combine colorful presentation with authentic scientific knowledge, creating a rare experience which makes it entertaining to be instructed. He is a vivid raconteur, whose wit and charm delight his screen tour audiences. Tickets for this are available at Fretley's, also at the door.

GROUP MAY FORM ANGLERS CLUB HERE

An organizational meeting has been called with a view to forming a Virginia Beach Anglers Club, it has been announced. The meeting is scheduled to be held tonight in the Convention Center starting at 8 p.m.

Frank D. Tarrall will preside at tonight's meeting and it is expected that a temporary chairman and a steering committee will be named. It is open to the public.

CONFIRMATION CLASSES AT GALLERIE CHURCH

Adult confirmation classes will meet at Gallerie Episcopal Church on Tuesdays at 8 p.m.

OCEANA CIVIC LEAGUE TO MEET TONIGHT

The Oceana Civic League will meet tonight at the Fire Station at 8 o'clock for the monthly meeting.

Final Plans Made for Annual Joy Fund Appeal Being Sponsored by Beach Jaycees

Final plans are underway this week for the Joy Fund campaign sponsored by the Virginia Beach Jaycees for the benefit of needy families in the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County area.

Mike Katsalas, general chairman for the Jaycee-Joy Fund Committee, announced today that Jaycees, together with the Virginia Beach Fire Department and other local civic clubs and businesses in the city and county will officially begin the campaign this week.

In the past, we've received splendid co-operation from the people of the city and county. I feel confident that this relationship will continue and result in another successful campaign," said Katsalas.

The Fire Department collects old toys and repairs them so that they can be given to needy children at Christmas time. Old clothes and dolls are collected and repaired by the Jayceettes and other women volunteers.

Katsalas requested that toys and clothes be donated as soon as possible so there will be ample time to have them repaired. Anyone wishing to donate old toys or clothes should call the fire department.

Donations should be mailed to Joy Fund, Box 274, Virginia Beach. Sub-committee chairmen were appointed earlier this week. They are as follows: Tom Broyles, co-ordinator; Joe Vestal, secretary; Dave Carter, treasurer; Dale Bessley, screening and investigations; Dick Maud, publicity; Frank Winslow, correspondence; Roland Robinson, food; June Farmer, dolls; Bill Moxley, toys; John Wise, clothes; Don Emby, canvass; Jack Omond, toy bank; and John Tallafiero, delivery.

The excellent campaign conducted last year benefited families in the area and received state-wide recognition. It was awarded the Lucy B. McEllan plaque by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce selection committee for having the outstanding Jaycee Christmas project of the year.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS . . . The week of November 8-14 has been designated as American Education Week; and

WHEREAS . . . Our democracy functions around the principle that every child's birthright is that of a sound, well-rounded education, and our progress and existence depend on this education,

WHEREAS . . . The teachers and educators of this nation are entrusted with the greatest and most important job in the world . . . that of moulding our future scientists and leaders in all fields,

NOW, THEREFORE . . . I, Frank A. Dusch, Mayor of the City of Virginia Beach, do hereby proclaim November 8-14, 1959, as American Education Week in the City of Virginia Beach, and urge all our citizens to take this opportunity to visit schools and become familiar with their administration, and to pay tribute and extend special recognition to all our teachers and educators.

FRANK A. DUSCH, Mayor

Fred spends about 1,000 hours each year in school. When he graduates from high school he will have sat in classrooms for 12,000 hours.

Plus homework Miss Harkins assigned nine pages of science today. Mr. Brent expects a book report tomorrow. And so it goes every school day—every year.

Don't let Fred's crowded school roster worry you. He is getting an education—the fine education every American child is entitled to. Let Fred's empty spiritual roster worry you. He is spending ZERO hours in Church School. He is getting NO religious education. And his tragedy is shared by MILLIONS OF AMERICAN YOUTH.

A new kind of homework is needed. By friendly encouragement, by sincere interest, by the example of our own families in faithful church life—we must inspire the Freds and their parents to take advantage of the spiritual opportunities that America's churches offer.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Even in 1909, when VEPCO was born, you could hear Anna Held or see the Grand Canyon right in your own parlor. But somehow the tin-throated phonograph and the stereoscope cards lacked the wonder electricity has brought to home entertainment.

Today, you just can't let anything make you miss your favorite TV shows. Least of all a tree branch falling on the power line! And that's one reason why VEPCO pays tree expert companies $1,000,000 a year to head off such power interruptions.

From long experience, these experts can spot branches that pose a threat to your electric supply. And they're artists at trimming away such hazards, yet guarding tree beauty.

When these experts visit your neighborhood, it pays to give them your cooperation. If they ask permission to trim a tree of yours, please let them. The careful job they do costs you nothing. And it may save you and all your neighbors from a blackout some stormy night.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Albin Mailhes, Editor Virginia Beach Sun-News Virginia Beach, Virginia Dear Mr. Mailhes:

I am in receipt of the 1958-59 "Annual Report of our City" and want to say that never have I had the privilege of reading one so thorough and so well prepared.

It has been my privilege to have been a part of this report since 1920 and have witnessed its growth through the years. This sort of progress just does not happen, and is only accomplished through vision and great confidence in the future.

At times it is made especially difficult by the negative attitudes of many taxpayers, and those city planners who have been responsible for this amazing progress.

Very sincerely yours, HENRY I. JAFFE

To the young people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County who collected for UNICEF.

The citizens of this area can be very proud of the nearly 500 children and young adults who were among the more than two million American youngsters who "Trick or Treat" for UNICEF on Halloween.

One dollar can help UNICEF provide 500 large glasses of milk, enough DDT to protect eight people from malaria for a year or the sulfone tablets to treat a child with leprosy for three years.

Yes—the "trick" to treat all the world's children is a worthwhile program—worthy of the splendid support given by all. Congratulations!

Many thanks, Mrs. Philip W. Hansen, UNICEF Organization Chairman.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh "Sizing-up" the Situation When a lady in our town's looking for a new dress... her first target is Sandy Philip's Shop. The other day I finally asked Sandy how come he's been so successful. "Well," Sandy said, "I've always treated my customers with courtesy, and my secret ingredient—which isn't really a secret—is flattery. Whenever a new shipment of dresses comes in, I cut off the size markers in every dress—and make them a size smaller. Size 16 becomes size 14 and so on. Course, all the ladies know I change the number—but they like it. Helps them pretend their figures are a little better than they really are." From where I sit, we all like to think the best of ourselves—often "shrink" the truth to do it. Reminds me of people who claim they're not prejudiced their cars around and argue against a neighbor's choice of a glass of beer. Even a little intolerance is too much in a person or in a town—and that's exactly the size of it. Joe Marsh

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fancies... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Crisp, cold weather makes dinner parties pleasant for both hosts and guests.

Late fall and winter is the time when cooking is fun and eating even more so — and guests, whether they've been to a football game, skating or are coming straight from home, are sure to ask for seconds.

The party promises to be a greater success if the hostess isn't worn out from her kitchen duties. So plan a meal that is easy to prepare but different, and can be served with simplicity and elegance.

Since parties before, during and after the holidays are routine, the National Canned Pea Council suggests cooking a dish that's sure to bring cheers — Chicken Fricassee with Peas Noodle Rings.

Chicken Fricassee is easy to prepare and so are the attractive noodle nests, filled with the most popular of all vegetables — peas. Make this delicious combination for a meal that's economical, yet perfect company fare. Complete the dinner with a green salad, hot rolls, dessert and coffee.

Later, when you want a meal starring leftovers, try a vegetable chicken casserole.

Chicken Fricassee with Peas Noodle Rings
(Makes 6 servings)

- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 1 1/2 pound frying chicken, cut in serving pieces
- 1 cup salad oil
- 1 medium-sized onion, sliced
- 1 pound mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup stock or bouillon

- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 5 ounces fine egg noodles (about 4 cups)

Combine flour, 1/2 teaspoons salt, pepper and oregano; mix well. Coat chicken with flour mixture. Heat oil and add chicken. Cook over medium heat until chicken is browned on all sides. Remove chicken and reserve drippings. Add onion and mushrooms to drippings and cook over medium heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add stock or bouillon, and mix well. Add chicken. Cover and cook over medium heat 40 minutes stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles, so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Arrange noodles in 6-greased individual ring molds. Let stand 5 minutes. Unmold. Meanwhile, heat peas to serving temperature. Drain. Fill noodle rings with peas and serve with Chicken Fricassee.

Vegetable-Chicken Casserole
(Makes 4-6 servings)

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 1/2 pound can peas, drained
- 1 cup sliced cooked carrots
- 1 1/2 ounces can cut corn
- 1 cup diced cooked chicken
- 1 1/2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Melt 1/2 cup butter or margarine. Add flour; blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Combine cheese mixture, peas, carrots, corn and chicken; mix well. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Top with potatoes. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25-30 minutes.

Recently "Sweetest Day" was celebrated. It was created to surprise and show the ones you love your feeling for them. A day just created to tell them that you're pretty fond of them. Isn't it a splendid idea? The world would surely be a better place if just such little acts of thoughtfulness were performed more often.

Here's an idea for a Sweetest Day spice cake:

- 1 1-pound 3-ounce package honey spice cake mix
- 1/2 cup apricot jam
- 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 10 cherries)
- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened

3 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Prepare honey spice cake mix as directed on package for mixing. Bake as directed on package for 2 9-inch layer pans. Combine apricot jam and cherries; mix well. Spread cherry mixture on one layer. Top with second layer. Beat sugar until smooth. Gradually add butter, beating constantly, until smooth. Frost sides and top of cake with cream cheese frosting.

If spice cake is not your choice here's one for

Sweetest Day White Cake
(Makes 1 9-inch layered cake)

- 1 1-pound 4-ounce package white cake mix
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2 tablespoons cocoa
- 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries)
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Prepare cake mix following package directions for mixing. Bake cake following package directions for 2 9-inch layers. Cream butter or margarine and 2 cups confectioners' sugar. Add remaining confectioners' sugar and milk alternately to butter or margarine mixture. Beat until smooth. Add vanilla, blend. Remove 1 cup frosting. Add cocoa to 1 cup frosting; blend until smooth. Remove 1/2 cup cocoa frosting and reserve for garnishing. Add chopped cherries and walnuts to remaining 1/2 cup cocoa frosting; mix. Spread cocoa cherry frosting on 1 cake layer. Top with remaining cake layer. Spread top and sides of cake with white frosting. Garnish cake with reserved 1/2 cup cocoa frosting and cherries.

Bye now—think I'll go and make a "Sweetest Day" cake and surprise someone I know who'd just love it.

News for VETERANS

Overpayments of GI benefits to veterans are subject to recovery by the Government, Lionel F. Doss, Officer-in-Charge, Veterans Administration office, Norfolk, said. But veterans can prevent overpayments by promptly reporting changes in their income or dependency status, Mr. Doss pointed out.

Overpayments made because the veterans furnished incomplete or inaccurate information," he said, "obligates VA to recover the money. This often comes as a hardship to the veteran and his family." Ex-GI's attending school or in job or farm training under the GI Bill should make sure the monthly certificate for VA is accurately and completely filled out before they sign it. Special attention should be given to the attendance report.

Overpayments to veterans receiving service-connected disability compensation are generally made because the veterans fail to report changes in marital status or number of dependents. Prompt reports of divorce, remarriage, or deaths, enable VA to keep its records current and prevent overpayments, Mr. Doss said.

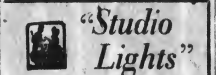

Permanently and totally disabled veterans receiving nonservice-connected pensions for service in World War I, World War II, or the Korean conflict may be overpaid if they fail to keep VA informed about their other income.

Livestock Accounts For Over Half Total Farm Income.

Cash income from the sale of livestock and livestock products accounted for over half of the state's total cash farm income in 1958. The announcement was made by Thomas L. Stuart, Chief of the Virginia Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, of the Virginia Department of Agriculture.

Fifty-seven per cent of the state's total cash farm income in 1958 came from the sale of livestock and livestock products—three and a-half per cent higher than in 1957.

Cash receipts from crops increased 41 per cent over 1957, as income from tobacco, peanuts, soybeans, wheat, hay and orchard grass seed, kale, peaches and strawberries offset declines in receipts for corn, cotton, barley, cabbage, oats and apples. Compared with the five year average, however, cash receipts from crops were 5 per cent lower.

According to Stuart, total cash receipts from farming in Virginia in 1958 were $457,708,000 divided as follows: livestock and livestock products $251,676,000; crops, $191,015,000; government payments, $9,017,000.

Cash receipts from farming in 1958 totaled $470,010,000 divided as follows: livestock and livestock products $280,773,000; crops, $189,381,000; government payments, $9,846,000.

After adjustments for production expenses, value of home consumption, rental value of farm dwellings, and changes in farm inventories, Virginia farmers earned a total net income from farming in 1958 of $234,000,000. This represents an average per farm of $1,842.00 compared with $1,242.00 in 1957.

Estimated cash receipts from farm marketing, commonly termed "cash farm income," represents the gross amount received by farmers for farm products sold during the calendar year. These figures do not represent net income, nor can they be used as a proper measure of absolute or relative net earnings. They do not reflect differences in costs of production between commodities or years.

Mr. Stuart further added these income estimates for crops should not be confused with crop-year value figures that appear in other summaries published by the Crop Reporting Service, and which represent farm values of crops harvested, regardless of the year in which sold, or whether sold, fed to livestock or otherwise used.

Evangelistic Services Slated at Scott Memorial

Evangelistic Services will be held in the Scott Memorial Methodist Church, Oceana, beginning on Sunday, November 15 and continuing through Friday, Nov. 20. Services will be held daily at 8:00 p.m., beginning with Gospel song service each night.

Dr. Archie E. Acey, an outstanding evangelistic leader of the Virginia Conference will be the guest minister. Dr. Acey has served several of the outstanding Methodist Churches of the Virginia Conference, including Boulevard, Richmond, Main Street, Danville, and the Ghent Church in Norfolk, in which he is now serving his second year as pastor.

For six years, he was District Superintendent of the Danville District, coming from that assignment to the Ghent Church in Norfolk. During the past summer he was honored by being chosen for a preaching tour of seven weeks continuous preaching in Malaya and the Philippines. This was under the joint sponsorship of the General Board of Missions and the General Board of Christian Education.

A native of Mathews County, Dr. Acey received his training for the ministry in Randolph-Macon College and Duke School of Religion. He has been one of the most interesting and effective preachers in the field of Evangelism in the Virginia Conference.

A cordial invitation is extended to all of the people in the Tidewater area to hear the messages of this outstanding minister.

Mrs. J. S. Meekins First President of Church Society

Mrs. John S. Meekins, Lynnhaven Colony, was elected the first president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Francis Asbury Methodist Church, when it organized on November 3. Sixteen women were present for the organizational meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Leon Carter, Great Neck Manor.

The work of the society was discussed and the duties of each officer explained. Mrs. E. J. Taylor presented the program and Mrs. W. B. French conducted the devotional service.

Other officers elected were as follows: Mrs. Leon Carter, vice president; Mrs. James Carter, secretary; and Mrs. Raymond R. Davis, treasurer.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Myers, Great Neck Estates, on December 1.

Educators Give Practical Tips On Parents' Aid

As more than 20 million parents, relatives and other citizens stream through their schools during American Education Week, many will feel the urge to offer their services to the hard-working school staff throughout the year. Educators welcome and encourage their help, and have never been in greater need of it, although parental assistance can sometimes be a mixed blessing. So said the Department of Elementary School Principals of the National Education Association in a study titled, "Parents and the Schools."

Parents can be tremendously valuable aids in some areas of school activities, agreed the educators. In others, where technical knowledge of educational principles and policies is involved, the school staff should take the lead. How can parents make themselves most useful? Myra C. Woodruff, chief of the Bureau of Child Development of the New York State Department of Education, offers the following partial list of suggestions:

1. Assisting teachers on field trips.
2. Describing the parent's vocation or profession in the classroom.
3. Demonstrating a skill in the classroom.
4. Assisting at the school lunch hour.
5. Helping in the school library.
6. Providing clerical help in the principal's office.

Elementary school principals from all parts of the country described the following helpful things parents in their areas have done:

They served as advisors to a wide variety of after-school hobby clubs.

They worked with teachers to create a school library.

Mothers helped in the school's first-aid room.

Parents served on committees studying better ways of reporting pupil progress.

Parents helped arrange exhibits, made costumes and painted scenery for school plays and pageants. Parents built playground equipment, book shelves, classroom storage units.

Is parent participation in school activities a healthy thing for the child and his education? It is the only way we can achieve a good education for our children, said one of the book's contributors, who recommended that parents and school personnel "sit down in groups, each trusting the other's personal integrity and utilizing each other's strengths, skills and knowledge."

Foundry Methodist Chapel Opened

The Foundry Methodist Church of Lynnhaven will hold their first services in their newly renovated chapel Sunday, Nov. 15 at 11 a.m. The church was started Sunday, Sept. 13, 1958 with 20 people present at church and 14 in Church School. Since that time it has more than doubled, till now over 40 are attending the church and the church school. The people that have been attending the services have been highly enthusiastic about the possibilities of the future development of the Foundry Methodist Church. Many people have entered into the work of the church with a fine spirit of cooperation. Through their excellent efforts and with marvelous help from the First Methodist Church of Norfolk, the building we are using has been converted into a lovely chapel. This attractive chapel shows a great deal of progress and the first step in a long range development program.

The pastor, Douglas Ebert, extends a warm invitation to all in the Lynnhaven area to join us for worship at 11 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 15. The pastor and his wife, Mary Catherine, are natives of West Chester, Va. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Virginia and his B.D. degree from Emory University at Atlanta, Ga. The Eberts have one child, Stephen, who is two years of age. If you are not attending church in the Lynnhaven area, we urge you to serve God through the Foundry Methodist Church. The church is located on the Virginia Beach Blvd. opposite the entrance of the Chesapeake Colony.

BAYSIDE NEWS

BAYSIDE LIONS CLUB MEETING

The Bayside Lions Club met Wednesday night, November 4, at 7:00 p.m. at Shore Drive Inn. The president, Eugene F. Caldwell, presided.

Guest speaker for the evening was Joe Dent, Supervisor and coordinator for the Distributive Education Service for Princess Anne County. He said "this organization has a two ply program in the county. Retail training program and adult training program. The Retail Program for students in Princess Anne High School; the adult program for those engaged in retail stores or preparing for such work."

"The Distributive Education Program is adapted to the needs of the community through a careful study of business trends." Mr. Dent told the club that a forty hour course is being planned for hotel and motel managers. Various courses are available from time to time in a variety of fields. He said that his organization will soon conduct a "consumers survey" in the county to determine the courses which will be taught in the future months. Dent presented Dick Brinkley, president of the Distributive Education Club at Princess Anne High School, who talked briefly about the program in the High School. There are 75 students participating in the Distributive Education classes. Most of them have part time jobs where they can put into practice the things that they learn. This program helps prepare the students for careers in retail businesses.

Second Vice president, Gordon Hughes, assigned work to club members in preparation for the club's annual "Turkey Shoot" to be held November 21 and 22 at the Waltonian Gun Club.

Hank Ostrander, third vice president, and chairman of the BaySide Joy Fund announced that another "pickup" would be made for toys on Saturday, November 7th.

Several members of the club planned to attend the Fall Conference at the Monticello Hotel on Saturday, November 7.

BAYSIDE JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

The Bayside Junior Woman's Club held their regular meeting Tuesday night, November 3, at 8:00 p.m. at the Bayside Christian Church.

The club voted to buy Christmas gifts for Ward 22 of the Eastern State Hospital. The members will deliver the gifts to the hospital. Arrangements were completed for a tea for new members which will be held November 16 at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. R. L. Ingram, 2817 Chandler Lane, Thoroughgood.

The following new members were welcomed Mrs. W. L. Paige and Mrs. T. R. Burnett. Visitors present were Mrs. B. A. Reed, Mrs. L. A. Tompkins, and Mrs. M. M. Cooke.

Mrs. H. O. Freeman, president of the Cape Henry Woman's Club was guest speaker. She demonstrated "dried arrangements."

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. B. J. Hupman, Mrs. A. L. Hupman, Mrs. E. C. Agoline and Mrs. J. L. Blow.

The club will hold their annual Christmas party, December 1 at Frankie's Restaurant, Chesapeake Beach.

DIAMOND SPRINGS GARDEN CLUB MEETS

The Diamond Springs Garden Club met Thursday night, November 5, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Pembleton, 6857 Norline Drive.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Mrs. Virginia Pierce, who showed film strips, in color, and showing step by step, the methods of flower arranging. She is the first one in Norfolk to give such a demonstration.

The members will hold a "work shop" at the home of Mrs. David Fox to make Christmas arrangements to be sold in the Diamond Springs area.

Each member of the club is supposed to contribute $3.00 a year for the club welfare projects. Mrs. Ronald Rhodes, chairman of this project, turned in $19.27 which she cleared on a recently held "rummage sale."

Responsibilities for the evening were: "Fall Fantasy" a fall arrangement using fall flowers and foliage, or branches or driftwood. Also "Pilgrim's Pride" a Thanksgiving Buffet composition, flowers, and fruit or vegetables.

Judges from Tarrilton Garden Club, Mrs. R. E. Mercer and Mrs. C. E. Crain, Jr. awarded ribbons to: Mrs. Ronald Rhodes, Mrs. William Tacke, Mrs. James Ludwig, Mrs. Ralph Pembleton, Mrs. Gene Barrow, Mrs. William Reese, Mrs. David Fox, Mrs. Roger Cobb and Mrs. Herbert Huntley.

NOTES FROM YOUR COUNTY AGENT

By E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

LISTEN TO YOUR COUNTY AGENT
6:20 THURSDAYS, 12:10 SATURDAY, STATION WTAR

An elevator operator had a rather hectic day and her patience was strained.
"What would happen if the cables broke—would we go up or down?" A lady called out.
"Madam," the operator sighed, "that would depend entirely on what kind of life you've led."

WHEAT DEMONSTRATION GETS UNDER WAY

Last week we spent a couple of days with Jennings Furlough of Blackwater setting up a Wheat Fertilization Demonstration. This demonstration will be for the benefit of all farmers in Princess Anne County who are producing small grain.

The demonstration will consist of five plots of 1.8 acres each. Plot No. 1 received, prior to seeding, 300 pounds of 3-18-18 per acre. In the spring it will be top-dressed with 40 pounds of pure nitrogen. Plot No. 2 received 500 pounds of 5-10-10 prior to seeding. In addition, at top-dressing time it will receive 25 pounds of pure nitrogen, per acre. Plot No. 3 received 500 pounds of 10-10-10 just prior to the seeding. This will get no nitrogen in the spring. Plot No. 4 did not receive any fall fertilization. However, at the same time the other plots are fertilized in the spring this plot will receive 500 pounds of 10-10-10 per acre. Plot No. 5 also did not receive any fertilization this fall at seeding time, but will receive 50 pounds of pure nitrogen per acre at top-dressing time.

You will notice that in the first four plots the amount of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash has been kept rather constant at about 500 pounds of each plant food per acre. However, you will notice that these come in different combinations at different times. Plot No. 5 will only receive 50 pounds of pure nitrogen with no phosphate and potash.

Jennings has been most cooperative with the Extension Service in carrying on this demonstration for us and for the benefit of all Princess Anne County farmers. Jennings will harvest each of these plots separately and have them weighed at a commercial elevator. Immediately after harvesting the wheat, he will plow the ground and seed soybeans without any fertilization in the same plots. The yield of the soybeans from each plot will be checked. At that point we are going to determine which is the best way to fertilize the wheat if it is not to be followed by soybeans and then also we will be able to determine which is the best way to fertilize the wheat and soybeans if soybeans are to follow the wheat crop. We think that a great deal of information is going to be derived from this demonstration.

If the weather is suitable we are going to have a tour to this demonstration just prior to or at the time of top-dressing in the spring. We will also have another tour to this demonstration prior to harvest time. So we think that farmers who are interested will see a great deal and learn a great deal about the fertilization of small grain. After harvest we will pass out all the information to the farmers for their use.

We cannot say thank you enough to the Royster Guano Company for providing complete fertilizer for this demonstration. We also want to thank Arcadian Nitrogen for supplying the nitrogen on these demonstration plots next spring. Certainly, this demonstration could not be carried on without the tremendous cooperation that has been given us by Jennings Furlough, Royster Guano Company and Arcadian Nitrogen. Thanks to all of you.

FARM BUREAU HAS SUCCESSFUL MEET

Parke C. Brinkley, Commissioner of Agriculture for the fair land of Virginia spoke to 240 members of the Princess Anne County Farm Bureau at their annual membership meeting on November 4.

Commissioner Brinkley backed up the Princess Anne County Farm Bureau's resolutions adopted at their annual meeting, by stating that he has argued for a long time for a state wide dairy inspection law. He said that in too many cases dairy farms were being inspected by as many as three to four different inspectors and that the inspection can very satisfactorily be done by one person and that this person should be supervised by the State Department of Agriculture.

Robert H. DeFord Jr. was elected Director at large for the county. New Directors for districts elected were Marvin Dawley, Seaboard; Ralph Pross, Blackwater; Floyd Waterfield, Pungo; John Potter, Lynnhaven; and Stanley E. Oliver, Kempsville.

The group approved resolutions favoring state-wide dairy inspection, a retail sales tax, better telephone service to Princess Anne County public offices and appropriation of 1c a gallon of farm used gasoline tax refund for agricultural research. A research fund currently depends on voluntary contributions from refunds.

MODERN MILKING SYSTEMS EFFICIENT

About two weeks ago I got the old drawing board out again and sat down to draw out a farmstead plan for Valentine Miller. This farmstead plan brought to my mind many things that have happened in the dairy business over the past years.

In Grandpa's day it took a good man to milk and care for a dairy herd without plenty of help from Grandma and all of the kids. One good hired hand could milk about 10 cows an hour. Feeding, cleaning, and lugging milk cans around meant really hard work for the dairy farmer.

Their modern grandchildren do things differently today. The grandson has replaced muscles with machines. It has been estimated by dairy specialists at VPI that with the latest in milking, feeding, and management facilities, one man can now care for about 40 cows an hour. In this hour he feeds, milks, and cleans up. Val Miller is planning this type of operation. But let's talk about some of these modern conveniences that have come about on the dairy farm.

The use of milking parlors, pipe line milking, bulk tanks, mechanical silo unloading, mechanical feeding, loose housing and bulk feed handling together have made it possible to speed up this milking operation. The modern dairyman of today can care for more cows and can spread his total investment in an effort to lower the operation cost per cow.

What do the various modern systems cost? To answer this question, we did a little bit of research on the subject to come up with some comparative per cow costs for four different systems that I thought you would be interested in.

The first, a stanchion barn was a two-story concrete block structure with around the barn milk pipe lines, bulk tank, pipe line washing system, barn cleaner, ventilating system and three milking units. We found that one man can milk 30 cows per hour in this type of operation. The building and equipment cost, based on 30 cows averaged around $850 per cow.

A second system, coupled loose housing with a double two stall milking parlor and four milking units. Each stall had two side openings. This system could handle about 28 cows per hour with equipment costing $225 per cow.

A double three-in-line walk through milking parlor was considered one of the most advantageous as far as cost and efficiency were considered. Since cows could be milked in groups of three, little time was lost between cows. Based on 32 cows milked per hour, the building and equipment cost averaged $207 per cow.

The new "Herring Bone" milking parlor was tops in use of labor. Cows are handled in groups and placed at an angle in the parlor. The compactness of this system cuts down on the area needed per cow. Hence, buildings and equipment cost was estimated at $184. Using a double four stall herring bone parlor, a skilled operator can milk from 35 to 40 cows per hour.

A dairyman can make a great many changes on his farm that will tend to increase efficiency of production. However, there are some other things in addition to new and fancy housing and equipment. Modern dairymen cannot disregard dairy herd improvement association work nor can be disregard artificial breeding, and he would be foolhardy if he forgot to put into operation those good agronomy practices in producing the feed for his cows. All of these things together have a tendency to make dairy farming more efficient today than it has ever been before. I wonder how your grandson will be milking cows?

TOO LATE FOR OATS

One of the most asked questions last week was: "Is it too late to seed oats?" The answer is "Yes." There is too much chance to take now by the seeding of oats. Much better would be to seed some of the winter varieties such as full grain, and full wood and victor grain during the latter part of January and early February. If you cannot seed your oats that early, then you should go to a spring oat variety that will mature rapidly after seeding in the spring.

TOO LATE FOR CRIMSON CLOVER

Another question that has been asked quite often is: "Can I seed Crimson Clover for a cover crop

Cancer Society Executive Group Holds Meeting

The executive committee of the Princess Anne Unit, American Cancer Society held its first meeting this past week at which time Mr. James Teeler, field representative of the Virginia Division, was present to meet with the members of this committee.

Mrs. Leo Billey, Local Chairman of the Cancer Prevention Survey, and co-chairmen, Mrs. George Shipp and Mrs. J. D. Gregory, made a report of the progress being made by the researchers in this area. It was reported that all questionnaires had been distributed but that they were finding some difficulty in picking up completed forms. We urge anyone participating in this program to please co-operate and complete forms and return them to their researcher.

Plans have been made for a coffee to be held at the convention center on Thursday, November 19th at 10:30 a.m. This will be an informal get together for members of the local cancer society and special certificates of appreciation will be presented to the local researchers in the cancer prevention survey. An outstanding program has been planned for the morning.

Mrs. Paul Diggins, president, announced at this meeting the appointment of several sub-committee chairmen in the Public Education Program. The Reverend Mr. John Keister of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd will interpret the public education program and the facilities of the service program for the local clergymen. Mrs. E. W. Turnbull will promote the education program in organized women's clubs throughout the county. Mrs. V. Alfred Etheridge will contact the PTA groups in an effort to present one program at each school during the year. Mrs. Joseph La Gelle, overall public education chairman, said that this year's aim will be to contact all organizations in an effort to familiarize them with the Princess Anne Unit, American Cancer Society and its public education program.

The answer to that is "No," also. Much better would be to seed rye as a cover crop. This will still make satisfactory growth before you have to plow it in the spring. Crimson clover seeded at this late date, will have a very poor germination and if you do get a good stand it will be pretty difficult to get a good growth before you have to turn it under in the spring. So, my suggestion would be to seed rye instead, and you can do very well with rye at this late seeding date.

Open House at Linkhorn Park School

Mrs. L. C. Brennan, (second from right), is shown reviewing a report with Linkhorn Park School Principal Gordon Baskin during the school's recent open house celebration. Mrs. Brennan is president of the P.T.A. At the left is Mrs. Paul Dolgins, who served as co-chairman of American Education Week. The future student is Miss Elizabeth Anne Johnson. (Simmons Photo).

American Education Week Success At Linkhorn Park School

The American Education Week Committee of Linkhorn Park Elementary School P.T.A. reports a most successful week of activities.

Open House held on Tuesday, November 16th brought over three hundred parents and friends to the school and more than six hundred classroom visits. Guests saw regular classroom activities and had an opportunity to see the library, health room and lunch room in action.

Mr. Gordon Baskin, principal, and Mrs. L. C. Brennan, president of P.T.A., met informally with all visitors in the auditorium at which time refreshments were served by the hospitality committee. Mr. Baskin stated, "It was indeed a pleasure to have the opportunity to meet and talk with so many of the patrons of our school. Their interest and enthusiasm was most gratifying to us all."

"Teachers' Day got off to a great start when Mrs. Brennan presented a flower from the P.T.A. to each of the teachers. Mr. Earl Duval, president of the Civitan Club joined in the Day's festivities by presenting one of Civitan's famous fruit cakes to each teacher.

Mrs. Brennan told each class of American Education Week and the day's theme "Be kind to our teachers." The perfect added touch was supplied by W.O.P. when they placed up the lunch check for all the faculty and presented each one with a little "thank you" note.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Paul Dolgins and Mrs. Leo Heavly extended their thanks to all for making this first observance of American Education Week at Linkhorn Park a great success.

Council Again Contracts with Army on water

The City of Virginia Beach has signed a three-year contract with the U.S. Army for the continued use of the Ft. Story water line, City Manager Russell Hatchett told the city council at its regular monthly meeting Monday.

The agreement was signed on the condition that the city replace a four-inch water meter with a six-inch meter.

The city council also passed on second reading a bill permitting the city to pay $7,500 as its part of the debts owed by "The Confederacy."

Mayor Frank Dusch said that the proposed retirement plan for city employees will cost $10,500 annually.

Sheriff Marr Offers Solution To County's Juvenile Problem

Princess Anne County Sheriff John E. Marr feels he has a plan that might tend to curb the juvenile problem in his county and he suggested it to the Board of Supervisors Monday.

Sheriff Marr told members of the Board that it would be good to let juveniles spend some time in his jail when they deserve it.

"If the whole family—Mama, Papa and the kid—spend the night hoo-hooing because Junior is in jail overnight, you've made a step toward breaking up the juvenile problem in this county," he said.

Sheriff Marr was asking the board for a $50,000 appropriation to enlarge his jail to handle the juvenile problem.

He wants to turn the first floor of the present structure into an area used solely for juvenile detention.

"The juvenile problem is getting worse all the time," he said. "Between the first of the year and now, I have had 118 juveniles under 18 years of age mixed in with hardened criminals."

Said Sheriff Pallock, Kempsville District supervisor: "I am not in favor of those kids being mixed in there with hardened criminals."

According to a 1958 state law, a judge has the discretion to treat juveniles over 14 as adults and to send them to jail. But they must be segregated from adult convicts.

Capt. Luker Is New Oceana CO

NAS Oceana — Capt. George R. Luker, USN, has reported to the Oceana Naval Air Station and assumed duties as Commanding Officer. He relieved Capt. E. R. Fickenscher, USN, on Tuesday, Nov. 17.

Capt. Fickenscher has been Acting Commanding Officer of the Air Station since the first of November, when he relieved Rear Adm. E. G. Konrad, USN (ret.), upon his retirement from active Naval service.

Capt. Luker reported to Oceana from Jacksonville, Fla., where he has been serving as Chief of Staff and Aide to Commander Fleet Air, Jacksonville.

Graduating from the U.S. Naval Academy, Class of 1952, Capt. Luker reported to the USS Colorado, where he served until 1958. At that time he reported to Pensacola, Fla., and underwent flight training. In February, 1957 he received his Navy "Wings."

Capt. Luker is married to the former Miss Margaret Stewart of San Francisco, Calif. They have two children, Ann and Ned.

3 YOUNG MEN FINED FOR BEACH FRAY

Three young men were fined $25 each Monday in Police Court on charges growing out of a disturbance late Friday at Virginia Beach High School.

Paul Bert Dunlo, 19, of Portlock Branch, South Norfolk; Frank Thompson, 18, of the 1200 block of 37th street, Norfolk; and William Fred Brady, 19, of the 700 block of 34th street, Norfolk, received suspended 60-day jail sentences in addition to the fines.

Dunlo, who reportedly assaulted a 16-year-old youth on the school grounds, was charged with assault and his two companions with disorderly conduct.

Visual Testing Machines Given To P.A. Schools

The Bayside Lions Club, through its Sight Conservation Committee, of which George R. Hill is chairman, presented two Visual Screening Machines to the schools in the Bayside area for use in the testing of the vision of the students. These machines will be used in the following schools: Shelton Park, Bayside, Thornhoughton, Aragona Village and John B. Dey Elementary Schools and Princess Anne High School.

These machines are made by the American Optical Co. and are similar to those which are used by the Norfolk City Schools. They are the latest innovation in visual testing machines, simple in operation and requiring only 2 or 3 minutes per pupil. The old type machine, one of which was presented by the Bayside Club a few years ago, was much harder to operate and required about 10 or 15 minutes per pupil. These machines cost $215.00 each.

Mr. F. W. Cox, Division Superintendent of Schools for Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach, was present at the club's dinner meeting on Wednesday, November 18 at the Shore Drive Inn and accepted these machines on behalf of the schools.

Each of the machines will bear a bronze tablet with the following inscription: Presented by the Bayside Lions Club—For Better Vision for Children. The club will recommend that the schools adopt the plan that is in effect in the Norfolk schools in which testing begins with pupils in the second grade and is given in the fourth and sixth grades. By following this plan we believe that in cases where children transfer from city to county and vice-versa they will be well checked.

It costs over $1,000 a day to transport these children to the hospital for their services without charge. There are usually about 100 children in the hospital at a time. Last year there were 464 admissions. The children range in age from new born infants through 16 years of age, and they are given free surgical, free hospital care, free physical and occupational therapy, free dental care, careful follow-up at quarterly clinics, repeated surgery as required, and more, all free. This means hope for a full, normal life for many who otherwise would remain life long invalids.

Thanksgiving time is the only time of year that Crippled Children's Hospital makes a general appeal for funds. The hospital is not connected with the Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults and receives no funds from the sale of Christmas cards or Easter seals.

Crippled Children's Hospital literally serves the entire state. For example, last year patients came from 96 counties and 25 cities. Because the hospital needs its money to heal children, no statewide financial appeal to individuals can be attempted, but the trustees are hoping for sufficient contributions from those throughout the state who know of its need and want to help.

Donors can be assured that through their generosity some child will receive another chance for a more normal and happy life and adult independence in the years to come through the free services of Crippled Children's Hospital, Richmond, Virginia.

Interest Kitchen

Mrs. Samuel Mason and Mrs. A. W. Craft, Jr. admire the large collection of copper utensils, modern and antique, found in the kitchen-dining-family room of Comdr. and Mrs. C. S. Sanders. This is one of eight kitchens open to the public on Tuesday, Nov. 24th. Mrs. Mason is Chairman of Tour Hostesses and Mrs. Craft will serve as a hostess in the Sanders home. Tickets may be purchased in any of the kitchens.

Mrs. Paul Acquitted in Death Of Husband; Self-Defense Plea

Mrs. Ruby Justin Paul, 31, tried twice in nine weeks on a charge of murdering her husband, was acquitted Tuesday.

Judge Robert S. Wahab Jr. told the all-male jury in Circuit Court that he was granting a defense motion to strike the Commonwealth's evidence.

"The killing of Mr. Paul was justifiable self-defense," the judge ruled. The jury quickly found the defendant not guilty of murder.

Mrs. Paul, blonde and dressed in black, wept after the jury brought in its verdict.

Last Sept. 14 in County Court, Judge J. Davis Reed Jr., after hearing testimony from Det. H. W. Aldrich, who investigated the shooting, dismissed the murder charge against Mrs. Paul.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney J. Peter Holland III at that time said the dismissal of charges in a preliminary hearing didn't bar the Commonwealth from taking the case before a grand jury. This was done and Mrs. Paul was subsequently indicted.

The shooting occurred last July 21, in the home of Mrs. Hazel Vaughan, the only block of Donald road, Indian River Park.

where Mrs. Paul was visiting. She was separated from her husband, Cecil.

According to police, Cecil Paul came to the house, kicked in the door and lunged at his wife. She fired a warning shot from a borrowed .32 caliber pistol above his head and two shots into his body.

There were only two prosecution witnesses, Aldrich and Miss Barbara Anne Vaughan, 18, now of the 200 block of Commonwealth avenue, Norfolk County, who was in the living room at the McDonald road address when the shooting occurred.

"Cecil threatened to kill her," the girl testified, "and he broke the screen door. She told him not to come in. He broke into the house. He lunged for her. That's when the shots were fired."

Attorneys in the case retired shortly after 3 p.m. into Judge Wahab's chambers with the judge. At the conclusion of his deliberation, the judge granted the defense motion to strike the evidence. There was no defense testimony.

Holland prosecuted the case, and Mrs. Paul was represented by Frederick T. Stant Jr.

Crippled Children's Hospital Now Making Annual Fund Appeal

Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond is facing a crucial time this month as its annual appeal for donations is made. The response to this appeal will determine whether or not this free hospital for Virginia's most crippled children can meet its operating expenses by the end of the year. The Board of Trustees has stated that $140,000 is needed immediately.

It costs over $1,000 a day to transport these children to the hospital for their services without charge. There are usually about 100 children in the hospital at a time. Last year there were 464 admissions. The children range in age from new born infants through 16 years of age, and they are given free surgical, free hospital care, free physical and occupational therapy, free dental care, careful follow-up at quarterly clinics, repeated surgery as required, and more, all free. ## Building and Loan Business Gets Move Approval from SCC

RICHMOND — The State Corporation Commission Tuesday split 2-1 to rule that the Guaranty Building Corp. of Richmond has the right to move its building and loan business to Princess Anne County.

Commissioners Jesse W. Dillon and H. Lester Hooker sided with Guaranty's contention that there is substantial public need for a building and loan business in the county.

Commissioner Ralph T. Catterall dissented, saying that the applicant had failed to show any need for additional loan money to finance home building in Princess Anne.

He also expressed doubts about the company's motive for moving, and charged that Princess Anne county builder and promoter John Aragona and his associates were interested in the company because they "would be unable to prove public need for additional facilities."

Aragona, who testified at the hearing, said Tuesday night that there was a real need for a building and loan company in the county. He admitted he might invest in Guaranty if it made the move.

Catterall stressed that the Guaranty corporation has been owned by the Chewning family here since 1889, has only $14,000 in outstanding loans, and has been virtually dormant as a building and loan company for many years.

What the company does have, he said, is "the special privilege of charging more than 6 per cent interest on loans." For this reason, he declared, "it is natural that financiers who feel that this commission might hesitate to grant them the privilege have sought to buy the privilege."

Catterall continued: "A money lender named John Aragona is the biggest builder of houses in Princess Anne, Mr. Aragona and his associates will pay a million dollars into this little company if it moves to Princess Anne."

STEALING TV PART OF CLUB INITIATION

A young woman who shoplifted a $20 television set Friday phoned the store manager the next day to explain that the theft was part of a club initiation.

"I'm sorry I took it, and now I don't want to belong to that club," R. L. Riggs, manager of the Western Auto Supply store, was told by his unidentified caller. She told him where she had left the set.

Following her instructions, he went to a supermarket and found the undamaged set tucked away under the school supplies.

Police are still looking for the shoplifter, who was described as in her late teens or early 20's.

LARK SALES TOP 1958 BY 355 PERCENT

C. T. Marsh, Studebaker-Packard Washington zone sales manager, announced today that Lark sales topped for the 10-day period ending Oct. 31, 1959 represented the highest 10-day retail sales period recorded in the Washington zone. Retail sales for the first 10 months of this year exceeded those of the corresponding period last year by 355%. Marsh credits these records to a good dealer organization selling a quality product in the fastest growing segment of the market.

Motel Seminar Opening Here

Motel and hotel interests here are joining with the Distributive Education Service of the Princess Anne County Public School in sponsoring a hotel-motel management institute to be held at the Convention Center between November 23 and January 28.

According to the announcement the institute will hold sessions each Monday and Tuesday evening with a total of 16 sessions on the schedule.

Purpose of the institute is to provide hotel-motel owners and managers with information and techniques to develop better management practices and to make more effective use of available manpower.

The institute is divided into four areas of discussion. The areas are dealing with people, communications, training and cost consciousness and methods improvement.

The registration fee is $10 and should be mailed to Joe B. Deane, Distributive Education Service, Princess Anne High School, Lynnhaven, Virginia.

New Beta Club Members Welcomed

This was the scene recently in the auditorium of the Virginia Beach High School when 24 new members were welcomed into the Beta Club. New officers were also installed at the meeting.

Thunderbird Bowling Lanes Well Received by Opening Crowds

The grand opening of the new Thunderbird Bowl in Virginia Beach turned out to be a great success with capacity crowds on hand to see the top tenpin bowlers in action. On Saturday, the Thunderbirds played host to the Shirley Bowl team from Washington and downed the visitors by a margin of three points to one. Kent Shaffer rolled the high series of 631, with Tom Barger close on his heels with a 600. At the same time, the Clark Chevrolet team was taking the measure of the visiting White House team by the same point count. Both visiting teams were here for the occasion of the grand opening and expressed great praise over the alley conditions, atmosphere, and general hospitality accorded them. The Thunderbirds have accepted an invitation to bowl a match in the White House, which is tentatively scheduled for Dec. 12. It is also planned for them to bowl a return match against the Shirley Bowl team on the same trip.

Bowling action continued on Sunday when the Thunderbirds rolled Newport News No. 1 and Clark Chevrolet took on Newport News No. 2. Although the Thunderbirds won two of the three games, the match was halved because of total pin counts. The highlight of the day's activities was the appearance of Joe and June Kristof in a match between two of the best local bowlers, Jim Caldwell and Dot Williams. Although non-professionals were unfamiliar with the alleys, and the home team made it a close contest.

The public is cordially invited to watch the Thunderbirds in action next Sunday, Nov. 22, at 2 p.m. in a match against the Colonial Heights team of the Intercity Traveling League.

Pacific Avenue Creates Problems

Now that the grand improvement program for Pacific avenue is practically complete and the public has begun enjoying this beautiful thoroughfare it might be well for the city to begin a program of education that, we believe, will only be effective if carried out by the police department.

We are referring to the traffic violators noted during the short period that Pacific avenue has been in use. One of the most flagrant violations has been the habit of some motorists making a U turn in the middle of a block on Pacific avenue driving over the median strip of concrete. This, indeed, a serious problem that should be halted before it becomes habitual with some of our drivers.

Another problem that this fine new street creates is the matter of speeding. This problem undoubtedly was anticipated by the police department and probably traffic lights will be installed in time at strategic locations to slow down the heavy-footed motorist.

There are other problems that this improved street has brought to light and in time we are sure they will be dealt with. Our only purpose is to call some of these problems to the attention of the proper city officials.

While the motorist should not regard Pacific avenue as an open highway but a busy city street all of the violations noted so far do not pertain to the motorist only. Since Pacific avenue is a city street the pedestrian has certain rules to live up to and one is the manner of crossing the street.

At the present time pedestrians cross Pacific avenue, at any point in a block. It may be that in the busy summer seasons the pedestrians will be required to cross only at designated points.

All of these early problems are normal, we feel, and we suggest that the police department traffic safety bureau make a complete survey and study of the new Pacific avenue with a view to make this street as safe as possible. It may be that the police department has already begun such a study.

Sarah Constant DAR to Meet

The Sarah Constant Chapter N.S.D.A.R. will hold their November meeting Friday evening, Nov. 20, at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Pully, 1337 Laurel Crescent, Edgewater.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Maurice B. Tonkin of Warwick, Honorary State Regent, and vice president general of the National Society. Mrs. Tonkin will speak on "Restoration of Records," which is one of the primary objectives of the society.

Mrs. Thomas A. Moore, Chapter Regent, will give the report from the State Board Meeting, recently held in Richmond, and plans will be formulated for the chapter's annual Christmas party.

The Rev. F. H. Stribley, pastor of the Scott Memorial Methodist Church, will preach the sermon. The churches participating in the Thanksgiving Service are the Lynn Haven Presbyterian Church, the Scott Memorial Methodist Church, Eastern Shore Chapel (Episcopal) and London Bridge Baptist Church.

The Thanksgiving offering will go to the educational endowment fund of the Virginia Baptist Orphanage to help qualified children have an opportunity for training above the high school level.

Special music will be provided by the choir of the London Bridge Baptist Church under the direction of Mr. Lutrell Sawyer.

Ambulatory Vets Are Entertained

Three hundred ambulatory patients at Keough Veterans Hospital, Keough, were entertained last Friday night by members of the Ladies Auxiliary to Post 7169 Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Defying the Friday the 13th jinx the men came to the theater building and played bingo for cigarettes and canteen books and proved that Friday the 13th could be lucky at least for some of them. Actually none lost by coming out. After the bingo the ladies served coffee and doughnuts and chatted awhile with the men. One wheelchair patient said the hospital had been his home for 11 years.

The ladies from the Auxiliary put on the bingo assisted by Mrs. Grace Jones, department hospital chairman and V.A.V.S. representative Mrs. Glen Bill, Auxiliary president; Mrs. Ruth Mangos, hospital chairman; Mrs. Durrell Walker, senior vice president; Mrs. Etta Wells, rehabilitation chairman; Mrs. Clyde Douglas, flag bearer, and Mrs. Alton Hoggard, conductress.

The editorial column of your paper for November 5, 1959, quotes Dean Brundage of Washington and Lee High School, Dean Brundage is justifiably proud of the performance of the students at his school in the National Merit Scholarship Program but I believe he has been carried away by enthusiasm when he says:

A study of the numbers of qualifying semifinalists in the public schools (in Northern Virginia), as contrasted to the tiny handful of private and church school winners is at once a testimony to the quality of public school instruction and an indictment of private school education.

I am not sure how Mr. Brundage arrives at this conclusion (he mentions a number of private schools which did not do well, but leaves out an independent school in Alexandria which made fully as good a showing comparatively as that of Washington and Lee), but here are some facts, which I believe give a truer picture:

One semifinalist in the Merit Scholarship Program out of six in the entire State came from a private (independent) school of the kind Mr. Brundage refers to by name - that is, a college preparatory school.

But approximately one in fifty children of high school age attends such a school.

Thus the performance of such schools is eight times as good as that of public schools.

If we choose to gerrymander out an area, as Mr. Brundage does, here are the results from the largest metropolitan area in Virginia:

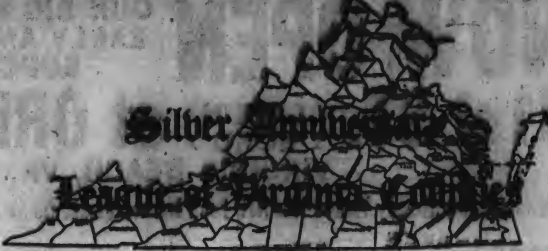

Almost one in two of the semifinalists came from the preparatory school group.

In this area, it is doubtful that one in fifty children attends an independent secondary school.

Thus the performance in a selected area, is 80 to 20 times better.

But anyone can quote statistics and arouse prejudices. The fact is that it is ridiculous to pour forth "an indictment of private school" education. By and large the best independent schools are achieving the wide range of tasks they have set out to accomplish. Like the public schools, they are striving to achieve even better performance. In a nation dedicated to private homes, private automobiles, private clubs, and private businesses, there is surely an important role for private schools. When Mr. Brundage says, "public schools in many localities are beginning to set standards of achievement which private institutions will be hard-pressed to equal," one might note that public schools in many localities long ago set such standards.

Boston Latin and Bronx High School, both on the home grounds of independent preparatory schools, are outstanding examples, and independent schools have been and will

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Fred A. Haycox, President and Publisher, Virginia Beach Sun-News, Virginia Beach, Virginia. Dear Mr. Haycox:

I write you both as a friend of the public schools - my friendship is a matter of public record - and as an advocate of statistical accuracy.

The editorial column of your paper for November 5, 1959, quotes Dean Brundage of Washington and Lee High School, Dean Brundage is justifiably proud of the performance of the students at his school in the National Merit Scholarship Program but I believe he has been carried away by enthusiasm when he says:

A study of the numbers of qualifying semifinalists in the public schools (in Northern Virginia), as contrasted to the tiny handful of private and church school winners is at once a testimony to the quality of public school instruction and an indictment of private school education.

I am not sure how Mr. Brundage arrives at this conclusion (he mentions a number of private schools which did not do well, but leaves out an independent school in Alexandria which made fully as good a showing comparatively as that of Washington and Lee), but here are some facts, which I believe give a truer picture:

In a nation dedicated to private homes, private automobiles, private clubs, and private businesses, there is surely an important role for private schools. continue to be grateful for the challenge.

The challenge, of course, is not what people sometimes take it to be - a threat to the existence of the independent schools, who have traditionally supplied the community with leaders out of all proportion to their total number of graduates, and who will continue to do so in the future. The challenge for both systems, public and private, is to do the very best for each child.

In a democracy, it is a healthy thing to have one segment of the school system relatively free of the state. Not only can political considerations threaten the entire existence of the public system, but profound mistakes in the total approach to education might well go unchecked by the counterweight of a complementary system. Public and independent schools have much to learn from each other, and it is the free interchange of ideas among the teachers and administrators in each system that will help to keep both systems sane and honest.

In this kind of "segregated" situation will enable both independent and public schools to render that greatest of public services - the education of our children.

Sincerely yours, ARTHUR A. MACCONOCHIE, Norfolk Academy.

Mr. Albin Mailles, Editor Virginia Beach Sun-News, Virginia Beach, Virginia. This is just a short letter to thank you for the attention and prominent featuring of the initial Joy Fund publicity in the last issue of your paper.

When consideration of all facets which are the basis for successful campaigns of this sort are reviewed, publicity unquestionably ranks foremost. The Jaycees of this city appreciate your endeavors during our past Joy Fund and hope that our relationship will continue.

In the weeks that will follow we will be submitting more publicity and will appreciate your support in this project.

As you know, we received the Lacy McCallan Award which is symbolic in Jaycee circles for the outstanding Christmas project in the State of Virginia. The publicity from your paper was definitely a deciding factor.

Allow me to close by again thanking you for your interest expressed through the media of your newspaper. I hope that this year's campaign will continue in the successful pattern of the past.

Sincerely yours, MIKE KATSISAS, Chairman 1959 Joy Fund.

Woman's Club Hears Mrs. Jeter

In observance of American Education Week, Mrs. J. Randolph Jeter, Guidance Director at Virginia Beach High School, spoke to the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County recently at their regular luncheon meeting at the Pine Tree Inn.

Mrs. T. Cornell Berry, program chairman, prefaced her introduction of the guest speaker by stating that Mrs. Jeter "is an educator who has the children's interest at heart."

"All mankind is experiencing an intellectual renaissance, and so little was being done for students of accelerated learning capacity," she explained in detail why we have seen such a change in our curriculum; what brought about this change, and how it was carried out.

A question and answer period followed her talk.

New members, Mrs. David Hottenstein, Mrs. Stanley S. Howard, and Mrs. Shirley T. Adair, were welcomed by Mrs. Waverly J. Dickens Jr., club president.

The club voted to have its second Antique Fair and Sale next year. Plans will be formulated as soon as chairman are appointed. Also approval was given for necessary financial assistance to send a girl to Girl's State.

Members and guests will exchange Christmas gifts at the December meeting.

Series E and H Savings Bonds, bought now, when held to maturity pay 3 1/2 per cent. Maturity for E bonds sold since June 3, 1959, is 7 years and 9 months; for H bonds, 10 years.

Philadelphia, where they will be packed for shipment to Algeria. If you would like to make a contribution, it can be mailed directly to The American Friends Service Committee, 20 S. Twelfth St., Philadelphia.

Very sincerely, LOUISE B. WILSON.

Mr. Albin Mailles, Sun-News, Virginia Beach, Va. Dear Mr. Mailles:

Mrs. Pearl Mallory, a member of the Publicity Committee of District I, Virginia Council on Social Welfare has told me of the splendid cooperation she has received from your paper in publicizing our meetings. We are most appreciative of this service and do thank you. It means so much to have our papers' assistance in reaching the populous. Virginia Beach is certainly fortunate in having citizens such as you who are willing to print information which will enable Virginians to see some of the needs of their communities. Thank you again and may I ask your continued support for our meetings in 1960 on Jan. 14 and March 10?

Sincerely, MISS ELIZABETH BURNS, Chairman of Publicity, Dist. I Va. Council on Social Welfare.

Cardinal Garden Club Told How to Prepare Soil

The Cardinal Garden Club held its November meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. E. H. Barnes Jr., with Mrs. R. E. Helrich co-hostess.

Guest speaker, Mr. B. H. Bridges of Coleman Nursery, told the members how to prepare the soil before planting, how to choose the size of plants and when and how to spray. He also stressed the importance of choosing colors in landscaping. Several members brought diseased plants to be diagnosed by Mr. Bridges.

The club discussed their annual project of decorating and gifts for hospital patients.

A final group of broadcasters, headed by Lou Hoarty, president of WBOF Radio, has applied to the Federal Communications Commission for authority to acquire the assets of WFYI-FM, recently returned to the airways after a four-day silence.

Hoarty, Sidney Banks, W. W. McClain and James P. Sadler, who constitute the Board of Directors of WBOF, applied for a license to broadcast on 97.7 MC on the FM band with a power of 18,500 watts. If granted, WFYI-FM will be the most powerful FM station on this side of Hampton Roads.

The present staff will be retained, Hoarty said, and the present good music policy retained. WFYI-FM has been on a limited schedule of broadcast hours from 4:30 p.m. to midnight, featuring the addition of news, which WFYI-FM will program on a limited basis.

WBOF recently increased power to 5000 watts and will apply to the Federal Communications Commission for permission to change the call letters of WFYI-FM to WBOF-FM, thus offering a powerful clear channel to AM or FM listeners, the new owners announced.

"Manufacturers are hard put to build equipment fast enough," he went on. "I predict that in two years, every powerful metropolitan station will either have FM or be planning FM or Stereo Broadcasting. WFYI-FM will broadcast Stereo as soon as practical," Hoarty concluded. The Federal Communications Commission is currently making a study of AM and FM Stereo programming to establish standards.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

FORT STORY'S OFFICERS OPEN MESS HAS NEW CLUB OFFICER
Captain Irvin W. Wright has been appointed as the new Secretary for the Officers' Open Mess at Fort Story. He replaces 1st Lieutenant Marvin L. McDonald, Jr., who is leaving the service for a position in the hotel industry.

Captain Wright has been at Fort Story since September 1958, when he returned from Transportation Corps duty in Spain. Prior to his latest overseas assignment, he had been stationed at Fort Mason, California, where he was the Club Officer.

BLOODMOBILE TO BE AT STORY THURSDAY
Thursday, November 19th, the Tidewater Bloodmobile is scheduled to be at the Fort Story Service between the hours of 0900 and 1300 for the purpose of receiving blood donations from personnel on the post.

Units on post will be scheduled for certain hours of the day, with the moon hour being set aside for donations from civilian personnel and dependents.

According to the Red Cross office here, there is a constant need for a supply of blood, since whole blood can only be stored up to 21 days.

TWO FORT STORY MEN RECEIVE LETTERS
Sergeant Rexton Reed and Sergeant Calvin Lundy of the 14th Battalion, Fort Story, received letters of commendation from Major Warren J. Higgins, Commander of the 14th Battalion.

The letters were originated by Lieutenant Anthony Kust, 14th Battalion Personnel Officer. Sergeant Reed and Sergeant Lundy were cited for accomplishments during the months of November and December of last year when they were presented with the letters at 14th Battalion Headquarters last week.

STORY RECEIVES CIVILIAN AWARD
Fort Story received the quarterly Transportation Training Command award for civilian injury prevention Thursday.

Lt. Colonel George M. Folley, Assistant Chief of Staff in charge of personnel, presented the plaque to B. C. Barker, who accepted it on behalf of the civilian employees at Story.

The Transportation Training Command consists of Fort Story and Fort Eustis, with headquarters at Fort Eustis.

Both the 10th and 14th Transportation Battalions received safety awards during the ceremony at Fort Story's Post Headquarters. Both of these awards were post level. Major Warren J. Higgins, battalion commander of the 14th and Lt. Colonel Jack W. Tooley, battalion commander of the 10th received the plaques.

ARMY CELEBRATES EDUCATION WEEK
Last week was National Education Week, celebrated both by civilian and military educational systems.

The Army, indeed, has reason to participate in such a week for through the Army Education Center, a soldier, in his military environment, can receive formal education from a fifth grade level to the achievement of a Bachelor's Degree, and if time permits may even enter postgraduate study.

Tuesday and Thursday the Fort Story Army Education Center held an open house for the officers and enlisted men on the post. Featured in the event were displays of material used in the three basic areas of instruction which the Center offers to military personnel: on elementary (fifth through eighth grades), high school and college levels. Also included was a poster stating aims and goals of the Army Education Program.

The general purpose of the program is to increase the efficiency of the Armed Forces by raising the education level of its personnel. Such training not only increases the efficiency and understanding of the individual, but also complements the specialized military classes given through Army schools and training programs.

The Fort Story Education Center serves not only its own post, but also other Tidewater Army Installations, including Hampton Roads.

Army Terminal Headquarters, 3rd Group (Artillery) and the Deep Creek 59th Artillery Group.

Credit for elementary education can be gained at the Center either through local classes or by the completion of a General Educational Development (GED) test, which determines what degree of education a person has attained outside of formal schooling.

Besides the local classes and GED test, on the high school level, correspondence courses can also be taken through the United States Armed Forces Institute (USAFI). The government will also help pay a soldier's tuition expense for night school classes at civilian schools.

GED tests and USAFI courses are also available on the college level as well as a tuition assistance program for attendance at the College of William and Mary, Norfolk, and the Norfolk Extension of the University of Virginia. There is also a program through which correspondence courses can be obtained from leading colleges and universities of the nation.

Special classes for Non-Commissioned Officers are also offered featuring such courses as Science, Arithmetic, Geography and English.

Classes at the Fort Story Center, up to the college level, are taught mostly by accredited civilian teachers who are usually contracted on the basis of fifteen week cycles. Some local college classes are also presented as an extension service of area schools.

The Army Educational System, of course, deals with grown men, rather than youngsters, and has therefore been able to present subjects according to basic needs. Sherrill V. Colley, Fort Story Education Advisor, has this to say about Army students: "The men here have had experience in life and have, thereby, gained much interest and seriousness toward their education. We, therefore, observe in the men who come here, a great desire to learn and we have very little trouble with such things as truancy."

Although the Center provides for some on-duty classes, the men who take advantage of the Army's educational services do so mostly on their own time, after normal duty hours.

Besides the teaching and supervision of classes, the Center also carries on a growing test proctoring service. According to Mr. Colley, the Center usually gives about 100 tests per month, but during the first week in November they had already proctored over 50 examinations.

Through the efforts of national civilian education study groups, the military educational system has

Scott Memorial Evangelistic Services Underway

The Evangelistic Services of Scott Memorial Methodist Church, Oceana, began on Sunday night with an exceptional congregation for an evening service.

Dr. Archie E. Acry, pastor of Ghent Methodist Church, Norfolk, preached the opening sermon from the theme, "God's X-ray." It was a deeply impressive message and received graciously by his congregation.

The pastor, the Rev. Francis H. Strieby, is conducting the service each night. The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. C. E. Cline, choir director, is providing inspirational music for the service each night. Mrs. F. H. Strieby, church organist, is playing the Wurliizer organ throughout the services.

This series of Evangelistic Services continues through Friday night. The pastor and people of Scott Memorial extend a cordial invitation to the people of Tidewater to the closing services of this series; as well as to the regular church worship services on Sunday at 11 a.m. This service will

Allied Arts Meet Held: Make Plans For Winter Months

The members of the Board of the Allied Arts Association of Virginia Beach met on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 10 at the Bank of Virginia Beach to formulate plans for the winter. The Board is composed of representatives of the cultural organizations of Virginia Beach. Mr. George Mullen is president and represents the Little Theatre as does Mr. W. Cary Penington, who also represents the Civic Choral Group. The Council of Garden Clubs was represented by Mrs. John R. Anderson, parliamentarian and Mrs. J. W. Field. The Virginia Beach Art Association was represented by Miss Ruth Epperson, recording secretary, and Mrs. Florence Turner, publicity chairman. Mrs. Floyd Dormire represents the Concert Association.

New officers elected for a two-year term were Mrs. Dormire, vice president; Mrs. Arthur J. Winder, treasurer; and Mrs. W. Cary Penington, corresponding secretary. Ideas for interesting and unusual public entertainments during the long months after Christmas were enthusiastically discussed and will be announced after the next meeting. The aim is two-fold—to provide more diversified entertainment for our community and to bring a little closer the dream of a community building to house the activities of these groups.

National Council State Garden Clubs To Organize Body

Mrs. August H. Culpepper, president of the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs, reports that Mrs. Charles O. Dean, publicity chairman of the National Council of State Garden Clubs has sent out information about the National Council's plans to organize an international body.

The National Council has received encouragement in its proposal to set up a World Gardening Committee from about Washington, acting director of the United States Information Agency of Washington, D.C.

Washington recently wrote Mrs. Culpepper that the National Council of State Garden Clubs is "very interested in the idea" of a world-wide gardening group and the plans of the National Council "to develop programs and projects consistent with the ideal and objectives of the People-to-People Program."

Mrs. Johnson had written him that the plan included having as chairman of the World Gardening Committee "an active, voting member of the Board of Directors of the National Council and have a strong committee of six members from various parts of the United States." She said there were ample facilities for the committee and its work at the headquarters of the National Council in St. Louis. Washington wrote that "we shall, of course, be glad to work closely with you in the development of a program for the committee, through our Office of Private Cooperation, whose director is Mr. Conger Reynolds."

The National Council feels the formation of this World Gardening Committee will have a far reaching effect toward promoting world peace with the peoples of the world getting to know each other better through gardening.

Mrs. Culpepper states information concerning this program will be available as soon as the National Council has worked out the details and forwarded them to the state president.

Cape Henry Club To Decorate Home For Yule Tour

The November meeting of the Cape Henry-by-the-Sea Garden Club was held Monday, Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. C. L. Ackles on Bobolink Drive, Birdneck Point. The president, Mrs. Delmar J. Dee Sr., opened the meeting with the club's prayer, given by Mrs. Leo Blair.

Mrs. Herman White was a welcomed guest.

The ways and means chairman, Mrs. Joseph Watson, reported the "Pansy Sale" a success.

It was voted members will decorate the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Nordlinger for the "Christmas Homes Tour" for Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs, Tidewater District.

Blue ribbons for horticulture, won by Mrs. M. W. Nordlinger and Mrs. C. L. Ackles.

Members voted to give a life membership in the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs to Mrs. Joseph Watson for her outstanding work.

Hostesses were Mrs. C. L. Ackles, Mrs. James J. Standing and Mrs. Pauline Battley.

Cancer Study Questionnaires Ready on Nov. 19

The Princess Anne Unit of the American Cancer Society has announced that all researchers in the Cancer-Prevention Study will have the completed questionnaires ready to turn in on Nov. 19.

A special "coffee" has been planned for today, at 10:30 a.m. at the convention center, Virginia Beach; at which time Mrs. Leo Billey, local Cancer Prevention Study chairman, will present each volunteer researcher with a certificate of appreciation. An interesting program has been arranged for this meeting and all local cancer society volunteers have received invitations to attend.

In reviewing the object of this study it is hoped that from the information uncovered through these questionnaires many cancer-causing factors in environment will be uncovered and also Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, ACS Statistical Director, will learn more about cancer's early signs and symptoms. Ultimate objective is to prevent the disease by eliminating exposure to cancer-causing factors.

This over all project has been approved by the highest officials of the American Cancer Society including Dr. Ernest L. Stebbins, Dean of the School of Hygiene and Public Health, Johns Hopkins University and Dr. John W. Cline, Associate Clinical Professor of Surgery, Sanford University School of Medicine.

'Shortage' and 'Nursing' Have Become Synonyms

"Shortage" has become synonymous with "nurses," Miss Louise E. Bryant told the Cape Henry Woman's Club Thursday.

The shortage is being attacked by scholarships for nurses, said Miss Bryant, who is director of nurses and nursing services at Norfolk General Hospital.

She sketched for the club, the criteria that it should use in selecting a recipient for its nursing scholarship.

The basic requirements, she said, are these: good moral character, an 85 average in high school subjects, understanding of the rapid changes in our society, potential for growth, a sincere interest in people and their problems, an understanding of values, a philosophy of life, and a sincere interest in the health of the community.

A personal interview with the applicant is a must, she added.

The club will give a card party Dec. 7 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Thalia Inn to raise money for its scholarship program.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. A. J. Chewing, Thalia; Mrs. Raymond Schumacher, Virginia Beach, and Mrs. Gilbert Keene, Bayside.

The club will make every effort to assist the teenagers of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach to organize a club of their benefit.

Mrs. Ernest Turnbull will dress a doll in the costume of the 1600-50 period. With dolls dressed by other clubs, it will be displayed at the state convention and then sent to Vietnamese Club Women.

Mr. Carroll Trant played several musical selections on the violin accompanied by Mrs. Robert Steinhilber.

Panel Discussion Features Meeting Of AAUW

"World Economic Revolution and Foreign Aid—With Emphasis on India" was the topic of a panel discussion at the November meeting of the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Branch of the American Association of University Women. Panelists were Mrs. C. M. Lovitt, Mrs. W. W. Washburn, and Mrs. J. F. Wisniewski.

The meeting convened at 8 p.m., Nov. 18, at the Country Day School. Many eligible women in the Princess Anne-Virginia Beach area have not learned of this relatively new chapter of the AAUW. Those interested are requested to call Mrs. James P. Sedler, Membership Chairman, for further information.

who is visiting her son Delmar Walker in Thoroughgood is a patient in DePaul Hospital.

PRINCESS ANNE CHAPTER OF DAR'S

The Princess Anne Chapter of the DAR held their annual "Guest Day Tea" Saturday, November 14 at the Eastern Shore Chapel. Hours were from 2 until 4:00 p.m. Invited to attend were five guests from the Tidewater area and guests.

Two new members were introduced by Mrs. E. Guy Robertson, Regent of the Princess Anne Chapter. They were Mrs. J. A. Carr and Mrs. W. L. Taylor, both from Virginia Beach.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. J. H. Burrell and Mrs. Fred M. Robinson. A beautiful centerpiece graced the table. It was donated by a Virginia Beach Florist and was in turn given as a door prize. It was won by Mrs. D. M. Malbon.

Students of Bristow Hardin, Virginia Beach, provided the program. They were introduced by Mrs. D. M. Males, American Music Chairman for the Princess Anne Chapter. Miss Helen Rodriguez played the first movement of Hayden's Sonata in G. Major. Miss Lyndell Costenbader played Valse by Duran and Miss Susan Hershney played a prelude of Gershwin.

The tea was attended by approximately fifty-five members and guests.

OLD DONATION OYSTER ROAST AND BAZAAR

The Ladies Auxiliary of Old Donation Episcopal Church have been working all year in preparation for their annual Oyster Roast and Bazaar which will be held at the church Saturday, November 21, from 12:00 noon until 3:00 p.m.

According to Mrs. David Pender, Jr. this is the main project of the Auxiliary and has been held each year for the last thirty years. The ladies do handiwork, pickle, preserve, and make their famous "plum puddings" from a carefully guarded recipe. Although the great delicacy will of course be "Oysters" either roasted, steamed or raw for those who do not care for them Smithfield Ham will be served. And it will be held "rain or shine."

African Violet Society Holds Meet

The Lynnhaven African Violet Society met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Wood. Mrs. V. A. Rollins was appointed weeks and means chairman. The club is busy now selling fruit cakes as their first fund raising project. Mrs. Sarah Sharply was accepted into the club as a new member. Plans are being made to hold a special Christmas program next month. Mrs. J. E. Speight, Mrs. A. B. Frazier and Mrs. Paul Tower were appointed to make the necessary arrangements for this meeting. Mrs. C. L. Hershburger gave a very interesting program on "How I Raise Violets." This was followed by a question and answer period. Those winning ribbons for violets were Mrs. Paul Tower, Mrs. C. L. Hershburger and Mrs. C. W. Diggs. Mrs. J. E. Speight got a ribbon for her arrangement.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and spiritual values. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

From the dawn of human history, man has gazed with awe and fascination across the horizon. What secrets are buried in the sea's vast bosom and what strange lands and peoples and adventures are out there beyond the sunset?

The unknown has always presented a mystery and a challenge to mankind. Many have succumbed to it with fear and shrinking. Others have accepted its challenge and have opened up new vistas of human knowledge.

HIGHLIGHT THE HOLIDAYS WITH TENDER BUTTER BAKED TURKEY AND SOUR CREAM SAVORY SAUCE

Combine Modernism and Tradition for your big holiday meal. Serve moist and meaty Butter Baked Turkey complemented by hot, green broccoli spears frosted with a delectable Sour Cream Savory Sauce.

Tender Butter Baked Turkey and Sour Cream Savory Sauce

When it comes to holiday tradition, there's nothing quite like the proverbial gobbler accompanied by all the fixin's. And there's nary a bird that can match the flavor of one that's been baked in butter. Butter Baked Turkey is really rather simple to prepare. After you've prepared the turkey for baking—cleaning and stuffing in such a way—rub the skin well with softened butter. Then cover with cheesecloth which has been saturated with melted butter. (This will serve to keep the turkey moist and flavorful.) Place the tom in the oven and bake it at a low temperature (300-325°F). Plan to baste it occasionally with the melted butter. Once the turkey has baked several hours, the combined butter and drippings can be used to baste the bird to keep it moist.

To do this grand gobbler justice, plan to elevate the appearance and flavor of the vegetables that will join him on the banquet table. Smother them in a light and creamy Sour Cream Savory Sauce. The very best part about this sour cream sauce, other than its unusual and delectable flavor, is the ease with which it can be made. It requires nothing more than one pan, a spoon and a few minutes at the range. First melt a stick of butter in the pan, then blend in sour cream, molasses and dry mustard. This happy blend of flavorful foods should then be heated and finally served over broccolis, asparagus, green beans or lima beans for the finest holiday vegetable feast of all.

Sour Cream Savory Sauce
 Yield: 1 1/2 cups
 1 cup (1 stick) butter
 1 cup sour cream
 1 teaspoon molasses
 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 Melt butter in a small saucepan; blend in sour cream, molasses and mustard. Warm over low heat and serve with broccolis, asparagus, green beans or lima beans.

of flavors makes this appetizer taste heavenly. It's base is the zestiest of all fruit juices—cranberry juice cocktail.

Cranberry juice was first made by the Pilgrim women when the Indians showed them the tart red berries growing on vines close to the ground. The women crushed the berries with water because they knew of the wonderful flavor without cooking. They added fine Limon sugar they brought from England.

Today cranberry juice is made by the same method. Fresh frozen cranberries are thawed and crushed with sugar and water, then quickly pasteurized for perfect keeping quality in sparkling bottles.

From the National Cranberry Association comes the recipe for Mock Pink Champagne Cocktail

1 cup sugar
 1 1/2 cups water
 2 cups (1 pint) cranberry juice cocktail
 1 cup pineapple juice
 1 cup orange juice
 2 (7-ounce) bottles lemon-lime concentrated beverage

Boll sugar and water together until sugar dissolves. Cool. Stir together with cranberry juice, pineapple and orange juice. Just before serving add lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Pour over crushed ice cubes in a glass. Makes 14 to 16 (1 cup) servings.

Now—lets drink a toast to the American Dairy Association for their Sour Cream Savory Sauce recipe—doesn't it sound wonderful? Bye now.

Green Stamps

help keep VIRGINIA PRICES DOWN

Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs. Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Virginia housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled!

Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families — about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

The Sperry and Hutchinson Company—America's oldest and largest trading stamp Company—would like to tell you more about how trading stamps help you and your community. Write for our booklet: "How S&H Green Stamps and the Trading Stamp Industry Help Virginia."

NOTES FROM YOUR COUNTY AGENT

LISTEN TO YOUR COUNTY AGENT

ON THE BALL

This concerns three letters of which we have recently heard. The first is from a newly-recruited salesman. It reads: "Dear Boss: I seen this outfit which they ain't never bought a dime's worth of nothing from us, and I sold them a couple hundred thousand dollars worth of goods. I am now going to Chicago."

The second letter from the same salesman, dated two days later, said: "I came hear and I sold them half a million."

The third letter was from the company president. Enclosures were copies of the other two letters. It was addressed to all the sales force and read: "We been spending too much time hear trying to sell instead of tryin to sell. Let's watch those sales."

"I want everybody should read these letters from Gooch, who is on the road doing a grate job for you and you should go out and do like he done."

NORFOLK CITY COUNCIL SYMPATHETIC TO FARMERS' REQUEST

Mayor Fred Duckworth, of the City of Norfolk, and his council, showed sympathetic response to the request for a Farmers Produce Market in the City of Norfolk.

On Monday, Nov. 9, a large delegation of farmers from Princess Anne, Norfolk, and Currituck counties, along with representatives of Agri-Business serving the Norfolk area appeared before the City Council to request that they provide for farmers a Farmers Produce Market. This delegation was headed by Stanley E. Oliver, president of the Princess Anne Farm Bureau and vice chairman of the Farmers Produce Committee.

The committee asked for a specific location on the present Norfolk City Farm property adjacent to the Norfolk Water Works. The Council suggested that a committee be appointed by the City Council and will meet with the Council for final determination of site on Nov. 22.

Beginning Dec. 1, farmers will have to start paying veterinarians out of their own pocket for calf-hood vaccination under the Federal-State Accelerated Brucellosis program, the State Department of Agriculture announced today.

Free testing of cattle and indemnity payments to owners of infected animals will be continued at least through June 30, according to Dr. W. L. Bendix, State Veteri-nanian. The department will continue to provide the vaccine without charge.

A 50 per cent cut in Virginia's allocation of Federal funds to wipe out the disease gave the department a choice between cutting off veterinary fees for vaccinating calves or risk running out of money for county by county testing of cattle and slaughter of infected animals, Dr. Bendix said.

Since the accelerated program started in November, 1957, a total of 58 Virginia counties have been declared free of the disease and 22 others are under test. Just short of 100,000 Virginia calves were vaccinated against the disease during the last fiscal year.

The National Association of State Departments of Agriculture and other farm groups have petitioned Congress to restore early next year the $3,500,000 cut made this year in Federal funds for accelerated program.

"We assume that the Congress will continue adequate funds for this program during the next fiscal year," Dr. Bendix said.

"Meanwhile, I know our Virginia farmers realize that the best investment they can make is to have their calves vaccinated and raise themselves a brucellosis-free generation of cattle."

GRINDING, MIXING FEEDS ON FARM SAVED MONEY

Feed costs can be cut considerably when farmers grind and mix their own concentrates.

Kenneth L. O'Leary, agricultural economist at VPI, has analyzed the costs and savings on a typical poultry farm with 5,000 layers to stress the advisability of "doing it yourself." And he's come up with a whopping estimate of $7,500.

A poultryman could save by grinding and mixing his own feed for a year for 5,000 birds. Poultry specialists say that in winter a 15 per cent protein ration of corn and 40 per cent poultry supplement will meet all known nutritional needs. In summer a 10 or 17 per cent protein should be fed. To mix 250 tons of concentrate feed—the amount needed in a year by 5,000 layers—will cost $36.91 per ton, assuming corn at $30 a bushel and 40 per cent poultry supplement at $4.90 per cwt. and assuming certain other conditions. The present price for 15 per cent poultry ration is around $88. The difference is $51.89 per ton, or around $7,500 for the 250 tons needed annually.

Loopy says that to make this saving, farmers may find it necessary to dry and store corn on the farm. They should have top quality ingredients for the mixed feed. A completely automatic grinding and mixing system can be bought for $1,500 or less. This includes gravity bins, grain elevators, and automatic mill with attachments.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS ARE IN POULTRY HOUSE LIGHTING

Poultry producers have long used artificial lights in the poultry house to lengthen the working day of the hen.

But now there is some new knowledge about the effect of lights on poultry, says Dr. D. Bragg, poultry specialist at VPI.

For instance, scientists have found that light needs of chickens during the growing period is different from other times. Some tests show that all-night lights, or short periods of added intermittent light, increase weight and/or improve the feed efficiency of broilers.

However, pullets, which are lighted for some time before they are mature generally do not lay as well as those that are not lighted. Evidence is accumulating to show that a poor pullet to increase the day-length for growing pullets before they are in or about ready to begin production.

Extra light after the birds are 5 months old seem desirable, especially if the poultryman wants a lot of eggs in the fall and early winter months when the days are short.

Some birds need much light stimulation than others. California scientists have found that in some of their tests with leghorns, some birds would lay in complete darkness after they were trained to know where they could find water and feed.

Some scientists say the important factor in determining the age at which the bird lays its first egg, as well as possibly the extent of increase in production, is not the length of day but the date at which the day-length is changing. Bragg says perhaps some restriction of light, especially on certain strains of off-season pullets beginning to lay in February, March, or April, could be considered.

Research with turkeys indicates that 29 to 30 weeks is the best age at which to start artificial lighting of heavy type turkey hens which have been kept under natural lighting conditions.

At the present time, Bragg has these recommendations on lighting of poultry: Provide broilers with a steady 14-hour day through the 8 to 10 week growing period, and use a small all-night light for the first 3 or 4 weeks to help prevent crowding. Grow replacement pullets under natural daylight conditions.

Applications for Cost-Sharing Are Now Being Taken

The Princess Anne County ABC Office will take application for cost-sharing on technical practices under ACP the last two weeks in November, that is, Nov. 18 through Nov. 27.

All applicants will receive cost-sharing if they apply within the two-week period. No applications will be taken or approved by the County Committee after Nov. 27.

At the end of the sign-up period the Committee will consider all applications and approve funds for them on a distribution basis. All technical practices (open ditch drainage, ponds, forest establishment, etc.) are subject to approval by the Soil Conservation Service or the Virginia Forestry Service.

Please bear the above dates in mind and tell your neighbor about them in case he didn't hear about it.

be obtained from your county agent or other agricultural workers in your county.

OVERFED COW MAY BE HAND ON POCKETBOOK

Your cow can make a pig of herself. The overfed cow can be just as hard on her owner's pocketbook as the underfed creature with ribs sticking out like a corset.

The answer is to feed a cow according to her milk production and not her appetite. This is the first step in any profitable dairy program. The only really accurate way to determine the right amount of feed for dairy cows is to keep and consult records. By feeding according to production, as shown by records, many dairymen are able to cut their feed costs and increase milk profits. Records also show which cows are unprofitable, as well as help the dairyman to select herd replacements.

Information on three record-keeping systems—DHA, owner-sampler, and weight-a-day-a-month are available at the County Agent's office.

ADULT LEADERS TO MEET AT NATURAL BRIDGE

Joe McAuliffe, associate leader of 4-H programs, Federal Agricultural Extension Service, Washington, D.C., will be the lead-off speaker at a weekend conference for adult 4-H leaders at Natural Bridge, Nov. 20-22.

His address on "Why 4-H Members Need a Well-Balanced Program" is scheduled for the opening session Friday evening, Nov. 20. Saturday's program will include an address by J. M. Tyree, associate state 4-H agent at VPI, discussion groups, a business meeting, and a leader recognition session at which pins and certificates will be presented. Cullen Johnson, director of organization, Virginia Farm Bureau, Richmond, will be the Saturday evening speaker.

Dr. W. E. Skelton, state 4-H agent, VPI, will outline future plans and give a summary of the conference at the general Sunday morning assembly.

Mrs. Glenvar Layman of Roanoke County is president of the Virginia State 4-H Leaders' Association. New officers will be elected at the business session.

College of William and Mary Observing Two Anniversaries During December

WILLIAMSBURG — Two anniversaries testifying to the College of William and Mary's pioneer work in law and related social sciences will be observed in December.

They are the 100th anniversary of the creation of the chair of law at the college, and the 175th anniversary of the introduction of the first course in political economy in the United States.

It is particularly fitting that these two anniversaries should be observed in conjunction this year, points out President A. D. Chandler. From the establishing of the "chair of law and politics" in 1779 and the introduction of the course in political economy in 1824, he stated, dates the College's unbroken tradition of close interrelationships between law and the social sciences.

"The unique feature of the law curriculum at William and Mary," said President Chandler, "is the high degree to which it has enriched, and has been enriched by, studies in closely related fields. Thus the present professional work in law offers a number of selected courses to qualified undergraduates in economics, business administration, history, government and sociology. The graduate program in law and taxation, in which the College again pioneered, rests firmly upon an interrelating of the advanced work in law and in tax economics."

Formal college-level study in preparation for legal practice was first begun at Oxford University in England in 1728 with the creation of the Vinerian Chair in the Common Law, occupied by Sir William Blackstone, whose commentaries on English jurisprudence are still regarded as one of the major classics in legal scholarship.

Twenty-one years later, on Dec. 4, 1779, the second such chair in law in the English-speaking world was created at William and Mary, at the urging of an anonymous Virginia's Governor Thomas Jefferson.

As the first occupant of the first

American chair of law, Jefferson nominated George Wythe, signer of the Declaration of Independence, brilliant attorney and jurist, under whom Jefferson himself had "read law" in his office. Wythe served as professor of law for ten years, resigning only when the distance to the state capital in Richmond required the permanent removal there as judge of the Court of Chancery.

John Marshall, whose later career as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court from 1801 to 1835 was to be legendary, was one of Wythe's first students at the college. Marshall's formal legal education was limited to a few months, founding on his prior independent reading in law, and he was admitted to the Virginia bar in the summer of 1780.

Wythe was "definitely ahead of his time" in teaching techniques in law, several scholars have pointed out. His methods involved the use of moot courts, mock legislative procedures, and the case method of study. The moot courts were familiar enough, having been developed as a practice technique at the Inns of Court in England. But the case method did not become the basic principle of legal education until a century later, and the "legislative laboratory" did not emerge as a training device until after the second World War.

Succeeding Wythe in the chair of law at William and Mary in 1780 was St. George Tucker, who directed the program until 1804. Another brilliant jurist and legal scholar, Tucker published an American edition of Blackstone which is generally recognized as the first American textbook in law. He was also one of the leading exponents of the state's rights interpretation of the United States Constitution.

Among other outstanding leaders of the Virginia bar who occupied the chair of law prior to the Civil War were Nathaniel Beverly Tucker (1820-33) and Lucian Minor (1825-55).

A further contribution of the William and Mary law curriculum to legal education in Virginia was implemented through other members of the Tucker and Minor families, who were early leaders in the law programs of Washington and Lee and the University of Virginia, respectively.

The outbreak of Civil War hostilities in 1861 compelled most of the college to close down, and the law school did not reopen its door until 1862. It is presently called the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, after its greatest student and first instructor.

Political economy was a new science in the late 18th century. However, the reorganization which had resulted in the chair of law five years earlier had made the college receptive to many new ideas in social studies, and the chair of political economy was created as part of the new curriculum which Thomas Jefferson had helped to revamp.

The course in political economy at William and Mary was not only the first offered in America, but the first in the world except for that offered at the University of Naples, where Antonio Genovesi lectured on the subject as early as 1764.

The first occupant of the chair of political economy at the college was the Rev. James Madison, William and Mary president from 1771-1782. Rev. Madison served as professor of moral philosophy and political economy, and thus was America's first professor in the latter field.

Whether political economy was taught at the college between Rev. Madison's death in 1812 and a 15-year period thereafter is not known, but from 1827-1846 the chair was occupied by Thomas R. Dew, professor of history and political economy.

Dew was succeeded by George Frederick Holmes, who served until 1849, when Henry A. Washington occupied the chair. Washington was followed in 1859 by Robert J. Morrison, who held the chair of history and political economy until 1861, when he with all his colleagues entered the Confederate Army.

The chair was reestablished in 1888 under William and Mary President Lyon G. Tyler, who served as professor of moral science, political economy, and civil government. President Tyler's title was changed in 1898 to professor of American history and politics, and in 1909 to professor of political science.

President Tyler brought to his institution in political economy a traditional family interest in politics, a classical training at the University of Virginia, and the experience gained through practice in law and membership in the Virginia House of Delegates.

When Dr. Tyler was succeeded by J. A. C. Chandler as president in 1919, the single course in political economy — which with brief lapses had been offered at William and Mary since 1784 — gave way to 41 courses in economics and Business Administration, under which the new courses were first administered, has since been replaced by separate departments of economics and business administration.

The present law curriculum at the College continues its tradition of enrichment of other course work at the College, while continuing to grow in professional activity. For the past five years the school has sponsored a Fideiwatch Tax Conference which attracted attorneys and accountants from many parts of eastern Virginia. The 1959 conference will be held in Williamsburg on Dec. 12. Several law faculty members have appeared on tax programs at other institutions.

Postmaster Issues Annual Plea For Early Mailing for Holidays

"It's time to start those Christmas mailings!" — Postmaster H. T. Myers said today. "On the calendar Christmas is a month away, but here in the Post Office it's Christmas every day from now on."

"Actually, to get all of the Christmas gifts and cards delivered on time is largely a matter of advance planning and preparation that should be made this week," the Postmaster pointed out.

"Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages," he said. "Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy brown wrapping paper, and be sure that every package is tied with strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents."

He said further, "If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the Post Office before attempting to mail them — the limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where you mail your packages from."

As an extra precaution against loss, Postmaster Myers advised placing both your return address and the recipient's address on an extra label inside the carton on package before it is wrapped.

If you use Christmas stickers or seals, put them on the back of your Christmas card envelopes so that they will not conflict with the address on the front.

"It's always a good idea to place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the address portion of the label to prevent defacing it in transit. Most important of all, be sure to include the recipients full name, street address, city, zone and state on your labels.

Here's some other helpful suggestions from Postmaster Myers. Always send your Christmas cards by First Class mail. They will be delivered quicker and they'll be forwarded or returned, if it becomes necessary. Christmas cards sent by First Class four cent or seven cent Air Mail may carry written messages, whereas cards sent with Third Class three cent postage may only have a written signature and will not be forwarded or returned.

It is always advisable to include your return name and address on each Christmas card envelope because this helps your friends to keep their mailing lists up-to-date and insures correction of your own list if the card is returned as undeliverable.

The Postmaster reminds us that the entire Christmas mailing period is primarily a battle against time. If you delay now in getting your Christmas cards and gift packages to the Post Office, dreaded pile-ups are bound to occur, causing unavoidable slowdowns in deliveries as the holiday approaches.

All mail going long distances should be sent well before Dec. 10. Christmas packages for local delivery should be mailed by Dec. 15, and be sure to mail Christmas cards for nearby destinations at least a week before Christmas.

Seahawks Finish Losing Season But Gain Friends With Spirit

The Virginia Beach High School Seahawk football team closed their losing season last week in a loss to Prince George, but followers of the local eleven were impressed.

Followers will point out that the Seahawks to a man never quit during the season despite losing only one game. They beat Poquoson 9 to 0 early in the year. Head Coach George Tepo would probably liken his squad to that of the University of Virginia. Even though the Seahawks were outclassed week after week the morale of the team remained high and the boys put out every week.

Highway, Home Prime Holiday Danger Spots

CHICAGO — The highway and the home are the prime holiday danger spots, the National Safety Council emphasized today.

While just a few weeks remaining until the holiday season gets in full swing, the Council took a look at the record:

1. Thousands of persons injured in traffic and home accidents during the holiday season.
2. More accidental deaths in December than in any other month.
3. Holiday spirits — the kind found in a bottle — emerging as one of the big accident causes, especially on the highway.

The Council pointed out that drivers have a moral responsibility to keep themselves and others safe from accidents. When they cause an accident because of drink, it said, they are guilty of violating a commandment.

Major holiday home hazards were listed by the Council as:

1. Slips and falls.
2. Fires.
3. The hustle-bustle of the season.

Falls, the Council said, are caused in a variety of ways — toys scattered around the floor, climbing too high to hang decorations, using a chair instead of a stepladder for climbing, ice on steps and sidewalks.

In all fairness to the squad and the coaching staff it appeared to many that the Virginia Beach team was overscheduled in playing several teams in a higher classification.

In each game the Seahawks met a foe of equal classification and the coaching staff appeared to have the team well prepared for each. The overmatched games saw the same fight and determination.

Despite a losing season in the won and lost column the Seahawks and their followers can be proud of the way they played this year. Now the cry is "wait until next year."

Ft. Story Scene Of 'Turkey Bowl'

The popular Booker T. Washington High School band has agreed to provide halftime music and entertainment for Fort Story's own football classic, the "Turkey Bowl" on Thanksgiving Day.

Playing in the game, which has overshadowed all other sporting events on the post, will be the 10th and 14th Transportation Battalions, both of Fort Story.

The 10th Battalion is presently leading the Transportation Training Command six-man league made up from units of Fort Story and Fort Eustis and the 14th is in close second place, as of this writing.

Extra bleachers will be put up for the game for the expected overflowing crowd of military personnel, their dependents and guests which will get under way at 10 a.m.

Coaches of both teams have made public statements that their teams "will definitely take the game." These sentiments have been echoed by battalion commander Lt. Col. Jack W. Tooley of the 10th and Maj. Warren J. Higgins of the 14th.

Last year the 10th Battalion took the contest which was witnessed by more than 500 persons. This year the teams are more closely matched and feeling is much higher than last year. It is expected that more than 800 may be on hand for the contest.

Celebration to Mark Official Approval of New Street For Travel; State, Federal Agencies Taking Part

The new, improved Pacific avenue will be officially opened in a special celebration scheduled for next Monday morning at 11 o'clock between 19th street and 20th street in front of the Convention Center. It has been announced.

A special guest for the celebration will be S. D. Day, head of the Virginia Department of Highways, and other highway and government officials. Virginia Beach Mayor Frank A. Dusch will be present along with other city officials.

The new Pacific avenue project got underway when this year ago and its completion has given Virginia Beach a "new look" and has changed the driving habits of many residents.

Financing of the approximately two-mile long thoroughfare was accomplished with State, Federal and local funds. One-fourth of the cost of the $1,000,000 program has been borne by the City of Virginia Beach.

Start of the Pacific avenue improvement program was delayed several months when a change in original plans was made necessary when a proposed one-way system was approved by a group of citizens.

The new Pacific avenue stretches from 17th street to 4th street, just beyond the Cavalier Hotel. The street merges with Atlantic avenue in the vicinity of 4th street.

The public is invited to the celebration in front of the Convention Center next Monday, City Manager W. Russell Hatchett stated.

Pastor's Wife Entertained

Police Investigating Holly Road, Golf Course Acts of Vandalism

Vandalism which resulted in extensive damage to property on Holly Road between 40th street and 32nd street, including mail boxes, is being vigorously investigated by the Virginia Beach Police Department and postal authorities.

The destruction of the property is believed to have taken place late Friday night and by a person, or persons on foot, according to Virginia Beach Police Chief Reeves E. Johnson.

According to Chief Johnson the vandalism included destruction of public property as well as private property. In addition to mail boxes damaged, another lost a flower urn and bird bath, and no parking and speed limit signs were destroyed or damaged.

The police are busily engaged in the investigation of this property damage and the Princess Anne County Department of Police is cooperating with the local police.

P.A. GRID DINNER SET FOR DEC. 9th

The Kempsville Ruritan Club will be hosts at the annual Princess Anne High School Football Banquet to be held at the Princess Anne High School Cafeteria, 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 9.

Frank Moseley, head coach, Virginia Tech, has been secured as guest speaker.

Tickets are on sale at the High School and patrons are urged to secure same prior to that date.

Two Heads—Same Family

They said it couldn't be done but the Lee Chambers have done it. They said no family could have two heads but Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chambers shown above have done it. Mrs. Chambers is president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Virginia State Pest Control Association and Husband Lee has just been elected president of the Virginia State Pest Control Association.

Mayor Planning To Proclaim Pancake Day

Frank A. Dusch, Mayor of Virginia Beach, will proclaim Thursday, December 10, 1959 "Pancake Day." This annual day continuously served meal is sponsored by the Exchange Club of Virginia Beach to secure funds for its child welfare activities. It will be held at the Convention Center at 19th Street and Pacific Avenue from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The Exchange Club of Virginia Beach was founded six years ago as a local club of the National Exchange Club, Toledo, Ohio, and is the largest service club charter to operate inside the United States.

The local club members all donate a full day service to the serving of this meal from the cooking, serving to the setting of tickets with help from the Quaker Oats Company and several other brand name suppliers.

Almost all goods and services are donated so that the ticket receipts represent funds to this club to carry on its local work. Since child welfare is the future of our nation, this local club restricts its activities to work with children. A bulk of their funds are used to supplement those set aside by the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County for child welfare since it has long been realized that the county's funds are limited. It is the expressed hope of the Exchange Club of Virginia Beach that they will continue to enjoy the fine cooperation that they have always received from the community.

Annual Chamber Dinner Dec. 8

The annual dinner-meeting of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled for December 8 in the Convention Center. It has been announced.

Curtis T. Brooks, assistant manager of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to address the local group. Brooks is also president of the Virginia Chamber of Commerce Executives.

A social hour will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. with dinner to follow. The dinner cost will be $1.50 per person and reservations may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office at Convention Center.

Business and industrial firms in Virginia used 16.2 per cent more electric power during October than in the same month last year.

Most of the increase is a result of higher levels of business activity during the month, according to Hugh D. Stillman, president of the Public Utilities Association of the Virginias, who released the report on October sales by the state's electric companies.

Stillman noted that industrial power consumption is considered one of the best measures of economic growth. The increased power consumption in Virginia is attributed to both new plants being operating and increased activity in existing business and industry. A small part of the increase in October came from an unusually warm weather in the early part of the month.

Overall power consumption in Virginia rose 12.7 per cent more than 903 million kilowatt hours sold to all classes of customers. The percentage increase in power sales in October paralleled increases registered in certain months of the year although power sales dropped below the same months due to seasonal factors.

Residential and farm power consumption registered a 12 per cent increase in power consumption over last year.

A NEW IDEA IN HOME DECORATION

Trans-Monies are the newest idea in home decoration. They are semi-transparent plastic, combined with a clear plastic; when painted, they number on the reverse side, then turned over, the effect is a brilliant, realistic mosaic — ready to frame and hang on any wall.

As you can see, the plastic pictures are easy to paint! Even an eight-year old can do them. The close-up shows a breezy sail boat being painted with the use of a number-guide matched up underneath the plastic. Each little "well" is filled up with a different color paint, using the color-mix chart provided.

Vandalism and a Probable Cure

During the past two weeks we have witnessed the damage and destruction of public and private property here in Virginia Beach with much concern. We believe, but without any foundation, that the most recent acts of vandalism were those of young people or teen-age youths.

About two weeks ago considerable damage was inflicted to the lush green fairways of the Princess Anne Country Club golf course. It is suspected that this was done by teen-age motorists with little or no regard for public or private property.

The damage to the fairways of the golf course was so severe that it has prompted Princess Anne Country Club officials to completely change a long standing policy in such matters of not prosecuting the individual, or individuals. Club officials have stated that in the future the club will prosecute such offenders. This is the type of cooperation the police need to reduce such destructive acts.

Last Friday night vandals wreaked havoc on Holly Road between 32nd street and 40th street overturning flower urns, breaking down a wooden fence, mutilating and destroying mail boxes, and damaging and destroying speed limit and no parking signs. The Virginia Beach Police promptly answered a call from one of the Holly Road residents and the investigation is presently in progress.

What is the answer or cure to such vandalism? While we are not trained in this field of detection and law enforcement we strongly feel that the police department or any other law enforcement agency can, and will, do a much better job of reducing or eliminating such acts of vandalism if they are notified immediately.

There seems to be a chronic hesitancy on the part of the public to notify the police immediately whenever any suspicion is aroused. In too many cases Mr. Private Citizen wants to solve the case alone and then when this fails he might call the police department. This hesitancy only complicates the job of the police or investigating agency.

We believe that the best answer to solving the juvenile problem and the solving of any crime is the prompt notification of the police. The police patrol cars are equipped with radio telephone and can be dispatched immediately to any given area. When the police are called promptly and are able to get to the scene in a matter of seconds or minutes it helps them in the apprehension of guilty parties.

If the public will call the police immediately whenever any trouble develops this promptness will go a long way in clearing up such matters as the two incidents outlined above. Anything that arouses a citizen's suspicion should be reported at once to the police. You will find the policemen to be a friend and a prompt call to them make their job much easier and will help rid the community of crime and vandalism.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

As veterans and civic groups throughout the nation observed Veterans Day, Linnel P. Doss, Officer-in-Charge, Veterans Affairs Administration Office, Norfolk, Va., called attention to a few important facts concerning the importance of veterans in the national picture.

Veterans in the United States now number more than 22,000,000. Veterans, together with their families, make up 40 per cent of the nation's population.

The veteran population of states of this area breaks down as follows: North Carolina, 483,000; Virginia, 400,000; Kentucky, 336,000; West Virginia, 269,000.

The average age of World War I veterans is now 65, of World War II, 40, and of the Korean conflict, 29. The average veteran now receiving medical care from VA is 51 years of age.

Nationally, nearly 70 per cent of the veterans (15,235,000) served in World War II. More than 5,400,000, including many who had already served in World War II, saw service during the Korean conflict. During World War I veterans total 2,780,000.

More than 10,500,000 World War II and Korea veterans have received education and training benefits. More than 5,400,000 have obtained GI loans to buy their homes or farms or to go into business. More than 6,400,000 veterans are protecting their families through Government life insurance policies. In addition, more than 2,800,000 disabled veterans are receiving VA compensation and pension payments. VA's 170 hospitals treat nearly 500,000 ill and disabled veterans each year.

Questions are coming in from time to time concerning a provision of the law which prohibits the reduction of ratings of permanent total disability, and some clarification appears in order.

The law provides that a rating by the Veterans Administration of permanent total disability for compensation, pension or insurance purposes which has been in force continuously for 20 or more years shall not be reduced thereafter, except upon a showing that such rating was based on fraud. The 20 year period begins from the date the rating sheet was issued by the Rating Board, and not from the date the total disability actually began.

The point to bear in mind is that the law prohibits the reduction of the rating but adjustments of the monetary awards may be made, either up or down when adjustments do not affect the rating. For instance, a veteran may have been receiving compensation at 100% for more than 20 years, but his award will be cut if he no longer has a wife, or as his children reach age 18. Likewise a pension award will be terminated after the 20 year period if the veteran's income exceeds his limit. A veteran who is hospitalized by the government for more than 6 months will have his compensation or pension award reduced if he has no dependents. When the new pension law goes into effect next July first, the veteran being furnished hospitalization or domiciliary care by the VA and who has no dependents will be cut even deeper to 80% at the end of the second year, and following his admission. However, his total rating will not be changed if in continuous effect for 20 years.

The last truck load of death cases (CX claims) in which compensation or pension benefits are being paid has arrived in Roanoke. There are many more death files in which no awards are currently being paid which will be withdrawn from storage and sent to Roanoke when Virginia widows and children become eligible under the new pension laws, effective July 1, 1960.

Three years ago the VA began sending initial death files from Philadelphia, St. Paul, and Denver to Regional Offices near the places of residence of survivors of deceased veterans, so that the claims could receive personal attention and assistance. This decentralizing process has been followed on the old active cases, so that now survivors are receiving faster replies to their letters and prompt settlement of insurance, burial, and other benefit claims.

Probably the most satisfactory effect of this change will be the convenience of the Regional Office when problems in connection with the annual pension income questionnaire must be resolved. Many survivors of deceased veterans will remember the frustrating delays and the laborious response of the days when the case files were located in far away cities. They may now expect their service officers to provide them with fast, personal attention, close to home, so as to hold to a minimum interruptions of the orderly flow of often badly needed benefit checks.

World War II veterans have an approaching deadline in 1960 which marks the end of their GI loan privilege, Veterans Administration said. July 25, 1960, less than eight months from now, is the cut-off date for veterans of World War II in making applications for GI loans. VA said if the application is made before that date, the veteran will have one year more, or until July 25, 1961, to have the loan deal completed.

Korean veterans have considerably longer before their GI loan rights expire. Their deadline for application does not come until 1962. VA said Korean veterans have also an important deadline affecting their GI training rights, and each Korean veteran has a different deadline. For each one the final deadline comes eight years from the time of his discharge. This is a final cut-off affecting training rights, VA pointed out. A veteran must actually complete his GI training or education by that time, since no further training can be authorized after the individual's cut-off date. Korean veterans also have a deadline for commencing their GI training, which is three years from the date they were discharged from active service. VA said full information on these cut-off dates and details of all GI benefits may be obtained from any Veterans Administration office.

For a number of years the Veterans Administration has been using business machines for maintaining records and computing figures for many purposes, including preparation of statistical and fiscal reports to Congress. Next January the VA will begin operation of a large new electronic data processing center, to include the latest in computing "hardware" and records memorizing equipment.

The intricate equipment is so delicate that special housing is required with precise temperature and humidity controls. It will receive and memorize the millions of veterans records and accounts, as well as accomplish the required amount of paper work for the VA's entire monetary benefit program.

Records for nearly five million veterans and their beneficiaries will first be transferred from the 87 regional offices to the center in Chicago so they can be "memorized" by the computer. The thousands of monthly changes will then be japed at the 87 stations and mailed in daily as they occur, to be fed into the computer as they arrive. Monthly benefit checks will be mailed out of Chicago so that they will reach the payees on the due dates.

The change over to this electronic system is an enormous task, expected to be completed by the middle of next year and is expected to result in a $3,000,000 annual saving.

Beach Music Club Is Entertained

The Virginia Beach Music Club was entertained Friday afternoon, November 20th, by Mrs. Earle Van Buskirk and Mrs. Goldsborough Robinson at the former's residence in the Bay Colony. Members and their guests were treated to a special operatic program of the following excerpts of well known operas and one Craterio.

Mrs. Van Buskirk opened the program with Minni's "Farewell" from La Boheme by Puccini, followed by "Depuis le jour" from Louise by Charpentier, ably assisted by Mrs. Robinson at the piano, who also accompanied Carroll Trant's violin rendition of Meditation from "Thais" by Massenet, and Mrs. Marie M. Hershey in "Ofer Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly by Puccini.

Mrs. W. Fred Bonney sang an Aria from Samson and Delilah assisted by Mrs. E. H. Church at the piano and a Duet, "Flower Song" from Lakme by Delibes, with Mrs. Hershey, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. M. M. Terrie sang two Arias from Mozart's "The Figaro" with William Miller at the piano, and "Lil Thine Eyes," a trio from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," with Mrs. Hershey and Mrs. Bonney.

Safety Council Urges Safe Toys For Christmas

CHICAGO — Toys, toys, toys! Peeking from beneath Christmas trees across the nation Dec. 25 will be all sorts of playthings—round toys, hard toys, soft, cuddly toys, noisy toys. But little if any thought will be given to how safe they are.

This, the National Safety Council points out, just isn't smart. "Fortunately," it said, "most toy manufacturers have done their best to make their products safe for youngsters. But a toy perfectly safe for an 8-year-old may be quite unsuitable for a toddler."

The Council made these recommendations about buying toys this Christmas:

- 1. Teach children how to use the toys.
- 2. Keep an eye out for possible wear or damage—broken edges or splinters, for example.
- 3. Perhaps most important, buy toys that suit the child's age.

The Council gave these suggestions on what toys to buy: For children up to 2 years: Buy sturdy rattles, washable squeak toys, stuffed animals and dolls, blocks with round corners, push or pull toys, and large colored balls. Beware of small toys that can be swallowed, flammable toys, and toys with poisonous paint, sharp edges, button eyes that can pull loose, removable parts.

Age 2 to 3. Toys for tots in this, the exploring age—sandbox toys, large leg blocks, tricycles, low rocking horses, bright picture books, large crayons.

Beware, again, of sharp, rough edges on toys, small removable parts, flammable toys, lead-based paint, objects that can be swallowed.

Age 3 to 4. Excellent are toy telephones, doll buggies and furniture, miniature garden tools, building blocks.

Stay away from toys that break or splinter, those too heavy for the child's strength, sharp or cutting toys.

Help pack safety in Santa's sack: the Council said "Be sure children get safe toys for Christmas."

Guernsey Cows Set Records

Bayville Farms, Inc., Norfolk, Virginia, are the owners of four registered Guernseys that have recently completed official production records, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club here.

Bayville Ray Delight, a nine-year-old, produced 13,236 pounds of milk and 948 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked two times daily.

Bayville Brighteyes, a seven-year-old, produced 12,190 pounds of milk and 608 pounds of fat in 305 days. She was milked two times daily. Midview Blazes Snow Flake, a six-year-old, produced 11,643 pounds of milk and 600 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked two times daily.

Bayville Royal Gladie, a senior four-year-old, produced 12,276 pounds of milk and 630 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was milked two times daily. These official production records were supervised by Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

About 42 billion steel "tin" cans are made annually in the United States, Steel Facts report.

Your Social Security

By EARL W. THINKLEY, Field Representative

A wise man once observed that a liberal education can be obtained merely by asking questions. Questions ranging from the little boy's "what makes it run, daddy?" to Charles Kettering's "what makes the grass green," have earned for the American people the reputation of being inventive and ingenious.

There's one question the Social Security Administration would like to hear asked more often. It's "Have my earnings been properly credited to my social security account?" Just as you make sure that you receive credit for your bank deposits and your insurance premiums, you should check your social security account. Since the amount of your social security credit is based on the work you do, you should check it periodically to verify that it is correct.

Your Social Security Office will gladly furnish a handy post card so that you can easily request a statement. (Ask for Form OAR-7084.) Be wise—check your investment in Social Security now by contacting the Social Security Office at 1000 Northampton Ave., Norfolk, Va.

Fort Story TELLINGS

LT. COL. HOSTETLER GETS REGULAR ARMY RANK

Lt. Col. Jerome K. Hostetler, Assistant Chief of Staff in charge of training and operations at Fort Story, received his Regular Army commission last week, with the permanent rank of Major, retaining his temporary rank of Lt. Colonel.

Lt. Col. Hostetler came to Story in January of 1957 and served as chief of training, both when the post was designated as the 5th Transportation Terminal Command "B," and later when it became the 4th Transportation Terminal Command "C." Last summer he assumed temporary command of the 14th Transportation Battalion.

The colonel comes from Orville, Ohio and presently lives with his family in Virginia Beach.

DEPUTY ASST. SECRETARY OF THE ARMY VISITS STORY

Paul E. Feucht, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army for Logistics, visited Fort Story last week to observe amphibious equipment and operations.

At the Fort Story Officer's Open Mess, Mr. Feucht unveiled a portrait of Maj. Gen. John Patten Story, the man after whom the post is named. The portrait, painted by Mrs. Joseph G. Killam, will hang in an Officer's Club room that has been named after the General.

After a luncheon attended by members of the Fort Story staff and Maj. Gen. Norman H. Visser, Commanding General of Fort Story, and the Transportation Training Command, Mr. Feucht visited the site of the Landing Craft Retriever, a vehicle that can straddle and disload beached landing craft.

Following briefings, he was given demonstrations of the BAC and LARC-5, two members of the Army's family of amphibians. To conclude his visit, Mr. Feucht included in the tour was the Cargo Training Area; the Landing, a training vessel that never sails; Spier Field, Story's small craft airstrip; Ordnance Maintenance shops; the 10th and 14th Battalions' headquarters; the company areas and the Capehart housing development.

STORY'S XMO CLUB BEING REMODELED

Remodeling of Story's Non-Commissioned Officers' Club interior is scheduled to be completed by the end of this month. Changes will include the ceiling being constructed of white flake acoustic tile. It will be lowered a few feet with the wooden rafters and attached lighting fixtures remaining the same.

Green draperies with a pattern of silver thread have been selected to dominate the main hall. The draperies will run across the front of the main room, encircle the balcony and be the cover for the bandstand. The bandstand, located at the far end of the hall, will be salvaged. The wooden floors will remain the same.

As background for the bar, located off the main room, knotty pine paneling will be featured, with other fixtures remaining unchanged.

The steel industry spent nearly $1.4 billion for capital improvements, 1954-58, says Steel Facts.

Cooke School Menu

- Monday, November 23: Navy roll, buttered corn, peach salad, biscuits, butter.
- Tuesday, December 1: Hamburger or Cheeseburger, stewed tomatoes, green beans, rolls, butter, cookies.
- Wednesday, December 2: Chili, cole slaw, apple sauce, cornbread, butter, cake.
- Thursday, December 3: Italian spaghetti, raw salad, rolls, butter, cookies.
- Friday, December 4: Chicken or tomato soup, one bean and a peanut butter-jelly sandwich, biscuits, butter, oranges.

Cape Colony Club Bridge Winners Are Announced

Duplicate bridge winners of the Cape Colony group were: First place, Capt. and Mrs. E. C. Raguel; second place, Mrs. P. R. Norfleet and Mrs. Anne Ellis; third place, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Maul; fourth place, Mrs. A. H. Mailhes and Mrs. G. G. Simpson.

Union Report Forms Available

Richmond, Nov. 19 — The U.S. Labor Department announced here today that forms for the organizational report required of all unions by the new Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act were now available at the Agency's local office at Room 250, 900 North Lombardy St.

Every labor organization must file such a report with the Commissioner, Bureau of Labor Management Reports, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. by postmarked not later than midnight, December 14, 1959.

The reports must include copies of the union constitutions and by-laws plus information on initiation and other fees charged members. Also required is information on procedures used in establishing qualifications for membership, assessments, benefit plans, methods of dealing with financial questions, selection of officers, authorization for approval of collective bargaining demands and other operations of labor organizations.

The Labor Department said the report forms are available in a packet consisting of six copies along with instructions. The original and one completed copy of the report form, together with attachments, must be sent to the Commissioner, Bureau of Labor Management Reports, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. Deadline for submission of the reports is December 14.

To ensure widespread access, the form has been made available at 100 Labor Department Offices in the continental United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and Alaska.

N&W, State Ports Authority Agree on Cargo Facilities

Norfolk and Western and the Virginia State Ports Authority have come to agreement on the state's acquisition of the railway's general cargo facilities here and the construction of new ones, New President Stuart T. Saunders said here today.

"This program must be authorized at the 1960 session of the General Assembly because Hampton Roads is already at least ten years behind its competitors," Saunders told a dinner meeting of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Traffic Club.

"This program entails a very substantial risk on the part of the Norfolk and Western," he said. "In fact, we are committing ourselves for some $30,000,000 on the belief that the Port of Norfolk has a great unrealized potential and that with modern facilities the Port will grow and prosper."

Turning to Virginia's need for new industry, Saunders said that one of the most important steps in industrial promotion would be the adoption of a sales tax.

"It is plain that we have an inadequate tax structure in the state," he said. "Existing taxes do not produce the funds which are needed to provide basic requirements. Let us look at this matter positively and recognize that a sales tax offers the only solution to our financial needs. Having done this, we can then proceed to consideration of what adjustments should be made in our present taxes as a result of enactment of the sales, how the revenues will be divided for state and local purposes, and other like matters."

The rail head pointed out that after the N&W-Virginian Railway merger is legally consummated the company, with subsidiaries, will have assets of over a billion dollars and will spare no effort to boost its territory's share of world commerce. He said that a new office of regional vice president will be opened in Norfolk on January 1 with a primary function to promote areas industrial development and build up the port.

Railroads are now realizing that they must be merchandisers as well as transporters, Saunders said, and not only are alert in finding ways to better service at lower cost but are taking advantage of new rate making opportunities and changing their attitude from "a defensive to an offensive one."

He said that limitation of expansion possibilities of air and truck freight emphasized the rail's inherent ability to operate at low costs.

"Air travel is one of the most expensive means of transportation yet devised, and the cost of quantity freight shipments by air is virtually prohibitive," he said. "The motor carriers, of course, offer fast and flexible service and will certainly receive a big boost from the carriers. However, we must remember that ownership of motor vehicles in this country is growing tremendously. It is estimated that ten years from now there will be 19 million more cars and four million more trucks on the highways, making a total of 90 million vehicles in use. This means that the new highways will soon be as crowded as the old ones they are being built to replace and that the private rights-of-way tracks of the railroads will assume new importance."

Saunders listed recent examples of how the N&W had "aggressively reduced rates." He said that his railroad and others "are making real progress in tailoring their services and equipment to the needs of their shippers" and used as examples the large increase which "may very well help revolutionize transportation in this country."

"Beyond question the steel strike, coming hard on the heels of the 1959 recession, dealt the railroads a severe blow," Saunders said. "Nevertheless, the drastic effect of the strike does not alter the fact that the railroads appear to be on the threshold of a new era in which government regulation will be more realistic and reasonable and management more alert and aggressive in meeting the transportation needs of a changing economy."

Tidewater Tax Conference Slated For Dec. 12

A host of attorneys, accountants, businessmen and students are expected to be present December 12 when the College of William and Mary plays host to the fifth annual Tidewater Tax Conference.

The meeting, designed to make available to conferees timely and important factual material relating to Federal and State tax returns, tax procedure, and tax policies, will be co-sponsored as an education service by William and Mary's Marshall-Wythe School of Law and Norfolk Division.

Cooperating in sponsoring the conference will be the Newport News Bar Association, the Peninsula Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants, the Hampton Bar Association, the Norfolk-Portsmouth Bar Association, and the Tidewater Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Chairman for the opening session at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, December 12, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, will be Norman A. Sugarman of Cleveland, Ohio. A partner in the firm of Baker, Hostetter and Patterson, Sugarman is a former assistant commissioner of Internal Revenue in charge of tax rulings and legislative planning, and is a member of the advisory group on income tax projects, American Law Institute.

Speakers in the morning session will include J. W. Hornsby, Jr. of Saunders, Carlton Hornsby, Newport News, speaking on "Short Term Trusts"; Robert L. Freeman of Daniels, Turnbull and Freeman of Newport News, on "Multi-corporate Vs. Subchapter Corporation"; and Lester L. Bowman of Petersburg, on "Tax Effects of Divorce, Marital Separation and Support Agreements."

Charles L. Kaufman of Norfolk, a member of the advisory committee of the Institute on Federal Taxation, New York University, will be chairman for the afternoon session at 2:15.

Afternoon speakers will include William T. Plumb of Hogan and Hutcheson, Washington, D. C., discussing "Federal Tax Liens," and David Boyd Chase of J. K. Lasser and Co., New York, on "Current Cases and Rulings."

The speakers will point up the issues involved in a variety of tax-related subjects, commenting upon how these issues should be resolved. James M. Robertson, member of the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary, will preside at a noon luncheon in the Colonial Room of Trinkie Hall. William and Mary President Alvin Duke Chandler will speak during the luncheon.

The five principal speakers all have extensive backgrounds in the field of tax law. Hornsby, a William and Mary law graduate, is a member of the taxation section of the American Bar Association. Freeman, also a William and Mary graduate, is a director and immediate past president of the Peninsula Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants, and a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Bowman is a former member of the committee on taxation of the Virginia Bar Association and of the committee on bureau practice and procedure and committee on statutes of limitation, tax section, American Bar Association, and is a former attorney in the Chief Counsel's Office, Internal Revenue Service. He is the author of "Family Partnerships under Old and New Tax Laws."

Plumb is former assistant head of the civil division, Chief Counsel's Office, Internal Revenue Service, and is chairman of the committee on Federal tax liens and collection proceedings of the tax section of the American Bar Association.

Chase, an associate professor at New York University, is chairman of the Tax Study Group at N.Y.U.

John S. Quinn Named Evening College Official

John S. Quinn, coordinator of the Evening Session and associate professor of business administration at the College of William and Mary, has been named a director and member of the executive committee of the Association of University Evening Colleges.

Quinn received the honor during the annual meeting of the group in Pittsburgh, Pa. The Association of University Evening Colleges includes about 130 evening colleges in the United States and Canada.

A member of the William and Mary faculty since 1948, Quinn received a B. S. in education from State Teachers College, Salem, Mass.; a master of commercial science degree from Boston University; and a master of business administration degree from Harvard University.

and is a member of the National Panel of Arbitration, American Arbitration Association.

The idea of a tax conference for the Tidewater area stemmed largely from Dr. Thomas C. Atkinson, professor of taxation at William and Mary's Marshall-Wythe School of Law. The first conference, which considered the history and philosophy of taxation, was held in April, 1955, under his direction.

About 150 to 200 persons annually attend the Tidewater conference, which last year was held in Norfolk.

A registration fee of $5 is payable at the 9 a.m. registration time on Saturday, December 12. Copies of the program are currently available and may be obtained by writing to the Norfolk Division, College of William and Mary, P.O. Box 6176, Norfolk 8, Va.

BAYSIDE JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB HOLD TEA

The Bayside Junior Woman's Club held a tea Monday night, Nov. 16 at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. R. L. Ingram, Chandler Lane, Thoroughgood. The tea was in honor of the new members who have joined in the last year.

Mrs. J. E. Hooks, president, read to the new members the Constitution and by-laws of the club and also the club objectives.

Mrs. Ingram presided at the tea table.

New members present were: Mrs. W. L. Page, Mrs. T. R. Burnett, Mrs. Norman Hart, Mrs. C. L. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Anthony, Mrs. B. Strickland, and Mrs. B. G. Spivey. Approximately forty persons were present.

BAYSIDE LIONS CLUB

The Bayside Lions Club met Wednesday night, November 18, at 7:30 p.m. at Shore Drive Inn. The president, Eugene F. Caldwell, presiding.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Mrs. Paul Maestas, librarian for Princess Anne County-Virginia Beach. She spoke to the club about the new library at Virginia Beach. She traced the history and told the members that approximately five years ago the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County with a membership of approximately 84 women undertook the task of founding a library to serve Princess Anne County and the city of Virginia Beach.

About two years later the Senior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County joined as co-sponsors, making a donation of $10,000. Other civic organizations became interested and eventually a "citizen's group" was organized for fund raising. At one point in the campaign a group of nine persons, by contacting carefully prepared lists of prospects, were successful in raising about $25,000 in one day. This was the big step that got things rolling. After this a sizable amount was collected by the school children.

The citizens group was able to secure the building which was vacated by the C.P. Telephone Co. for $25,000 and on May 19th, 1959 the library was opened. The first book was loaned on May 12, 1959.

A bookmobile was ordered in the spring and was put into service on October 13th on a partial schedule. Mrs. Maestas said that a full-time schedule will be worked out by January 1.

Since its opening in May the library has become well stocked with books, about 12,000 volumes. The bookmobile has 2,800 volumes for all age groups.

Mrs. Maestas gave high praise to the many volunteer workers who make it possible for the library to serve the area. (There are only three paid employees.) The library receives about $18,000 annually from the county and city and receives a state grant. Contributions are gratefully accepted—both books and cash—from residents of the area.

George B. Hill, Sight Conservation Committee chairman, presented F. W. Cox, Division Superintendent of Schools for Princess Anne County and City of Virginia Beach, two Visual Screening Machines, to be used in the following schools: Snelton Park, Bayside, Thoroughgood, Aragona Village and John B. Day Elementary Schools and Princess Anne High School.

Mr. Cox thanked the club not only for the machines but for the many things they have given the schools in the past years.

Ray Twilford, Bland Memorial Chairman, reported that prospects are good for a fine group of contestants for the Club's Bland Memorial Elimination Contest in January. The winner will receive a $50.00 Bond second place, $25.00 bond and third place $10.00. The winners advance to the Zone Contest.

BAYSIDE CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEWS

Thursday night, November 19, the General meeting of the Woman's Fellowship was held with the three church circles taking part. Mrs. D. B. Smith, Jr. president, presided. The constitution and by-laws were adopted by the group.

Sunday, November 22, was "Lazily Sunday" for the church membership. Members made their pledges for the next church year. New members were also received into the church membership.

Monday night, November 23, the Friendship Class of the Sunday School met at the parsonage 2722 Two Woods Road, Thoroughgood. Elections of officers for the coming year was held. T. P. Kenner, president, presided.

Tuesday night, November 24, the Finance Board of the church met with the chairman Walter Arnold presiding. Other board members are: Miss Mildred Shaw, H. B. Smith, Sr., C. C. Orlander and Mrs. Carey Fox.

BAYSIDE UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Annual Bayside Union Thanksgiving Service will be held this year at Baylake First Methodist Church with the Rev. G. Julius Rice pastor of Bayside Christian Church delivering the sermon. The service will begin on Thanksgiving morning at 10:00 A.M. There will be a nursery for the children.

Rev. and Mrs. G. Julius Rice and family will leave on Thanksgiving Day for Greensboro, N.C. In the absence of Mr. Rice Chaplin Kurt Wahler will fill the pulpit. Wahler is a Navy Chaplain residing in Baylake Place he is attached to the Destroyer Squadron No. 4.

AMERICAN HOME DEPARTMENT OF THE OCEANA PARK WOMAN'S CLUB MEET

The American Home Department of the Ocean Park Woman's Club met Wednesday, November 18, at 1:00 p.m. at Frank's Restaurant, Chesapeake Beach for a luncheon meeting. Mrs. L. D. Ledbetter, chairman, presided. The group voted to furnish new curtains for the new club room which will be completed recently in the newly built Ocean Park Fire Station.

Mrs. Arnett talked to the club on several money making projects. The group voted to make bedside tables arrangements and gifts for the Sims Convalescent Home in Ocean Park for Christmas.

Mrs. E. F. Caldwell made a Della Robla wreath for Thanksgiving. New members present were: Mrs. R. J. Radcliffe and Mrs. E. B. Scribner. Eighteen members were present.

How to Make Your Home Say "Merry Christmas"

Christmas, with its magic of colored lights, is one time when the individual really comes into his own. With the same basic materials, and the same general ideas to express, it is a source of continual wonder to see the vastly different effects which can be created. And, it is not necessary to go to a great deal of expense to create something which is lovely to look at and which says "Merry Christmas" to all who see it.

Keeping a few simple rules in mind and giving your imagination free rein, you can make your Christmas decorating a project in which the whole family can share, giving everyone a feeling of satisfaction in his own individual contribution.

Selecting and Caring for Tree

For many of us, the tree itself will always be the central figure in any decorating scheme. Selecting it, bringing it home, visualizing it in its dressed and lighted glory—all add to the sense of anticipation.

Select a tree that is full and beautifully shaped. As soon as you bring the tree home, stand it in a pail or tub filled with water until you are ready to set it up and trim it. This will prolong the life and appearance of the tree, keep the needles from falling and minimize the danger of fire.

Trimming Your Tree

Lights can do a great deal to improve the shape of a tree. If your tree is long and slender, string the lights around it; if it is short and squat, string them in vertical rows, from top to bottom. (See Fig. 1 and Fig. 2.) Don't guess at the number of lights you need for your tree. Professional decorators use this formula: Multiply the height of the tree by the width of the branches at the base, then multiply by three. A tree seven feet tall, and five feet wide at the base thus would have 105 lights. Using this rule and spacing your lights evenly, you will always have an excellent balanced effect. (See Fig. 3.)

Don't limit yourself to conventional Christmas lights. Lamps which simulate ice crystals or snow balls are now available and produce a very interesting appearance. Consider also the flashing, twinkling or bubbling lights which give the effect of motion and are particularly appealing to children.

Start at the Top
Trees should always be trimmed from the top down. First the Angel, Star, Spear or other tree-top piece should be put in place. Then the lights should be strung, top to bottom. Reflectors and hoos add much to the brilliance of lights.

Now you are ready for the "string type" decorations. With this much done, you can begin to place your most interesting ornaments, selecting spots where they will show to best advantage. When all the ornaments have been placed the tinsel can be arranged, each piece hung individually on the branches. Angel hair or a spray of artificial snow may be added at the very end.

The top-to-bottom procedure should be followed throughout. It is the easiest, the fastest and, above all, the safest way. That word "safest" is one which you should be conscious of throughout the Christmas season. All light strings should be inspected carefully and all sets with worn or exposed wires replaced with new U/L approved sets. Protect against short circuits or blow-out fuses by making sure you have at least one set of lights with a safety fuse plug (such as those manufactured by NOMA LITES). This set should be connected to the wall socket or other source of current; other light strings can be attached to it. Should a fuse blow, it can easily be replaced at the socket, with a twist of the fingers.

Christmas All Over the House

Even the loveliest tree has its effect heightened if the rest of the house is decorated attractively and in good taste. Practically every home offers a wealth of simple materials which can be used for novel, imaginative decorative pieces. An ordinary vase can be filled with greens and white branches with ornaments and placed anywhere.

Three graduated embroidery hoops decorated with tinsel can be suspended by ribbons around a half-inch wooden dowel inserted in a plastic styrofoam base. A set of vari-colored lights wound around the dowel glow through angel hair; a few small ornaments strung from colored ribbon complete this lovely miniature "tree." Another effective idea is to form a cone of heavy Christmas gift wrapping paper and place it over a dowel. The paper should be heavy enough to keep its cone shape, and tinsel should be attached to the light to shine through.

The traditional Christmas greens provide many beautiful arrangements. Laurel and Pine branches wound around a stair-rail can be decorated with lights, candles and a few simple ornaments for a glowing effect.

Greens banded on a mantle have their beauty heightened by proper placement of lights. A madonna figure combined with spruce branches and creche lighted from behind makes a foyer table truly lovely. An attractive dining room decoration can be fashioned from greens arranged on a tiered plate or lazy susan with lights and ornaments. A set of lights intertwined with Pine or other greens on top of a bookcase makes a beautiful illuminated display. Window wreaths, laurel swags across your drapes and other greens also become much more interesting and original when lights are cleverly used.

Keep in mind, too, the candle-lamp, lamposts, angels, snowmen, Santa Claus figures and other "ready-made" decorations which are available. They can be combined with greens, ornaments, ribbons and other materials with very good results. This idea is particularly adaptable in window treatments where both imagination and a safe, convenient light source are most desirable.

Your House a Christmas Card

We have all experienced that warm glow of good feeling and fond memories which can come from just glancing at a house which seems to wish the whole world a "Merry Christmas." Here too, safety must be the watchword. All outside wiring must be rubber-insulated and door light socket can be used safely in this manner—get a board about six to nine inches wide, cut to fit snugly under any window. Drill a hole in the board, put it in position and close the window so that it meets the board. The outside wire can then be run through the hole and connected to an indoor socket. Brace lock the window with a stick (See Fig. 4).

One of the most attractive, and least expensive, means of outdoor lighting is to run strings of lights along the eaves or roof edge. Ordinary drive rings, available at any hardware store, can simplify the job enormously. U-shaped, the drive rings can be affixed to the underside of the edge of the roof, and the lights threaded through them. The same technique can be used in outlining doors and windows with lights. The drive rings will keep them in position, prevent sagging or uneven effects. (See Fig. 5.)

Important to any outdoor decorative scheme is the front door. Beautiful wreaths or sprays can be purchased but, with a little ingenuity and dexterity, you can "Do It Yourself." Pine, Fir, Spruce or other branches and a string of lights can be twined around either a wire clothes hanger forced into a round shape or into chicken wire cut to form a foundation for a spray. Large outdoor candles, snow-man or carollers complete a pretty, welcoming Christmas doorway.

Your permanent evergreens and shrubbery also lend themselves beautifully to Christmas decorating. To protect an expensive Fir tree or Blue Spruce build a simple "teepee" to carry the light strings. Drive stakes into the ground around the tree, inside the spread of branches, at regular intervals. Lead rigid wire up from the stakes to a padded wire collar placed around the tree stem, several inches below the top. The lights can be strung around the wires and need not touch the branches at all. (See Fig. 6.)

Many people prefer a single color for their outside lighting, but try using one white light at the top of the tree or other prominent place. And, don't forget spotlights which can be placed conveniently on your lawn to illuminate and focus attention on a creche, elfa figures, or other interesting features.

More Tips for You
More hints and help are available to you, free of charge, in a booklet called "The Art of Decorating." This booklet contains not only decorating ideas for the Christmas season, but for many other holidays and occasions throughout the year as well. Your FREE copy will be mailed to you promptly upon request. Simply address: Norma Lites, Inc., 48 West 11th Street, New York 11, N. Y., and ask for "The Art of Decorating." We believe it will help you enjoy the brightest, gayest, safest Christmas you have ever known.

Horn of PLENTY

This great land of ours has been blessed with the riches of the earth and with the freedoms, the rights, to enjoy them. But does the mere ownership of these goods guarantee our happiness?

All of us have experienced a disappointment at finally possessing some much-desired article. After weeks and sometimes years of looking forward to it, we find that the actual ownership brings little pleasure.

How then are we to derive the greatest blessings from the goods which have been put at our disposal? The best place to begin is in the Church. Here, in a personal search for God and our own understanding of Him, we may achieve a spiritual harmony, which will bless our lives and those of our fellow men.

ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest depository for the building of character and good citizenship. It is the nucleus of spiritual values. Without a sound Church, positive democracy is a hollow slogan. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend Church regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own soul. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The MIXING BOWL..
IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fancies... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Thanksgiving Day—1959—Yes—another year has passed since we observed our National Day of Thanksgiving. Everyday should be Thanksgiving Day, don't you think? We have so much to be thankful for—so many, many things and one of them, we chat about each week—Food.

I hope you're planning a happy day with your family. It so nice to have our loved ones with us to share the Thanksgiving Feast. Have a wonderful day.

When the holiday week-end is over—you'll no doubt be wondering what to do with some of the left-overs.

Here is a suggestion or two—Croston-Topped Turkey Bake

- 1 1/2 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 1/2 lb. medium-wide noodles
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 cups grated process sharp cheese
- 1 minced medium sized onion
- 1 4-oz. can pimientos—drained and chopped
- 4 cups diced left-over turkey

1 1/2 lb. silvered cooked Tongue
2 cups turkey or chicken broth
1/2 stick butter or margarine
Heat oven to 300°F.—In shallow pan toast bread crumbs until golden brown—set aside and cool.

Cook noodles until just tender as label on package directs, drain—rinse—then toss with the 2 table spoons butter, cheese, onion and pimientos. In 3 qt. casserole, place one third of noodle mixture—top with half of the turkey and tongue. Repeat, ending with noodles—Four broth over ingredients in bowl—melt the 1/2 stick butter—toss bread crumbs in it, sprinkle over noodles—Refrigerate until ready to place in 350°F. oven—Bake about 1 1/2 hours or until bubbly. Makes 8 servings.

If you do not have turkey broth use canned chicken broth.

- Turkey and Peas Thermidor
- 1 pkg. frozen peas
  - 1/2 stick butter or margarine
  - 3 tablespoons flour

- 1 teas. flour
  - 1 teas. pepper
  - 1 teas. dry mustard
  - 2 cups milk
  - 1 cup grated natural. American Cheese
  - 2 cups silvered cooked turkey
  - 1 tablespoon sherry (optional)
- Cook peas as label directs. In saucepan or skillet, melt butter, stir in flour, salt pepper, mustard. Slowly add milk, cook stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese, stir until melted. Add turkey peas, and heat. Stir in sherry—makes 4 generous servings.

Of course—there's always a good Club sandwich to be made from slices of turkey, crisp bacon, tomato slices, lettuce and mayonnaise or butter on lightly toasted bread.

May I share Mabel Clare Thomas' song of Thanksgiving with you? "This day, dear Lord and every day my sacrifice shall be, A joyous song of thankfulness For all thy gifts to me. How can I ask for more and more. I who have so much? Teach me to share Thy bounty, Lord, With every life I touch."

Pharmaceutical Industry Leads in Basic Research

New York—It's no news to most Americans that intensive medical and pharmaceutical research is behind a great majority of the new drugs used so successfully today to combat such one-time killers as tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza and many other diseases.

The greater part of the research involves the development of new medicines or of new production methods to lower the costs of medicines and thus bring them to more people.

But there is another kind of research which is equally important to the pharmaceutical industry, the Health News Institute points. This is basic research.

Basic research brings in no dollar profits; devises no saleable products; creates no new production shortcuts.

Yet, according to a study conducted by Science, American industry in 1958 spent more than $150,000,000 and utilized the talents of almost 6,000 scientists in what the National Science Foundation has defined as "projects which are not identified with specific product or process applications, but rather have the primary objective of adding to the overall scientific knowledge."

To conduct its share of basic research, the pharmaceutical industry employed more than 850 scientists in 1953. These researchers published more than 600 papers on their work... approximately 20 per cent of all basic research studies published in that year.

In 1953, basic research cost the pharmaceutical industry more than $16,000,000. This came to more than ten per cent of all the money spent by private industry on basic research, and from 20 to 25 per cent of the pharmaceutical industry total research budget. In comparison, all American industry during that year spent an average of about four per cent of the total research budget on basic research.

The 26 largest pharmaceutical manufacturers alone spent almost $11,000,000 on basic research in 1953. In comparison, the 115 largest petroleum companies spent $10,000,000 on basic research; the 109 largest chemical companies spent $18 million on basic research, and the 189 largest manufacturers of electrical equipment also spent $18,000,000 on basic research.

The pharmaceutical manufacturing industry employed more basic researchers per 1,000 employees... 4.5... than any other industry. The chemical industry employs 1.27 basic researchers per 1,000 employees and the electrical equipment industry only .43 per 1,000 employees.

This trend in expenditures on basic research has been maintained, and in some cases, accelerated by the pharmaceutical industry since 1953.

that Savings and Loan Associations function primarily for the benefit of society. They are storehouses of savings which, when properly administered, provide direction and aspiration to the life of the individual. Entrusted with the guardianship of deposited funds, they must invest this money wisely and well for the attainment of the common good.

It is necessary, therefore, that Savings and Loan Association Managers be just and able administrators, operating according to the ethics of trusteeship in order that they may serve the needs of society and strengthen our way of life.

SUCCESSFUL COLLECTOR

A minister had received a large bill and there wasn't enough money in the church treasury to cover it. So Sunday morning the minister got up and said "Tonight I am going to tell about a man I saw with another man's wife if he doesn't put a $20 bill in the collection plate." After services, the minister found seven $20 bills in the collection and one $5 bill with a note saying, "Keep quiet and I'll pay you the rest tomorrow."

SWEET POTATO SHOW AND SALE TO BE HELD DEC. 10

The Annual 4-H Sweet Potato Show and Sale will be held on Thursday, December 10, at the Experiment Station at Painter, Virginia, on the eastern shore.

In addition to 4-H Club members showing and selling their sweet potatoes from their projects, farmers may show potatoes in the open class. For 4-H Club members, the exhibit will consist of five bushels of any variety of potatoes. For adults, it will be three bushels.

May I suggest to the Sweet Potato producers of Princess Anne County that if you have not completed digging your potatoes that you select five or six bushels of really top quality potatoes at digging time. Store these in your curing house so that you can easily get them out at the time of the show and sale. From these five or six bushels, you will certainly be able to get three bushels of show potatoes. If you have already completed digging, and I am pretty sure that you have, let me remind you that if you are moving some potatoes around the tenth that you can pull off of the belt a very fine exhibit of sweet potatoes at that time.

In past years we have been stealing all of the honors from the potato growers on the eastern shore. Let's do it again.

TIME TO PLANT TREES

The Virginia Division of Forestry recently announced that from 35 to 40 million tree seedlings will be available to Virginia Land Owners for planting during the winter and spring planting period.

One of the most important things to remember in planning a tree planting program is to make sure that the proper trees are planted in the proper place. You, as a land owner, know best which land is idle or productive on your farm. Why not plant those idle acres to trees and watch your profits grow. Take a good long walk over your farm to determine whether you have land which would be more profitable if planted to trees.

If you are in doubt as to whether trees would be a profitable crop on some of your idle land, assistance may be obtained from the Virginia Division of Forestry. If you will contact my office I will be very happy to arrange an appointment for you.

It is often necessary and desirable to do some preparation on a piece of cut over wood land prior to planting. This may be in the form of cutting or poisoning unwanted trees or brush, either before or after planting. If you have wood land on your farm which was cut heavily in the past, it might be desirable to spot plant trees. Our district forester can help you solve this question also.

You may receive cost share assistance through the Agricultural Conservation Program, to do the various jobs that I have mentioned.

Plant trees and watch your profits grow every year. An acre planted now will mean a profit to you in the future. Be sure and order your trees early. Application forms may be secured from my office.

INCOME TAX CONFERENCES

The Agricultural Economist Department at VPI is again sponsoring two work conferences at which the proper filing of income and social security tax returns will be discussed. The first tax conference will be held November 30, December 1, and 2 in Hotel Roanoke, and the second conference will be held December 7, 8, 9 in the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond.

If you help people with their income tax problems and are interested in attending either of these conferences and did not receive the information directly from VPI you can get the information you need simply by calling or writing my office. I will be very happy to provide you with a program and application blank for your attendance.

HILL, A NEW SOYBEAN

The Hill Soybean variety is a good example of the progress the soybean breeders are making in putting disease resistance into our new varieties. The Hill variety is resistant to bacterial pustule, wild fire and frogeye, all major diseases of soybean foliage and also is resistant to root and stem rot. Hill is also resistant to purple seed stain and apparently has some resistance to root-knock-nematode.

The new variety is adapted to a number of states, including Virginia. Two farmers in Princess Anne County grew this variety as early as August 15 last. Thomas Hutchings, at Oceana grew them as an early soybean, and liked them very much. Frank Williams, at Back Bay grew them after small grain and did not get as much growth as other varieties did planted around the same date.

The Hill variety generally resembles the Lee variety, but is from 2 to 4 weeks earlier than Lee and from 2 to 5 days earlier than Dorman. It has heavy foliage and averages from 28 to 36 inches in height. The yield is about comparable to Lee, but it will enable growers to use an earlier maturity variety without reducing production.

Following the custom for naming varieties developed for the South, it is named for a confederate general. Others in the series are: Lee, Jackson, and Hood.

LIME AND FERTILIZER OF TOP IMPORTANCE IN MODERN FARMING

Lime and Fertilizer are the best buys available today in terms of crop production.

A dollar invested in lime and fertilizer generally returns more dividends than the same dollar invested any other way. The lower the fertility of the soil, the greater the return per dollar invested. Of course, other good farm management practices are needed along with improved fertility, and naturally there is an upper limit to where soil improvement can be carried on and still be profitable.

Unless a farmer makes around 100 or more bushels of corn per acre in a good season, the upper limit has not been reached. For progress beyond the 100 bushel mark, farmers depend on new or improved varieties, irrigation, new fertilizers, and methods of applying the fertilizer, all of which the scientists are working on.

Lime and fertilizer are both excellent buys and both are needed. So, there is no choice to be made. It is like the gas and oil in a car. You must put in both if the car is to run.

MULCH BERRY BEDS IN FALL

Mulch strawberry beds in home gardens this month. This will prevent freezing and thawing which will often uproot the plants. Mulching also keeps plants from drying up, keeps berries clean in the spring and tends to hold down weed-growth. The organic matter from the mulch will improve the soil. Apply the mulch as soon the temperature begins to fall.

Use clean grain straw, pine needles or shredded corn stalks. The material should be free of seed, heavy enough not to blow away and yet loose enough not to pack tightly and prevent aeration. The mulch should be 2 or 3 inches deep after settling. This means 3 to 5 tons per acre. Before mulching, apply 400 to 800 pounds per acre

5-10-5 fertilizer to the berry bed, broadcast when plants are dry, and then brush it off, in terms of feet of row space, this will amount to 3 to 5 pounds per 100 feet of row.

START FEEDING THE NEW FLOCK

The man who makes money with sheep uses forage feeding to the fullest. About 90% of the ewes feed should come from the pasture and hay. When green pasture is available in winter, grain requirements for wintering ewes can be cut in half. When no pasture is available, a ewe will require 275 pounds of legume hay and 90 pounds of grain hay for winter feeding. She ought to gain 30 pounds in weight during pregnancy, one half of it during the last month before lambing.

When the weather begins to get rough and grazing slackens, begin feeding ewes a little legume hay. Start feeding one-fourth pound of whole grain per day per head, 30 days before lambing when winter grazing is scarce. Clip the wool off of the rear quarters and under 30 days before lambing. Also shear the heads. With heads clipped, ewes will bring their lambs in out of bad weather. You will also save some wool that would be rubbed out on feed racks and stubble.

MANDATORY INSPECTION ASSURES HOUSE WIVES OF QUALITY PRODUCT

Home makers in Virginia and elsewhere can buy poultry products with a high degree of confidence these days. Dr. A. T. Ringrose, associate poultry specialist at VPI, points out that most of the chickens bought now have been inspected for wholesomeness before leaving the processing plant. The poultry inspection act made it mandatory beginning last January 1 for all poultry shipped across state lines to be inspected. The law also provides for official supervision of sanitation and plant procedures. All processing plants that ship poultry across state lines are required by law to meet a high standard in all facilities. Buildings must be sound, sanitary, and easily cleaned. Equipment must be rust proof. Employees who handle or come in contact with eatable products are closely supervised. All water used in an inspected plant is tested regularly.

Fresh dressed ice packed chickens are usually shipped in wooden boxes which carry the inspection stamp. The birds are removed at the retail store and packaged in trays or other suitable containers for sale. Giblets are cleaned separately and are usually transferred from one location to another in the plant by a flowing stream of cold water. As soon as the dressing room process is finished, the bird and giblets are submerged in slush ice where they stay for 2 hours or more. When they are removed from their ice bath, they are placed on an automatic weighing and sizing machine that classifies them according to weight. They are then packed in boxes and stored in a cool room at temperature at around 33 degrees. They are transported as rapidly and as often as possible in refrigerated trucks and are in the markets within a few hours after they were received at the processing plant.

D.H.I.A. MAKES DAIRYMEN MAKE RAPID PROGRESS

Dairymen who enroll their cattle in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association programs are several steps ahead of the game. W. S. Griffith, assistant dairy specialist at VPI says D.H.I.A. can help dairymen make rapid progress in the business. Virginia D.H.I.A. members increased the average production of their cows by 987 pounds of milk from 1955 to 1958. Nationally, D.H.I.A. cows increase production by 506 pounds in the same period.

The number of cows in DHIA herds in Virginia increased by 5,119 from 1955 to 1958, and now stands at almost 50,000 cow numbers. Only six states had more cows in DHIA herds than Virginia in 1958. And there was a difference of only 297 cows between Virginia and the sixth ranking state.
